

How Coyote Stole Fire

A long time ago, the Fire Beings are the only ones that had fire. They did not share their fire with anyone. This was not a big deal in the summer when it was hot, but people and animals would freeze in the cold winter. One winter some animals asked the smart Coyote to help them get fire from the Fire Beings. Coyote took the animals to the Fire Beings' camp.

Coyote walked into the camp. The animals hid in the trees. "Who is that?" said the Fire Beings. They saw that it was an old coyote. "I'm very cold. Can I get warm by your fire?" Coyote asked. The Fire Beings said yes. Coyote laid by the fire. All of a sudden, there was a big noise from the trees.

Benedict, 2018-12-04 Inquiring into the formation of a literary canon during the Restoration and the eighteenth century Barbara Benedict poses the question Do anthologies reflect or shape contemporary literary taste She finds that there was a cultural dialectic at work miscellanies and anthologies transmitted particular tastes while in turn being influenced by the larger culture they helped to create Benedict reveals how anthologies of the time often created a consensus of literary and aesthetic values by providing a bridge between the tastes of authors editors printers booksellers and readers Making the Modern Reader the first full treatment of the early modern anthology is in part a history of the London printing trade as well as of the professionalization of criticism Benedict thoroughly documents the historical redefinition of the reader once a member of a communal literary culture the reader became private and introspective morally and culturally shaped by choices in reading She argues that eighteenth century collections promised the reader that culture could be acquired through the absorption of literary values This process of cultural education appealed to a middle class seeking to become discriminating consumers of art By addressing this neglected genre Benedict contributes a new perspective on the tension between popular and high culture between the common reader and the elite This book will interest scholars working in cultural studies and those studying noncanonical texts as well as eighteenth century literature in general Originally published in 1996 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

From Yahweh to Yahoo! Doug Underwood, 2002-04-02 Presenting religion as journalism s silent partner From Yahweh to Yahoo provides a fresh and surprising view of the religious impulses at work in the typical newsroom by delving into the largely unexamined parallels between religious and journalistic developments from the media of antiquity to the electronic idolatry of the Internet Kantian Ethics Robert Stern, 2015-10-29 This volume presents a selection of Robert Stern s work on the theme of Kantian ethics It begins by focusing on the relation between Kant s account of obligation and his view of autonomy arguing that this leaves room for Kant to be a realist about value Stern then considers where this places Kant in relation to the question of moral scepticism and in relation to the principle of ought implies can and examines this principle in its own right The papers then move beyond Kant himself to his wider influence and to critics of his work including Hegel the British Idealists and the Danish philosopher and theologian K E L gstrup while also offering a comparison with William James s arguments for freedom The collection concludes with a consideration of a broadly Kantian critique of divine command ethics offered by Stephen Darwall arguing that the critique does not succeed General themes considered in this

Drabinski, 2019-06-11 A reevaluation of Édouard Glissant that centers on the catastrophe of the Middle Passage and creates deep original theories of trauma and Caribbeanness While philosophy has undertaken the work of accounting for Europe's traumatic history the field has not shown the same attention to the catastrophe known as the Middle Passage It is a history that requires its own ideas that emerge organically from the societies that experienced the Middle Passage and its consequences firsthand Glissant and the Middle Passage offers a new important approach to this neglected calamity by examining the thought of Édouard Glissant particularly his development of Caribbeanness as a critical concept rooted in the experience of the slave trade and its aftermath in colonialism In dialogue with key theorists of catastrophe and trauma including Aimé Césaire Frantz Fanon George Lamming Gilles Deleuze Félix Guattari Derek Walcott as well as key figures in Holocaust studies Glissant and the Middle Passage hones a sharp sense of the specifically Caribbean varieties of loss developing them into a transformative philosophical idea Using the Plantation as a critical concept John E Drabinski creolizes notions of rhizome and nomad examining what kinds of aesthetics grow from these roots and offering reconsiderations of what constitutes intellectual work and cultural production Glissant and the Middle Passage establishes Glissant's proper place as a key theorist of ruin catastrophe abyss and memory Identifying his insistence on memories and histories tied to place as the crucial geography at the heart of his work this book imparts an innovative new response to the specific historical experiences of the Middle Passage The Living Age, 1909 Cultivating Differences Michèle Lamont, Marcel Fournier, 1992 How are boundaries created between groups in society And what do these boundaries have to do with social inequality In this pioneering collection of original essays a group of leading scholars helps set the agenda for the sociology of culture by exploring the factors that push us to segregate and integrate and the institutional arrangements that shape classification systems Each examines the power of culture to shape our everyday lives as clearly as does economics and studies the dimensions along which boundaries are frequently drawn The essays cover four topic areas the institutionalization of cultural categories from morality to popular culture the exclusionary effects of high culture from musical tastes to the role of art museums the role of ethnicity and gender in shaping symbolic boundaries and the role of democracy in creating inclusion and exclusion The
