Management: A Very Short Introduction John Hendry, 2013-10-24 In this Very Short Introduction John Hendry provides a lively introduction to the nature and principles of management Tracing its development over the past century Hendry looks not only at the jobs managers do today and their place in the culture of work but also provides an insight into modern management theory

Management and Leadership Development Christopher Mabey, Tim Finch Lees, 2007-12-12 This is the first really thought provoking book that I have read on management development It is a book primarily addressed to students but in this field we are all students It merits a wide readership both among practising managers as well as among those responsible for developing them Max Boisot ESADE Mabey and Finch Lees inject a breath of fresh air into the management development field by expanding upon its heretofore functionalist base They offer an informative critique of mainstream views featuring alternative discourses to examine such hard questions as why management development hasn't quite delivered on management's considerable investment in it As a veritable tour de force in its absorbing integration and review of a large tract of literature the book informs both management scholars and practitioners what might be expected from management development's intended but also unanticipated outcomes Joe Raelin Northeastern University In a well written accessible and yet sophisticated text Mabey and Finch Lees show themselves to be as familiar with the latest in management development practice as they are with the sometimes arcane theoretical literature that surrounds it Its great strength is to recognize the plurality of discourses some overlapping and complementary others distinct and oppositional about the subject This book can be recommended as a unique resource for students and scholars of management development Chris Grey University of Warwick This book represents a significant step forward in the theory of management and leadership development It offers an international perspective in this era of globalisation and a new and questioning perspective on the common belief that leadership is something completely different to and more important than management This book will be of great help to the serious theorist and researcher of management and leadership development It is an invaluable point of reference for a broad range of theory and research in this area which it summarises with admirable brevity and clarity John G Burgoyne Lancaster University Management School and Henley Management College Management development is a potent and high profile human resource activity involving some of the organizations key players and attracting huge hopes and investments from governments organizations and individuals alike Yet at several levels the high expectations often remain unfulfilled So why is this a subject and activity that continues to command such intense interest from scholars and practitioners alike Chris Mabey and Tim Finch Lees provide a fresh analysis of the concept and practice of management and leadership development MLD Grounded in research the authors set out the current state of management and leadership development practices before introducing readers to competing theories of MLD and offering them a more critical perspective Throughout the book ideas are illustrated by international case studies and vignettes that evoke the perceptions and interests of the whole range of stakeholders in the management development process

Management Practice and Creative Destruction Steven Segal, 2016-03-09 How do managers and leaders know what to do when they are caught off guard or taken by surprise How do they create when they do not know what to do next These are challenges of an organizational world of existential uncertainty one where the future does not conform to but challenges our expectations and assumptions Steven Segal demonstrates that creating in a world of existential uncertainty requires a new understanding of the relationship between management inquiry and the lived experience of organizing Using existential philosophy he demonstrates how moods of concern serve as a framework to integrate management theory and practice thereby providing a framework for managers management educators and consultants to share a common framework In a globalized free market characterized by unexpected disruptions management inquiry is not a science conducted from an objective distance The book advocates an existentially reflexive and participant observer perspective to management inquiry By participating in managing a felt sense of being a manager develops Through existential observation new ways of organizing are made possible It is inquiry from within rather than from an objective distance Such inquiry opens new doors and opportunities Existential hermeneutic phenomenology and the free market phenomenon of creative destruction are linked to each other The former provides a framework to work through the breakdown in conventions of organizing that occur in creative destruction

Great Minds in Management Ken G. Smith, Michael A. Hitt, 2005-09-22 In Great Minds In Management Ken G Smith and Michael A Hitt have brought together some of the most influential and original thinkers in management Their contributions to this volume not only outline their landmark contributions to management theory but also reflect on the process of theory development presenting their own personal accounts of the gestation of these theories The result is not only an ambitious and original panorama of the key ideas in management theory presented by their originators but also a unique collection of reflections on the process of theory development an area which to date little has been written about by those who have actually had experience of building theory In their concluding chapter Ken G Smith and Michael A Hitt draw together some common themes about the development of management theory over the last half a century and suggest some of the conclusions to be drawn about how theory comes into being Contributors Chris Argyris Albert Bandura Jay B Barney Lee R Beach Kim Cameron Michael R Darby Robert Folger R Edward Freeman Michael Frese J Richard Hackman Donald C Hambrick Michael A Hitt Anne S Huff Gary P Latham Edwin A Locke Henry Mintzberg Terrence R Mitchell Richard T Mowday Ikujiro Nonaka Greg R Oldham Jeffrey Pfeffer Lyman W Porter Denise M Rousseau W Richard Scott Ken G Smith Barry M Staw Richard M Steers Victor H Vroom Karl E Weick Oliver E Williamson Sidney G Winter and Lynn Zucker
