Renal Protective Effect Of Ace Inhibition And Angiotensin Ii Blockade:

Renal Protective Effect of ACE Inhibition and Angiotensin II Blockade Giuseppe Remuzzi, 1996-01-01 This timely issue reviews new therapeutic strategies for preventing or delaying renal disease progression Special attention is given to pharmacologic interventions aimed at inhibiting the synthesis of angiotensin II or blocking its biological activity at the receptor level The papers presented in this issue provide thorough coverage of the topic from the role of the renin angiotensin system in the local control of renal function to the protective effects of ACE inhibitors in diabetes Taken together the studies document that when urinary protein excretion is reduced by pharmacologic interventions a proportional reduction in the rate of renal disease progression can be achieved Clinical trials are now being carried out to investigate whether angiotensin II receptor blockade offers advantages compared to ACE inhibitors in slowing renal disease progression All those wishing to learn about the latest advances will appreciate this valuable update Seldin and Giebisch's The

Angiotensin II Receptor Blockade Physiological and Clinical Implications Naranjan S. Dhalla, Peter Zahradka, Ian M.C. Dixon, Robert E. Beamish, 2012-12-06 The relationship between angiotensin II and hypertension was established in 1898 when angiotensin II was shown to modulate systemic blood pressure Over the intervening decades a complete characterization of the renin angiotensin system RAS has been achieved and our understanding of its biochemistry and physiology has led to the directed development of agents such as ACE inhibitors and receptor antagonists capable of controlling hypertension More recently it was shown that angiotensin II is secreted within certain tissues and that these tissue specific systems operate independently of the systemic RAS The novel concept that angiotensin II regulates a number of cardiovascular processes that are unrelated to blood pressure has renewed the interest of both basic and clinical scientists in angiotensin II The association between angiotensin II and cardiac growth in particular has indicated that therapies currently in use for hypertension may have direct application to the treatment of heart failure The Manitoba Cardiovascular Forum on Angiotensin Receptor Blockade in Winnipeg was convened October 18-20 1996 to examine the clinical and basic aspects of angiotensin receptor biology as they apply to hypertension and heart failure In addition the potential treatment of these conditions using specific angiotensin receptor antagonists was addressed within the context of their immediate therapeutic application and future potential

Angiotensin II Receptor Antagonists Mancia Giuseppe, 2000-07-03 Since angiotensin II is one of the most potent vasoconstrictors and an important stimulus for the secretion of aldosterone from the adrenal gland the development of angiotensin II inhibitors is an important step in regulating blood pressure This class of drug is well tolerated by patients and these drugs have the added advantage over ACE inhibitors in that they are not associated with cough Because most drugs can be given once daily and like ACE inhibitors they have a useful additive hypotensive effect in combination with diuretics they are a welcome therapeutic tool in the treatment of hypertension

Food-Drug Synergy and Safety Lilian U. Thompson, Wendy E. Ward, 2005-08-23 Scientists health professionals and consumers are increasingly interested in the relationships between food components and food drug combinations as they strive to find more effective ways to prevent or treat chronic disease As one of the first unified and in depth sources in this emerging topic Food Drug Synergy and Safety explores the vast po

Calcium Channel Blockers Théophile

Godfraind, 2012-12-06 The drugs named calcium channel blockers CCBs were initially termed calcium antagonists see Chapter 1 They are also designated as calcium entry blockers CEBs calcium blockers calcium channel antagonists calcium channel inhibitors and in French anticalciques As this is reported in several chapters of this book their main effect is a blockade of calcium entry into cells through voltage operated calcium channels VOCCs Chemically related drugs such as Bay K 8644 exert the opposite effect by increasing the probability of calcium channel opening One of the subcommittees of the Nomenclature Committee NC IUPAR of the International Union of Pharmacology has been devoted to the classification of calcium channels and the site of action of drugs modifying channel function The members of this Committee are noted for their significant contribution to the field Tab 1 A report has been published in 1992 in Pharmacological Reviews 3 A list of criteria was approved for the identification of distinct drug binding sites on Ca channels It included a the demonstration of a stereoselective binding site supported by drug interaction studies competition with other drugs non competitive interactions with other sites reversal of inhibitory effects by channel activators b demonstration of the electrophysiological effects of the drug and selectivity of action compared to other sites c determination of the affinity for the type and subtype of ion channel These criteria have identified different classes of Ca antagonists see Chapter 2

Andreoli,2006      Kidney and Blood Pressure Regulation H. Suzuki,T. Saruta,Claudio Ronco,2004-07 Chronic kidney disease is one of the world s major public health problems and the prevalence of kidney failure is rising steadily Among the risk factors for a faster progression of renal disease are hypertension and proteinuria many studies clearly demonstrating that hypertension is both a cause and consequence of chronic kidney disease Namely renal blood pressure regulation seems to be involved in five major pathophysiological mechanisms all closely related to the renin angiotensin system Pressure natriuresis renal sympathetic nervous system renal blood flow intraglomerular pressure and tubuloglomerular feedback This book reviews experimental data which form the basis of our current understanding of the association between hypertension and kidney diseases The pathogenesis of increased blood pressure the mechanisms by which systemic hypertension promotes progressive kidney failure and the impact of antihypertensive agents on experimental renal mechanisms involved in hypertension Furthermore the role of angiotensin II receptor blockers in both the control of systemic blood pressure and the reduction of proteinuria is examined in an attempt to define optimal therapeutic strategies to prevent the otherwise inexorable deterioration of renal function in patients with chronic kidney disease
