The Hindu Self and Its Muslim Neighbors Ankur Barua,2022-04-25 In The Hindu Self and its Muslim Neighbors the author sketches the contours of relations between Hindus and Muslims in Bengal The central argument is that various patterns of amicability and antipathy have been generated towards Muslims over the last six hundred years and these patterns emerge at dynamic intersections between Hindu self understandings and social shifts on contested landscapes The core of the book is a set of translations of the Bengali writings of Rabindranath Tagore 1861 1941 Kazi Nazrul Islam 1899 1976 and Annada Shankar Ray 1904 2002 Their lives were deeply interwoven with some Hindu Muslim synthetic ideas and subjectivities and these involvements are articulated throughout their writings which provide multiple vignettes of contemporary modes of amity and antagonism Barua argues that the characterization of relations between Hindus and Muslims either in terms of an implacable hostility or of an unfragmented peace is historically inaccurate for these relations were modulated by a shifting array of socio economic and socio political parameters It is within these contexts that Rabindranath Nazrul and Annada Shankar are developing their thoughts on Hindus and Muslims through the prisms of religious humanism and universalism

Where does religion end? Marcelo da Luz,2017-08-31 The author s decision to leave religion after experiencing a profound growth crisis founded itself in the free action of one who after walking tenaciously has extinguished an existential possibility and reached a new realm of understanding about the realities of the consciousness and the universe The inner freedom encountered to make this kind of decision was the result of a gradual self confrontation This author perceived the necessity to dispel the fear associated with questioning his habitual suppositions and to look beyond the limits of the indoctrination he had received For a long time while still religious he named this fearlessness a quest for wisdom or the spirituality of an unsettled heart Nowadays in light of the experiences had he prefers to emphasize the courage to evolve which requires five years after the abjuration the assumption of speaking publicly about the dissidence that was effected When dissidents of ideologies or institutions start talking or writing about their experiences it is necessary to observe the kind of motivation and intention implicit in the decision made The former militant the former integrant the former partisan the former something in spite of the effort to affirm that they are no longer part of the institution to which they once belonged may continue to define themselves based on the institution In this case the person is still a former in relation to what they intend to deny Perhaps in their eagerness to critically speak out about the reasons underlying their abandonment of a certain idea or organization they still flaunt the previous condition as a trophy unfurling the pride of being a former The ambiguity in question lies in the fact that the person's point of reference continues to be in the no longer desired way of living or thinking

The Changing World of Caste and Hierarchy in Bengal Sudarshana Bhaumik, 2022-08-26 This book challenges the prevalent assumptions of caste hierarchy and social mobility in pre colonial and colonial Bengal It studies the writings of colonial ethnographers Orientalist scholars Christian missionaries and pre colonial literary texts like the Mangalkavyas to show how the concept of caste emerged and argues that the jati order in Bengal was far from being a rigidly reified structure but one which had room for spatial and social mobility The volume highlights the processes through which popular myths and beliefs of the lower caste orders of Bengal were Sanskritized. It delineates the linkages between sedentized peasant culture and the emergence of new agricultural castes in colonial Bengal. Moreover, the author discusses a wide spectrum of issues like marginality and hierarchy, the spread of Brahmanical hegemony, the creation of deities and the process of Sanskritization, popular Saivism, the cult of Manasa in Bengal and the revolt of 1857 and the caste question. Rich in archival sources, this book will be an essential read for scholars and researchers of colonial history, Indian history, political sociology, caste studies, exclusion studies, cultural studies, social history, cultural history and South Asian studies, especially those interested in undivided Bengal.

Forming a Global Community Joseph de Rivera, 2022-10-18. To address global problems such as pandemics, warming, economic inequality, mass migration and widespread terrorism, Joseph de Rivera argues that we must form a global community. A community of eight billion humans is difficult to conceive. However, it can be imagined and created if we transform our understanding of who humans are and what community entails. We can understand who persons are, how they are motivated and how a community can be conceived in a way that offers an alternative to individualism and collectivism. The mutualism that is proposed provides a moral compass for navigating the challenges that confront us and encourages specific governing structures, political economies and rituals that will further the formation of a global community. Based on the philosophical analysis of John Macmurray, the author's argument relies on an extensive review of the current literature on self, personhood, emotional motivation, social identity, forms of community and religious and secular rituals. Interdisciplinary in nature, it aims to direct philosophy and the social sciences to the challenges of globalism and the creation of a global community.

Multiculturalism in the British Commonwealth Richard T. Ashcroft, Mark Bevir, 2019-07-12. At publication date, a free ebook version of this title will be available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program. Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more. Multiculturalism as a distinct form of liberal democratic governance gained widespread acceptance after World War II, but in recent years, this consensus has been fractured. Multiculturalism in the British Commonwealth examines cultural diversity across the postwar Commonwealth, situating modern multiculturalism in its national, international and historical contexts. Bringing together practitioners from across the humanities and social sciences to explore the legal, political and philosophical issues involved, these essays address common questions: What is postwar multiculturalism? Why did it come about? How have social actors responded to it? In addition to chapters on Australia, Britain, Canada and New Zealand, this volume also covers India, Malaysia, Nigeria, Singapore and Trinidad, tracing the historical roots of contemporary dilemmas back to the intertwined legacies of imperialism and liberalism. In so doing, it demonstrates that multiculturalism has implications that stretch far beyond its current formulations in public and academic discourse.
