Moral Formation And Christianity:

Moral Formation and Christianity Franz Böckle, Jacques Marie Pohier, 1978      Moral Formation and the Virtuous Life Paul M. Blowers, 2019-07-02 In Moral Formation and the Virtuous Life volume editor Paul M Blowers has translated and gathered several key texts from early Christian sources to explore the broad themes of moral conscience and ethics Readers will gain a sense of how moral formation was part of a process sustained by pastoral instruction and admonition based on ritual practice baptism eucharist and liturgy as well as learned ethical behaviors related to moral issues such as sexual ethics marriage and celibacy wealth and poverty pagan entertainment military service and more Moral Formation and the Virtuous Life is part of Ad Fontes Early Christian Sources a series designed to present ancient Christian texts essential to an understanding of Christian theology ecclesiology and practice The books in the series will make the wealth of early Christian thought available to new generations of students of theology and provide a valuable resource for the Church Developed in light of recent Patristic scholarship the volumes will provide a representative sampling of theological contributions from both East and West The series aims to provide volumes that are relevant for a variety of courses from introduction to theology to classes on doctrine and the development of Christian thought The goal of each volume is not to be exhaustive but rather representative enough to denote for a non specialist audience the multivalent character of early Christian thought allowing readers to see how and why early Christian doctrine and practice developed the way it did      Emotions, Moral Formation, and Christian Politics Jonathan M. Cahill, 2024-08-22 This volume addresses the social relational nature of moral formation emotions and moral agency Drawing on Barth's theological anthropology and his relational conception of the self Cahill argues that Barth envisions moral progress as rooted in the growth of the community Cahill also explores Barth's view of emotion in conversation with the study of emotions in psychology sociology neuroscience and philosophy Building on Barth and these other disciplines Cahill argues for a relational and cognitive conception of emotions while highlighting emotions' critical role in regulating group and social relations Emotions are fundamental to interpersonal interactions to group relations and for the reinforcement and disruption of social structures This account of moral formation and emotion is illustrated through the example of climate change A community shaped by love for God solidarity with other creatures and a concern for all of creation leads to an awareness of hegemonic forces and fosters emotions shaped by the kingdom of God that enables the struggle for climate justice      The Moral Disciple Kent A. Van Til, 2012-08-08 The ability to judge good from bad right from wrong is a uniquely human characteristic However given the complexity of life it is often difficult to discern which choice to make where our responsibilities lie or what the consequences of an action or of a nonaction will be In The Moral Disciple Kent Van Til surveys the skills and dispositions that we need to address moral issues responsibly This basic introduction to Christian ethics the systematic evaluation of morality highlights the centrality of Christ and the Christian faith in moral formation and it offers an ethical framework to guide Christians as they engage a host of moral dilemmas including those surrounding wealth sexuality and the end of life Using easy to read prose and defining terms carefully Van Til provides an accessible introduction to this crucial and practical subject

Responsive Becoming: Moral Formation in Theological, Evolutionary, and Developmental Perspective Angela Carpenter, 2019-04-18 This volume offers an interdisciplinary study of Reformed sanctification and human development providing the foundation for a constructive account of Christian moral formation that is attentive both to divine grace and to the significance of natural embodied processes Angela Carpenter's argument also addresses the impressions that such theologies give namely either solitude in the face of adversity or sheer passivity Through careful examination of the doctrine of sanctification in three Reformed theologians John Calvin John Owen and Horace Bushnell Carpenter argues that human responsiveness in the context of fellowship with the triune God provides a basic framework for a theological account of moral transformation Her relational approach brings together divine and human agency in a dynamic process where both are indispensable Supplying an account of moral formation located within Christian salvation while also being attentive to embodied human nature and the sciences this book is vital to all those interested in spiritual formation and the human capacity for love

The Origins of Christian Morality Wayne A. Meeks, 1993-01-01 By the time Christianity became a political and cultural force in the Roman Empire it had come to embody a new moral vision This wise and eloquent book describes the formative years from the crucifixion of Jesus to the end of the second century of the common era when Christian beliefs and practices shaped their unique moral order Wayne A Meeks examines the surviving documents from Christianity's beginnings some of which became the New Testament and shows that they are largely concerned with the way converts to the movement should behave Meeks finds that for these Christians the formation of morals means the formation of community the documents are addressed not to individuals but to groups and they have among their primary aims the maintenance and growth of these groups Meeks paints a picture of the process of socialization that produced the early forms of Christian morality discussing many factors that made the Christians feel that they were a single and chosen people He describes for example the impact of conversion the rapid spread of Christian household cult associations in the cities of the Roman Empire the language of Christian moral discourse as revealed in letters testaments and moral stories the rituals meetings and institutionalization of charity the Christians feelings about celibacy sex and gender roles and their sense of the end time and final judgment In each of these areas Meeks seeks to determine what is distinctive about the Christian viewpoint and what is similar to the moral components of Greco Roman or Jewish thought

Christian Formation James R. Estep, Jonathan H. Kim, 2010 Editors and authors James Estep and Jonathan Kim have pulled together something often talked about but seldom seen namely a thoroughgoing attempt to integrate theology and science in this case social science Their organization interpretation and evaluation of mountains of information from both sides has resulted in an expert yet easily understandable guide to Christian spiritual formation and development Both academics and practitioners will find help in this volume one that is certain to be a standard work for years to come      Moral formation and Christianity Franz ; Pohier Bockle (Jacques-Marie, eds),1978

Psychology and Spiritual Formation in Dialogue Thomas M. Crisp, Steven L. Porter, Gregg A. Ten Elshof, 2019-01-22

Can the phenomena of the human mind be separated from the practices of spiritual formation Research into the nature of moral and spiritual change has revived in recent years in both the worlds of psychology and theology Rooted in a year long discussion held by Biola University's Center for Christian Thought CCT this volume bridges the gaps caused by professional specialization among psychology theology and philosophy      Teaching Bodies Mark D. Jordan, 2016-12-01 In Teaching Bodies leading scholar of Christian thought Mark D Jordan offers an original reading of the Summa of Theology of Thomas Aquinas Reading backward Jordan interprets the main parts of the Summa starting from the conclusion to reveal how Thomas teaches morals by directing attention to the way God teaches morals namely through embodied scenes the incarnation the gospels and the sacraments It is Thomas's confidence in bodily scenes of instruction that explains the often overlooked structure of the middle part of the Summa which begins and ends with Christian revisions of classical exhortations of the human body as a pathway to the best human life Among other things Jordan argues this explains Thomas's interest in the stages of law and the limits of virtue as the engine of human life Rather than offer a synthesis of Thomistic ethics Jordan insists that we read Thomas as theology to discover the unification of Christian wisdom in a pattern of ongoing moral formation Jordan supplements his close readings of the Summa with reflections on Thomas's place in the history of Christian moral teaching and thus his relevance for teaching and writing in the present What remains a puzzle is why Thomas chose to stage this incarnational moral teaching within the then new genres of university disputation the genres we think of as Scholastic Yet here again the structure of the Summa provides an answer In Jordan's deft analysis Thomas's minimalist refusal to tell a new story except by juxtaposing selections from inherited philosophical and theological traditions is his way of opening room for God's continuing narration in the development of the human soul The task of writing theology as Thomas understands it is to open a path through the inherited languages of classical thought so that divine pedagogy can have its effect on the reader As such the task of the Summa in Mark Jordan's hands is a crucial and powerful way to articulate Christian morals today      Christian Ethics and the Moral Psychologies Don S. Browning, 2006-05-17 Interest in psychology permeates our culture with psychological solutions advanced for a host of moral dilemmas How should ethically minded Christians include insights from such disciplines as psychoanalysis cognitive moral development and neuroscience in their theological reflection Don Browning offers a serious proposal for combining these disciplines with the best in ethical reflection from a Christian standpoint Along the way he introduces readers to the moral psychology work of Sigmund Freud Carol Gilligan Antonio Damasio and others opening up a dialogue between their work and the hermeneutics of Hans Georg Gadamer and Paul Ricoeur Browning also recognizes the potential limits of the conversation between Christian ethics and the moral psychologies pointing out where they must diverge      Christian Ethics Larry
