Remembering to Live M. Hay, 2010-02-05 An ethnographic exploration of health illness and healing among a poor rural Indonesian people Remembering To Live ,2010 Sasaks a people of the Indonesian archipelago cope with one of the country's worst health records by employing various medical traditions including their own secret ethnomedical knowledge But anxiety in the presence and absence of illness profoundly shapes the ways Sasaks use healing and knowledge Hay addresses complex guestions regarding cultural models agency and other relationships to conclude that the ethnomedical knowledge they use to cope with their illnesses ironically inhibits improvements in their health care M Cameron Hay is a NSF Advance Fellow and an Assistant Adjunct Professor at the UCLA Center for Culture and Health Religious Authority and Local Governance in Eastern Indonesia Jeremy J Kingsley, 2018-07-16 Religion plays a key role in everyday affairs in Indonesia including governance at the local regional and national level This book investigates the local governance landscape of the world's largest Muslim majority state Indonesia by providing a detailed account of local communities and religious authority on the eastern Indonesian island of Lombok one of the nation s most pious areas In particular this book considers the interaction of state and non state actors and institutions and how these institutions are interwoven into a fabric of governance Through an ethnographic case study of an Islamic boarding school Darul Falah and the community committed to it this book trains its focus upon local Muslim religious leaders Tuan Guru who are central to local governance Drawing upon the notion of the fabric of governance this book shows how governance is woven from multiple strands which are made up of a combination of institutions rules and actors to be interpreted within dynamic social legal and political processes In doing so this book employs a new means to theorise governance frameworks and understand how religion and governance are tightly intertwined Religious Authority and Local Governance in Eastern Indonesia seeks to re orient discussions of Indonesian political and legal affairs from the ground up and use local governance as a means to speak to larger social legal and political issues Islamic Studies Series Volume 25 Marriage, Gender and Islam in Indonesia Maria Platt, 2017-05-12 This book explores how women deal with the realm of marriage in Lombok eastern Indonesia It draws on women s narratives of their marital trajectories recounting their stories of courtship marital discord and experiences of divorce remarriage and polygamy

Reconciling Indonesia Birgit Bräuchler,2009-09-10 Promoting an interdisciplinary examination of Indonesia this volume goes beyond a mere political and legal approach to reconciliation. It offers new understandings of bottom up reconciliation approaches and the cultural dimension of reconciliation. Islam, Education and Radicalism in Indonesia Tim Lindsey, Jamhari Makruf, Helen Pausacker, 2023-02-24. This book explores the connections between traditional Islamic education rising religious intolerance religious attitudes to gender campaigns for curricula innovation and modernisation and politics and society in Indonesia Drawing on extensive original research and the deep experience of the authors the book highlights tensions between traditional Islamic educators and modernisers and between different understandings of Islam emphasising the importance of these issues for the future of Indonesia Global Mental Health Brandon A Kohrt, Emily Mendenhall, 2016-07-01 While there is increasing political interest in research and policy making for global mental health there remain major gaps in the education of students in health fields for understanding the complexities of diverse mental health conditions Drawing on the experience of many well known experts in this area this book uses engaging narratives to illustrate that mental illnesses are not only problems experienced by individuals but must also be understood and treated at the social and cultural levels. The book includes discussion of traditional versus biomedical beliefs about mental illness the role of culture in mental illness intersections between religion and mental health intersections of mind and body and access to health care is ideal for courses on global mental health in psychology public health and anthropology departments and other health related programs Cultural Psychology of Coping with Disasters Manfred Zaumseil, Silke Schwarz, Mechthild von Vacano, Gavin Brent Sullivan, Johana E. Prawitasari-Hadiyono, 2013-11-21 This book offers a broad theoretical foundation by relating and contrasting relevant international literature with the outcomes of a particular research project It provides a critical reevaluation of the complex phenomena of coping with disasters on a general level by applying this integrative theory of disaster coping to a specific context A cultural psychological model is developed in order to suggest ways of understanding and assessing local and cultural specificity This interaction of the general and locally specific is central to our understanding of cultural psychology of coping with disaster The book provides a basic overview by presenting various approaches to coping with natural disasters and relating them to each other in a coherent manner So far most research approaches either focus on technical social psychological or cultural aspects of coping neglecting their interconnectedness Coping is seldom seen as an extensive long term process in which disaster relief complexly interacts and is integrated with the local actors and conditions Until now a perspective is missing in which the mentioned modes of coping are integrated with cultural interpretations and practices and long standing forms of communal self help which possibly The Anthropological Demography of Health develop in places that are frequently threatened by natural disasters Véronique Petit, Kaveri Qureshi, Yves Charbit, Philip Kreager, 2020-10-30 The anthropological demography of health as a field of interdisciplinary population research has grown from the 1990s extending to a remarkable range of key human and policy issues including genetic disorders nutrition mental health infant child and maternal morbidity malaria HIV AIDS disability and chronic diseases new reproductive technologies and population ageing By observing group formation and change over time tracking people s networks and observing variance between what people say and do anthropological demography goes beyond the characteristically top down formal methodologies of most mainstream socio economic demography and population health This path breaking volume charts and integrates the growing body of research that combines ethnography with quantitative models and methods in the field of population health It offers a clear agenda based on important conceptual and methodological advances and often working in close collaboration with medical and historical research Approaches to population that are grounded in sustained ethnographic and historical research provide more than substantive knowledge of how cultural and social formations interact with health They enable understanding of how local institutions and experience of vital events come to be translated into the demographic and health measures on which survey and clinical programmes rely This in turn makes possible critical evaluation of the empirical adequacy of such translation reflection on what happens when these models and measures become standardised evaluations of health statuses and what this implies for governance The combination of anthropological demographic historical and biological research has gone beyond the initial demographic prioritisation of fertility regulation to take on an expanded range of key health policy issues and locate them in the context of the inequalities that so frequently give rise to major health differentials The Anthropological Demography of Health offers a clear agenda for the application and extension of combined anthropological and demographic thinking in population health and will provide a point of reference for the field Between Harmony and Discrimination: Negotiating Religious Identities within Majority-Minority Relationships in Bali and Lombok, 2014-05-22 Between Harmony and Discrimination explores the varying expressions of religious practices and the intertwined shifting interreligious relationships of the peoples of Bali and Lombok As religion has become a progressively more important identity marker in the 21st century the shared histories and practices of peoples of both similar and differing faiths are renegotiated reconfirmed or reconfigured This renegotiation inspired by Hindu or Islamic reform movements that encourage greater global identifications has created situations that are perceived locally to oscillate between harmony and discrimination depending on the relationships and the contexts in which they are acting Religious belonging is increasingly important among the Hindus and Muslims of Bali and Lombok minorities Christians Chinese on both islands have also sought global partners Contributors include Brigitta Hauser Sch ublin David D Harnish I Wayan Ardika Ni Luh Sitjiati Beratha Erni Budiwanti I Nyoman Darma Putra I Nyoman Dhana Leo Howe Mary Ida Bagus Lene Pedersen Martin Slama Meike Rieger Sophie Strauss Kari Telle and Dustin Wiebe Kinship and Food in South East Asia Monica Janowski, Fiona Kerloque, 2007 There has been a growing acceptance that food has an important role in establishing and structuring social and kin relations in South East Asian societies. This study looks at a wide variety of groups in the region and demonstrates that within all of them the feeding relationship is fundamental to the establishment and the nature of relations within generations and between generations Presenting material from ten societies in the region the papers included in this volume argue that the feeding of foods drink and meals based on the focal starch crop grown by these agricultural groups rice in eight of the groups covered here sago in one and cassava in one is used to manipulate biological kinship and to construct a kinship particular to humans which is nevertheless founded in a natural process the flow of life blessings and potency between generations Psychiatrists and Traditional Healers Mario Incayawar, Ronald Wintrob, Lise Bouchard, Goffredo Bartocci, 2009-04-27 This exceptional book responds to the intense current interest in defining and understanding the contribution of traditional medical knowledge and

Gender and Power in Indonesian Islam Bianca J. Smith, Mark Woodward, 2013-09-23 The traditional Islamic boarding schools known as pesantren are crucial centres of Muslim learning and culture within Indonesia but their cultural significance has been underexplored This book is the first to explore understandings of gender and Islam in pesantren and Sufi orders in Indonesia By considering these distinct but related Muslim gender cultures in Java Lombok and Aceh the book examines the broader function of pesantren as a force for both redefining existing modes of Muslim subjectivity and cultivating new ones It demonstrates how as Muslim women rise to positions of power and authority in this patriarchal domain they challenge and negotiate normative Muslim patriarchy while establishing their own Muslim authenticity The book goes on to guestion the comparison of Indonesian Islam with the Arab Middle East challenging the adoption of expatriate and diasporic Middle Eastern Muslim feminist discourses and secular western feminist analyses in Indonesian contexts Based on extensive fieldwork the book explores configurations of female leadership power feminisms and sexuality to reveal multiple Muslim selves in pesantren and Sufi orders not only as centres of learning but also as social spaces in which the interplay of gender politics status power and piety shape the course of life Methods That Matter M. Cameron Hay, 2016-05-05 To do research that really makes a difference the authors of this book argue social scientists need questions and methods that reflect the complexity of the world Bringing together a consortium of voices across a variety of fields Methods that Matter offers compelling and successful examples of mixed methods research that do just that In case after case the researchers here break out of the traditional methodological silos that have long separated social science disciplines in order to better describe the intricacies of our personal and social worlds Historically the largest division between social science methods has been that between quantitative and qualitative measures For people trained in psychology or sociology the bias has been toward the former using surveys and experiments that yield readily comparable numerical results For people trained in
