1 Human Excellence Daniel A. Putman,1998 Human Excellence introduces the basic ideas of virtue theory the branch of ethics that analyzes character The author accomplishes this by systematically and carefully exploring the role of character in ethics through a series of dialogues He begins by contrasting virtue ethics with other ethical views such as egoism utilitarianism and rights theories Then he explores issues including the nature of courage the problem of healthy versus unhealthy self love character and parenting techniques the nature of friendship and the relationship of virtue to the current debate on the ethics of care The advantage of the author s approach is its practicality making the material not only understandable but applicable to exploring the self and systems in place in the world A Practical Guide to Clinical

Ethics Consulting Christopher Meyers,2007 A Practical Guide to Clinical Ethics Consulting reasserts the philosophical method as foundational to ethics consulting It does so in response to extensive attacks from social scientists lawyers theologians and especially practitioners all of whom disparage philosophy s reliance on abstract theory and conceptual analysis Using clinical ethics consulting as an exemplar Christopher Meyers argues that while many of the attacks are well founded they are only partly so and not in the most important respects Ethics consulting that relies too heavily on abstract analysis is of little use to practitioners consultants must have adequate grounding in and appreciation of the concrete reality of working professionals They must also be experienced enough to have the practical wisdom necessary to assist with real world problems Skills of philosophical analysis when combined with instruction in empirical investigation political awareness and appropriate character traits are vital to ethics consulting Ethicists need the theoretical and conceptual analysis skills that are a standard part of a philosophical education and mindset The book provides both a defense of this central thesis and a detailed description of the empirical tools and of the critical independence necessary to effective consulting Social
