and Italy Kelley Helmstutler Di Dio, Tommaso Mozzati, 2020-01-27 This collection of essays by major scholars in the field explores how the rich intersections between Italy and Spain during the early modern period resulted in a confluence of cultural ideals. Various means of exchange and convergence are explored through two main catalysts: humans, their trips or resettlements, and objects such as books, paintings, sculptures, and prints. The visual and textual evidence of the transmission of ideas, iconographies, and styles are examined, such as triumphal ephemera, treatises on painting, the social status of the artist, collections, and their display, church decoration, and funerary monuments, providing a more nuanced understanding of the exchanges of styles, forms, and ideals across southern Europe.

Making and Moving Sculpture in Early Modern Italy Kelley Helmstutler Di Dio, 2017-07-05 In recent years, art historians have begun to delve into the patronage, production, and reception of sculptures, sculptors' workshop practices, practical, aesthetic, and esoteric considerations of material and materiality, and the meanings associated with materials and the makers of sculptures. This volume brings together some of the top scholars in the field to investigate how sculptors in early modern Italy confronted such challenges as procurement of materials, their costs, shipping, and transportation issues, and technical problems of materials, along with the meanings of the usage, hierarchies of materials, and processes of material acquisition and production. Contributors also explore the implications of these facets in terms of the intended and perceived meanings for the viewer, patron, and/or artist. A highlight of the collection is the epilogue, an interview with a contemporary artist of large-scale stone sculpture, which reveals the similar challenges sculptors still encounter today as they procure, manufacture, and transport their works.

Signs of Power in Habsburg Spain and the New World Jason McCloskey, Ignacio López Alemán, 2013-03-22 Signs of Power in Habsburg Spain and the New World explores the representation of political, economic, military, religious, and juridical power in texts and artifacts from early modern Spain and her American viceroyalties. In addition to analyzing the dynamics of power in written texts, chapters also examine pieces of material culture, including coats of arms, coins, paintings, and engravings. As the essays demonstrate, many of these objects work to transform the amorphous concept of power into a material reality with considerable symbolic dimensions, subject to and dependent on interpretation. With its broad approach to the discourses of power, Signs of Power brings together studies of both canonical literary works as well as more obscure texts and objects The position of the works studied with respect to the official center of power also varies Whereas certain essays focus on the ways in which portrayals of power champion the aspirations of the Spanish Crown other essays attend to voices of dissent that effectively call into question that authority The Rough Guide to Spain Rough Guides,2015-03-02
