Smelter Wars Ron Verzuh,2022-01-27 In 1938 the Congress of Industrial Organizations CIO sent communist union organizer Arthur Slim Evans to the smelter city of Trail British Columbia to establish Local 480 of the International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers Six years later the local was recognized as the legal representative of more than 5 000 workers at a smelter owned by the powerful Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada But the union s fight for survival had only just begun Smelter Wars unfolds that historic struggle offering glimpses into the political social and cultural life of the semi rural single industry community Hindered by economic depression two World Wars and Cold War intolerance Local 480 faced fierce corporate media and religious opposition at home Ron Verzuh draws upon archival and periodical sources including the mainstream and labour press secret police records and oral histories to explore the CIO s complicated legacy in Trail as it battled a wide range of antagonists a powerful employer a company union local conservative citizens and Cooperative Commonwealth Federation CCF leadership More than the history of a union Smelter Wars is a cultural study of a community shaped by the dominance of a world leading industrial juggernaut set on keeping the union drive at bay

A Great Restlessness Faith Johnston,2006-10-30 Dorise Nielsen was a pioneering feminist a radical politician the first Communist elected to Canada s House of Commons and the only woman elected in 1940 But despite her remarkable career until now little has been known about her From her youth in London during World War I to her burial in 1980 in a hero s cemetery in China Nielsen lived through tumultuous times Struggling through the Great Depression as a homesteader s wife in rural Saskatchewan Nielsen rebelled against the poverty and injustice that surrounded her and found like minded activists in the CCF and the Communist Party of Canada In 1940 when leaders of the Communist Party were either interned or underground Nielsen became their voice in Parliament But her activism came at a high price As a single mother in Ottawa she sacrificed a close relationship with her family for her career As a woman in an emerging political organisation her authority was increasingly usurped by younger male party members As a committed communist she moved to Mao's China in 1957 and dedicated her life's work to a cause that went seriously awry Faith Johnston illuminates the life of a woman who paved the way for a generation of women in politics who tried to be both a good mother and a good revolutionary and who refused to give up on either

An Accidental History of Canada Megan J. Davies, Geoffrey L. Hudson, 2024-07-15 Although Canadian history has no shortage of stories about disasters and accidents the phenomena of risk upset and misfortune have been largely overlooked by historians Disasters get their due but not so the smaller scale accident where fate is more intimate Yet such events often have a vivid afterlife in the communities where they happen and the way in which they are explained and remembered has significant social cultural and political meaning An Accidental History of Canada brings together original studies of an intriguing range of accidents stretching from the 1630s to the 1970s These include workplace domestic childhood and leisure accidents in colonial Indigenous rural and urban settings Whether arising from colonial power relations urban dangers perils in resource extraction or hazardous recreations most accidents occur within circumstances of vulnerability and reveal precarity and inequities not otherwise apparent Contributors to this volume are alert to the intersections of the settler agenda and the elevation of risk that it brings Indigenous and settler ways of understanding accidents are juxtaposed with chapters exploring the links between accidents and the rise of the modern state An Accidental History of Canada makes plain that whether they are interpreted as an intervention by providence a miscalculation an inevitability or the result of observable risk accidents and our responses to them reveal shared values

Workers and Canadian History Gregory S. Kealey, 1995 This collection of twelve essays by Gregory Kealey will be of great interest to students and scholars of Canadian history labour history Marxist and socialist theory and history and political science

On the Job Craig Heron, 1986-01-01 The essays in this volume enhance our understanding of Canadians on the job Focusing on specific industries and kinds of work from logging and longshoring to restaurant work and the needle trades the contributors consider such issues as job skill mass production and the transformation of resource industries They raise questions about how particular jobs are structured and changed over time the role of workers resistance and trade unions in shaping the lives of workers and the impact of technology Together these essays clarify a fundamental characteristic shared by all labour processes they are shaped and conditioned by the social economic and political struggles of labour and capital both inside and outside the workplace They argue that technological change as well as all the transformations in the workplace must become a social process that we all control

Workers' Health, Workers' Democracy Alan Derickson, 2019-05-15 The most dangerous work in North America at the turn of the century may have been extracting metal bearing ore from mountains of hard rock Beginning in the 1890s miners in the West worked through local unions both to prevent occupational hazards and to assure themselves of adequate health care Among other projects they planned built and governed more than twenty general hospitals throughout the Western United States and Canada Workers Health Workers Democracy is an engaging and richly documented account of this first attempt to create a democratically controlled health care system in North America Focusing on the efforts of local unions Derickson illuminates the broader history of the Western labor movement the self help traditions of rank and file workers and the evolution of health care on the industrial frontier Canadian Books in Print ,1998 Canadiana ,1983 Labour Goes to War Wendy Cuthbertson,2012 During the Second World War the Congress of Industrial Organizations in Canada grew from a handful of members to more than a quarter million and from political insignificance to a position of influence in the emergence of the welfare state What was it about the good war that brought about this phenomenal growth Labour Goes to War analyzes the organizing strategies of the CIO during the war to show that both cultural and economic forces were at work Labour shortages gave workers greater power in the workplace and increased their militancy But workers patriotism their ties to those on active service and allegiance to the people s war also contributed to the CIO s growth and to what it claimed for workers Drawing on a wealth of archival material Wendy Cuthbertson illuminates this complex wartime context She also shows how the complex often contradictory motives of workers during this period left the Canadian labour movement with an ambivalent progressive conservative legacy The Cold War in Val-d'Or Myron Momryk,2021-04-27 The Cold War in Val d Or A History of the Ukrainian community in Val d Or Quebec is a mini history of an ethnocultural community in northwestern Quebec The story has many similarities to the evolution of immigrant and ethnocultural groups in many one industry towns in northern Quebec Ontario and Manitoba This study should be of special interest to the many former residents of Val d Or who lived in an isolated resource town in a predominantly francophone milieu The mining economy and the local cultural environment shaped this community but also the left right political rivalry during the Cold War years documented in the surveillance reports prepared by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police RCMP This surveillance by the RCMP may also interest students and researchers in Canadian labour and political history Ukrainian immigrants arrived in the Abitibi region as prospectors and miners in the 1930s and established the first rival pro communist and nationalist community organizations that reflected their political orientation This rivalry was the motor that activated the community but also perpetuated political differences that is the main theme of this study Border Cities Powerhouse: 1901-1945 Patrick Brode,2017-06-06 This is the first comprehensive history of the Border Cities area during its formative period in the first half of the 20th Century The story of Windsor s emergence during this period is largely one of confrontation and conflict a multicultural population industrial expansion radical politics and military production all played their part in the city s early history Index de Périodiques Canadiens ,1964 Standing Up to Big Nickel Elizabeth Quinlan,2025-06-06 All miners and smelter workers know the folly of going on strike when their employer holds a stockpile In 1958 the International Nickel

Company had enough nickel on hand to guarantee sales for at least six months Despite this fourteen thousand miners and smeltermen in Sudbury Ontario downed their tools and struck against the corporate titan of the mining industry Standing Up to Big Nickel is a comprehensive portrait of a pivotal strike by the International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers a union that has inspired exceptional levels of solidarity among its members The Cold War and the resulting instabilities in the Canadian labour movement form the backdrop to Elizabeth Quinlan s engrossing analysis The union straddled the line she shows between its historical commitment to working class struggle and the newly restrictive legal landscape of the postwar era Retrospective accounts by surviving union members leaders family and community members bring to life the history of a distinctive group of workers who sweated over smelter furnaces and toiled underground in perilous conditions Quinlan traces the events before during and after one of Canada s greatest strikes in both magnitude and duration Featuring biographical sketches and scenes based on archival and documentary data Standing Up to Big Nickel captures an intensely dramatic juncture in Canadian labour history On F.R. Scott Sandra Djwa,R. St. J. Macdonald,1983-01-01 The CIO, 1935-1955 Robert H. Zieger,2000-11-09 The Congress of Industrial Organizations CIO encompassed the largest sustained surge of worker organization in American history Robert Zieger charts the rise of this industrial union movement from the founding of the CIO by John L Lewis in 1935 to its merger under Walter Reuther with the American Federation of Labor in 1955 Exploring themes of race and gender Zieger combines the institutional history of the CIO with vivid depictions of working class life in this critical period Zieger details the ideological conflicts that racked the CIO even as its leaders strove to establish a labor presence at the heart of the U S economic system Stressing the efforts of industrial unionists such as Sidney Hillman and Philip Murray to forge potent instruments of political action he assesses the CIO s vital role in shaping the postwar political and international order Zieger s analysis also contributes to current debates over labor law reform the collective bargaining system and the role of organized labor in a changing economy Improper Advances Karen Dubinsky,1993-09-15 This book provides a study of women men and sexual crime in rural and northern Ontario expanding the terms of current debates about sexuality and sexual violence Karen Dubinsky relies on criminal case files a revealing but largely untapped source for social historians to retell individual stories of sexual danger crimes such as rape abortion seduction murder and infanticide Her research supports many feminist analyses of sexual violence that crimes are expressions of power that courts are prejudiced by the victim s background and that most assaults occur within the victim s homes and communities But she refuses to view women solely as victims and sex as a tool of oppression demonstrating that these women actively distinguished between wanted and unwanted sexual encounters and that they attempted to punish coercive sex despite obstacles in the court system and the community Everything that Floats William Kaplan,1987
