II Francesca Di Garbo , Bruno Olsson , Bernhard Wälchli , 2019 The many facets of grammatical gender remain one of the most fruitful areas of linguistic research and pose fascinating questions about the origins and development of complexity in language The present work is a two volume collection of 13 chapters on the topic of grammatical gender seen through the prism of linguistic complexity The contributions discuss what counts as complex and or simple in grammatical gender systems whether the distribution of gender systems across the world's languages relates to the language ecology and social history of speech communities Contributors demonstrate how the complexity of gender systems can be studied synchronically both in individual languages and over large cross linguistic samples and diachronically by exploring how gender systems change over time Volume two consists of three chapters providing diachronic and typological case studies followed by a final chapter discussing old and new theoretical and empirical challenges in the study of the dynamics of gender complexity This volume is preceded by volume one which in addition to three chapters on the theoretical foundations of gender complexity contains six chapters on grammatical gender and complexity in individual languages and language families of Africa New Guinea and South Asia Who Cooked the Last Supper? Rosalind Miles, 2007-12-18 Who Cooked the Last Supper overturns the phallus of history and gives voice to the untold history of the world the contributions of millions of unsung women Men dominate history because men write history There have been many heroes but no heroines Here in Who Cooked the Last Supper is the history you never learned but should have Without politics or polemics this brilliant and witty book overturns centuries of preconceptions to restore women to their rightful place at the center of culture revolution empire war and peace Spiced with tales of individual women who have shaped civilization celebrating the work and lives of women around the world and distinguished by a wealth of research Who Cooked the Last Supper redefines our concept of historical reality The Local Cultures of South and East China Wolfram Eberhard,1968 Women's Lives Bernice E.
