twenty years have turned their attention to fiber arts redefining the conditions practices and products as art there is still much work to be done to deconstruct the stubborn patriarchal art craft binary With essays on a range of fiber art practices including embroidery knitting crocheting machine stitching rug making weaving and quilting this collection contributes to the ongoing scholarly redefinition of women s relationship to creative activity Focusing on women as producers of cultural products and creators of social value the contributors treat women as active subjects and problematize their material practices and artifacts in the complex world of textiles Each essay also examines the ways in which needlework both performs gender and in turn constructs gender Moreover in concentrating on and theorizing material practices of textiles these essays reorient the study of fiber arts towards a focus on process the making of the object including the conditions under which it was made by whom and for what purpose as a way to rethink the fiber arts as social praxis

Exhibition Schedule National Portrait Gallery Washington DC April 28 2023 February 25 2024 History of Latinos Pablo R. Mitchell, 2014-08-11 The first text of its kind to trace the combined history of Latino groups in the United States from 1500 to the present day Latinos have lived in North America for over 400 years arriving decades before the Pilgrims and other English settlers Yet for many outside of Latino ethnic groups little is known about the cultures that comprise the Latino community surprising considering their increasing presence in the U S population over 50 million individuals at the latest census This book explores the heritage and history of Mexicans Puerto Ricans Cubans Dominicans and Central and South Americans Unlike similar history surveys on these communities this book places the 500 years of Latino history into a single narrative Each chapter discusses the collective group within a particular time period moving chronologically from 1500 to the 2010s revealing the shared experiences of community building and discrimination in the United States the central role of Latinas and Latinos in their communities and the diversity that exists within the communities themselves Organized Agriculture and the Labor Movement before the UFW Dionicio Nodín Valdés, 2011-07-01 Puerto Rico Hawai i and California share the experiences of conquest and annexation to the United States in the nineteenth century and mass organizational struggles by rural workers in the twentieth Organized Agriculture and the Labor Movement before the UFW offers a comparative examination of those struggles which were the era s longest and most protracted campaigns by agricultural workers supported by organized labor to establish a collective presence and realize the fruits of democracy Dionicio Nod n Vald s examines critical links between the earlier conquests and the later organizing campaigns while he corrects a number of popular misconceptions about agriculture farmworkers and organized labor He shows that agricultural workers have engaged in continuous efforts to gain a place in the institutional life of the nation that unions succeeded before the United Farm Workers and Cesar Chavez and that the labor movement played a major role in those efforts He also offers a window into understanding crucial limitations of institutional democracy in the United States and demonstrates that the widespread lack of participation in the nation s institutions by agricultural workers has not been due to a lack of volition but rather to employers continuous efforts to prevent worker empowerment Organized Agriculture and the Labor Movement before the UFW demonstrates how employers benefitted not only from power and wealth but also from imperialism in both its domestic and international manifestations It also demonstrates how workers at times successfully overcame growers advantages although they were ultimately unable to sustain movements and gain a permanent institutional presence in Puerto Rico and California Military Power and Popular Protest Katherine T. McCaffrey, 2002 Katherine T McCaffrey gives a complete analysis of the troubled relationship between the U S Navy and island residents She explores such topics as the history of U S naval involvement in Vieques a grassroots mobilization led by fishermen that began in the 1970s how the navy promised to improve the lives of the island residents and failed and the present day emergence of a revitalized political activism that has effectively challenged naval hegemony Women in Latin America and the Caribbean Marysa Navarro, Virginia Sánchez
