Pueblos Y Paisajes De Mexico:

Pueblos y paisajes de México Hugo Brehme,1992 Looking for Mexico John Mraz,2009-06-15 This survey of Mexico's visual culture from the mid 1800s to the present illuminates the powerful role of photographs, films, illustrated magazines and image-filled books in the construction of Mexican identity Boletín de El Libro y el pueblo, 1929

Nacho Lopez, Mexican Photographer John Mraz,2003 Annotation Photographer Nacho Lopez was Mexico's Eugene Smith, fusing social commitment with searing imagery to dramatize the plight of the helpless, the poor and the marginalized in the pages of glossy illustrated magazines. Even today, Lopez's photographs forcefully belie the picturesque exoticism that is invariably presented as the essence of Mexico. In Nacho Lopez, Mexican Photographer, John Mraz offers the first full-length study in English of this influential photojournalist and provides a close visual analysis of more than fifty of Lopez's most important photographs. Mraz first sets Lopez's work in the historical and cultural context of the authoritarian presidentialism that characterized Mexican politics in the 1950s, the cult of wealth and celebrity promoted by Mexico's professional photographers and the government's attempts to modernize and industrialize Mexico at almost any cost. Mraz skillfully explores the implications of Lopez's imagery in this setting, the extent to which his photographs might constitute further victimization of his downtrodden subjects, the relationship between them and the middle-class readers of the magazines for which Lopez worked, and the success with which his photographs challenged Mexico's economic and political structures. Mraz contrasts the photos Lopez took with those that were selected by his editors for publication. He also compares Lopez's images with his theories about documentary photography and considers Lopez's photographs alongside the work of Robert Capa, Dorothea Lange, Henri Cartier-Bresson, and Sebastião Salgado. Lopez's imagery is further analyzed in relation to the Mexican Golden Age cinema inspired by Sergei Eisenstein, the pioneering digital imagery of Pedro Meyer, and the work of Manuel Álvarez Bravo, who Mraz provocatively argues was the first Mexican photographer to take an anti-picturesque stance. The definitive English language assessment of Nacho Lopez Photographing the Mexican Revolution John Mraz,2012-04-18 The Mexican Revolution of 1910-1920 is among the world's most visually documented revolutions. Coinciding with the birth of filmmaking and the increased mobility offered by the reflex camera, it received extraordinary coverage by photographers and cineastes, commercial and amateur, national and international. Many images of the Revolution remain iconic to this day: Francisco Villa galloping toward the camera, Villa lolling in the presidential chair next to Emiliano Zapata, and Zapata standing stolidly in charro raiment with a carbine in one hand and the other hand on a sword, to mention only a few. But the identities of those who created the thousands of extant images of the Mexican Revolution and what their purposes were remain a huge puzzle, because photographers constantly plagiarized each other's images. In this pathfinding book, acclaimed photography historian John Mraz carries out a monumental analysis of photographs produced during the Mexican Revolution, focusing primarily on those made by Mexicans in order to discover who took the images and why, to what ends, and with what intentions and for whom He explores how photographers expressed their commitments visually what aesthetic strategies they employed and which identifications and identities they forged Mraz demonstrates that contrary to the myth that Agustín Víctor Casasola was the photographer of the Revolution there were many who covered the long civil war including women He shows that specific photographers can even be linked to the contending forces and reveals a pattern of commitment that has been little commented upon in previous studies and completely unexplored in the photography of other revolutions
