1893 its principal significance rests in its argument that economic theory however technical or pragmatic is necessarily formed by and derives its meaning from larger moral and philosophical systems and assumptions Bonar traces the inexorable presence of this moral and philosophical element in a vast though highly nuanced survey of the economic aspect of major thinkers from Plato to Darwin and demonstrates how modern economic thought in turn grew out of one or another branch of philosophy Bonar begins with a consideration of Plato and Aristotle examining their conceptions of wealth production and distribution and civil society Discussions of the Stoics Epicurians and early Christianity explore complications introduced by these bodies of thought His analysis of the classical and medieval world is followed by an extensive treatment of the concept of natural law from the Renaissance through the Enlightenment describing its influence and its relation to ideas of natural rights The book's later sections concentrate on the dominant modes of nineteenth century thought utilitarianism idealism and materialism Bonar identifies and explores the philosophical topics on which the conduct of technical economic analysis makes assumptions human nature and human wants the nature and role of the state the relation of the individual to society the nature and origin of property and the role of ideals in socioeconomic life He concludes by examining the implications for economics of the theory of evolution arising from the work of Darwin and others The continuing interest of this volume for economists philosophers and sociologists lies in Bonar's contention that at the heart of the relationship of philosophy to economics is the problem of order the ongoing need to reconcile conflicts between freedom and control continuity and change hierarchy and equality In his reading the fundamental question to which philosophy and economics are both brought to bear is that of changing the structure of power and opportunity in the social economy This is in short a classic in the history of economics as well as the economic element in intellectual history

Philosophy and political economy in some of their historical relations : with Appendix, 2000 The books reprinted in this set greatly influenced the way the development of economics was perceived and how the history of economics was viewed Many of the titles represent the first attempts to chart the history of economics both from European and American perspectives Titles cover the USA UK Germany and France and include History of Political Economy from Antiquity to our days 1880 Jerome Adolphe Blanqui View of the Progress of Political Economy in Europe 1847 Travers Twiss A Short History of Political Economy in England 1891 L L Price The History of Economics 1896 1911 Henry Dunning MacLeod History of Economic Thought 1911 1930 Lewis H Haney History of Economic Doctrines 1915 Charles Gide and Charles Rist Types of Economic Theory 1930 Othmar Spann Philosophy and Political Economy in Some of their Historical Relations 1893 James Bonar The Development of English Thought a Study in the Economic Interpretation of History 1899 Simon N Patten A Guide to the Study of Political Economy 1876 Luigi Cossa
