Jim Axelrod, 2025-09-23 It's 2008 Jim Axelrod once among the most watched correspondents on network news and the first television reporter to broadcast from Saddam International Airport in 2003 is covering the final stages of the race for the Democratic presidential nomination He's forty five years old and thirty pounds overweight He's drinking too much sleeping too little and scarcely seeing his family He's just figured out that the industry that pulled him up the corporate ladder is imploding as he's reaching for its final rungs Then out of the blue Jim discovers his late father's decades old New York Marathon finish times At forty six Bob Axelrod ran a 3:29:58 With everything else going on in his life Jim sets himself a defining challenge Can I beat him So begins a deeply felt often hilarious quixotic effort to run the 2009 New York Marathon Along the way Jim confronts his listing marriage a career upset by the seismic changes going on throughout the television news industry excruciatingly painful shin splints and the worst timed kidney stone possible Looming over it all is the shadow of a loving father who repeatedly lost his way in life but still has a lesson to impart This is a book about a dead father's challenge to a son at a crossroads but more than that it is about the personal costs paid when ambition and talent are not enough to ensure success Most fundamentally though it is a book about learning what it takes to be happy in your own skin

Quantitative Methods in Tourism Economics Álvaro Matias, Peter Nijkamp, Manuela Sarmento, 2012-12-13 Tourism economics is partly based on established principles from the economics discipline but it also incorporates elements from sociology psychology organization theory and ecology It has over the years turned into an appealing multi disciplinary oriented approach to the understanding of the impacts of leisure time in a modern society including cultural heritage sustainable quality of life and industrial organization of the hospitality industry The increasing dynamics in the tourist industry and its worldwide effects will continue to attract the attention of both the research and the policy sector in the years to come Rather than speculating on non observed facts there is a clear need for evidence based research in order to map out the complex dynamics of the tourist industry The present volume comprises novel studies mainly of a quantitative analytical nature on the supply demand and contextual aspects of modern tourism It contains a sound mix of theory methodology policy and case studies on various tourism issues in different parts of the world
