second lieutenant with a wound stripe was eyeing me with scorn The old chap was one of the cross examining type and after he had borrowed my matches he set to work to find out all about me He was a tremendous fire eater and a bit of a pessimist about our slow progress in the west I told him I came from South Africa and was a mining engineer Been fighting with Botha he asked No I said I m not the fighting kind The second lieutenant screwed up his nose Is there no conscription in South Africa Thank God there isn t I said and the old fellow begged permission to tell me a lot of unpalatable things I knew his kind and didn t give much for it He was the sort who if he had been under fifty would have crawled on his belly to his tribunal to get exempted but being over age was able to pose as a patriot But I didn t like the second lieutenant s grin for he seemed a good class of lad I looked steadily out of the window for the rest of the way and wasn t sorry when I got to my station I had had the queerest interview with Bullivant and Macgillivray They asked me first if I was willing to serve again in the old game and I said I was I felt as bitter as sin for I had got fixed in the military groove and had made good there Here was I a brigadier and still under forty and with another year of the war there was no saying where I might end I had started out without any ambition only a great wish to see the business finished But now I had acquired a professional interest in the thing I had a nailing good brigade and I had got the hang of our new kind of war as well as any fellow from Sandhurst and Camberley They were asking me to scrap all I had learned and start again in a new job I had to agree for discipline s discipline but I could have knocked their heads together in my vexation What was worse they wouldn t or couldn t tell me anything about what they wanted me for It was the old game of running me in blinkers They asked me to take it on trust and put myself unreservedly in their hands I would get my instructions later they said I asked if it was important Mr Standfast John Buchan,2013-03-18 Dick Hannay s spymaster asks the young Brigadier General to pose as a South African war objector and sends him to the quintessentially British countryside where he meets pretty Mary Lamington in the Cotswolds Mary turns out to be Dick s contact telling him to immerse himself in the world of pacifists and objectors to World War I He obtains copy of the book Pilgrim s Progress to help him decode messages and helps track a network of German spies headquartered in Britain
