Rendering Techniques '98 George Drettakis, Nelson Max, 1998-08-11 Some of the best current research on realistic rendering is included in this volume It emphasizes the current hot topics in this field image based rendering and efficient local and global illumination calculations In the first of these areas there are several contributions on real world model acquisition and display on using image based techniques for illumination and on efficient ways to parameterize and compress images or light fields as well as on clever uses of texture and compositing hardware to achieve image warping and 3D surface textures In global and local illumination there are contributions on extending the techniques beyond diffuse reflections to include specular and more general angle dependent reflection functions on efficiently representing and approximating these reflection functions on representing light sources and on approximating visibility and shadows Finally there are two contributions on how to use knowledge about human perception to concentrate the work of accurate rendering only where it will be noticed and a survey of computer graphics techniques used in the production of a feature length computer animated film with full 3D characters

Visualization in Scientific Computing '98 Dirk Bartz, 2012-12-06 In twelve selected papers common problems in scientific visualization are discussed adaptive and multi resolution methods feature extraction flow visualization and visualization quality Four papers focus on aspects of mesh reduction mesh compression and increasing the quality of the resulting mesh Two extensions on particle tracing are presented as well as a paper on the simulation of material transport Two papers are on feature extraction in dynamics systems and on the accuracy of algorithmic extracted features Three papers focus on stereoscopic volume rendering on the visualization of atomic collision cascades and of quality of visualization systems in general The Magic of Computer Graphics Noriko Kurachi, 2011-06-01 Computer graphics is a vast field that is becoming larger every day It is impossible to cover every topic of interest even within a specialization such as CG rendering For many years Noriko Kurachi has reported on the latest developments for Japanese readers in her monthly column for CG World Being something of a pioneer herself she selected topics that represented original and promising new directions for research Many of these novel ideas are the topics covered in The Magic of Computer Graphics Starting from the basic behavior of light the first section of the book introduces the most useful techniques for global and local illumination using geometric descriptions of an environment The second section goes on to describe image based techniques that rely on captured data to do their magic In the final section the author looks at the synthesis of these two complementary approaches and what they mean for the future of computer graphics

Information and Communication Technologies in Tourism 1999 Dimitrios Buhalis,Walter Schertler,1999-01-12 During the last couple of years we learned that information and communication technologies have to be seen as key factors for the success in various industries Especially in tourism it became evident that missing the developments in this sector could not only be fatal for the unfolding of the businesses but also unrenouncable in order to withstand in competition The objective of ENTER is to show the chance that information technology offers for all participants in the touristic competition to act successfully in permanently changing information environments It reflects the important role of information technologies in this field Within the last six years ENTER united various experts practitioners as well as researchers to exchange their experiences ideas and visions in the sector of tourism and information technology The conferences scope is to provide an international platform to discuss the topical situation and future trends and the possibilities to shape the own strategies The various points of view of all the participants in workshops reports and discussions always lead to most interesting perceptions

Rendering Techniques '99 Dani Lischinski, Greg W. Larson, 2012-12-06 This book contains the proceedings of the 10th Eurographics Workshop on Rendering which took place from the 21st to the 23rd of June 1999 in Granada Spain Originally an outgrowth of the annual Eurographics meeting the workshop was organized by a dedicated group of researchers who felt there was insufficient opportunity at Eurographics and Siggraph to exchange ideas specifically on rendering Over the past 9 years the workshop has become renowned as an international watershed for top quality work in this field attracting between 50 and 100 attendees each year to share their latest research This year we received a total of 63 submissions Each paper was carefully reviewed by two of the 25 international programme committee members as well as two external reviewers selected by the co chairs from a pool of 71 individuals The programme committee and external reviewers are listed following the contents pages In this new review process all submissions and reviews were handled electronically with the exception of videos submitted with a few of the papers This streamlined the review process considerably while reducing the costs and confusion associated with courier delivery of hundreds of papers
