

What Is the Predictive Value of Animal Models for Vaccine Efficacy in Humans?

Rigorous Simian Immunodeficiency Virus Vaccine Trials Can Be Instructive

Mauricio A. Martins and David I. Watkins

Department of Pathology, University of Miami, Miami, Florida 33136

Correspondence: dwatkins@med.miami.edu

Simian immunodeficiency virus (SIV) challenge of rhesus macaques provides an invaluable tool to evaluate the clinical prospects of HIV-1 vaccine concepts. However, as with any animal model of human disease, it is crucial to understand the advantages and limitations of this system to maximize the translational value of SIV vaccine studies. Here, we discuss the importance of assessing the efficacy of vaccine prototypes using stringent SIV challenge regimens that mimic HIV-1 transmission and pathogenesis. We also review some of the cautionary tales of HIV-1 vaccine research because they provide general lessons for the preclinical assessment of vaccine candidates.

GREAT DEBATES

What are the most interesting topics likely to come up over dinner or drinks with your colleagues? Or, more importantly, what are the topics that don't come up because they are a little too controversial? In Immune Memory and Vaccines: Great Debates, Editors Rafi Ahmed and Shane Crotty have put together a collection of articles on such questions, written by thought leaders in these fields, with the freedom to talk about the issues as they see fit. This short, innovative format aims to bring a fresh perspective by encouraging authors to be opinionated, focus on what is most interesting and current, and avoid restating introductory material covered in many other reviews.

The Editors posed 13 interesting questions critical for our understanding of vaccines and immune memory to a broad group of experts in the field. In each case, several different perspectives are provided. Note that while each author knew that there were additional scientists addressing the same question, they did not know who these authors were, which ensured the independence of the opinions and perspectives expressed in each article. Our hope is that readers enjoy these articles and that they trigger many more conversations on these important topics.

In the past two decades public debate about the risks benefits and safety associated with drugs has intensified Public disputes over risks are brought to court when individuals seek compensation for health problems attributed to a pharmaceutical product The issue reaches legislatures and regulatory agencies when consumer advocates seek to influence the standards of drug usage Front page news tends to focus on accidents or other risk events with drugs Drug risk and drug safety have become an important political issue Drug regulatory agencies have been instituted and their responsibility has increased The approval to market a drug is dependent on a set of sophisticated studies executed according to strict protocols and scientifically defined criteria Drug surveillance activities have gained recognition and reporting systems to identify drug safety problems have been strengthened The understanding and management of drug safety is nonetheless beset by doubts disagreements and disputes Conflict occurs over the significance of risk the adequacy of evidence the methodologies used to evaluate and measure risk the standards that guide regulation and the optimal means of communicating risk information to the public Safety Evaluation of Biotechnologically-derived Pharmaceuticals Susan A. Griffiths, C. Lumley, 2012-12-06 Considerable investment has been made by both pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies in pharmaceutical products of biotechnology However because relatively few of these products have been marketed lack of relevant experience means that uncertainty still surrounds the most appropriate strategy for their safety evaluation The 13th CMR International Workshop held in February 1997 provided the opportunity for regulatory authority and industry experts from Europe Japan and the USA to share their experiences of designing safety evaluation programmes for specific product classes colony stimulating factors growth factors hormones interferons interleukins monoclonal antibodies for therapeutic use and gene therapy products Participants worked together to recommend those studies that should be considered for such safety evaluation and those that may be unnecessary These recommendations subsequently made a valuable contribution to the ICH guideline Safety Studies for Biotechnological Products which was finalised at ICH 4 in Brussels in July 1997 The Workshop proceedings not only describe the recommendations but also provide the reader with an appreciation of the science behind safety evaluation strategies used by experts the influence of different regulatory systems on these strategies and the type of data required by both toxicologists and clinicians before they have sufficient confidence to administer pharmaceutical products of biotechnology to humans
