Worrall, 1996 Figurative Thinking and Foreign Language Learning J. Littlemore, Graham D. Low, 2006-04-12 Many vocabulary items that foreign language learners encounter involve figurative extensions of meaning To understand figurative speech learners often need to employ figurative thinking This book examines figurative thinking considers its contribution to language ability and explores the implications for language teaching and learning Lessons for Idioms Laurence Feather, 2018-02-12 Ready made EFL lessons for B1 students Proven to improve students level of English while having fun Success International English Skills for IGCSE Teacher's Book Marian Barry, 2010-02-04 Endorsed by University of Cambridge international examinations Cover Cognitive Linguistic Approaches to Teaching Vocabulary and Phraseology Frank Boers, Seth Lindstromberg, 2008-08-27 Mastering the vocabulary of a foreign language is one of the most daunting tasks that language learners face The immensity of the task is underscored by the realisation that it is not only single words but also numerous standardised phrases idioms collocations etc that need to be acquired There is thus a clear need for instructional methods that help learners tackle this task and yet few proposals for vocabulary instruction have so far gone beyond techniques for rote learning and familiar means of promoting of noticing The reason for this is that vocabulary and phraseology have long been assumed arbitrary The volume offers a long overdue alternative by exploring and exploiting the presence of linguistic motivation or systematic non arbitrariness in the lexicon The first half of the volume reports ample empirical evidence of the pedagogical effectiveness of presenting vocabulary to learners as non arbitrary The data reported indicate that the proposed instructional methods can benefit when both the nature of the target lexis and the basic cognitive orientations of particular learners are taken into account The first half of the book mostly targets lexis that has already attracted a fair amount of attention from Cognitive Linguists in the past e g phrasal verbs and figurative idioms The second half broadens the scope considerably by revealing the non arbitrariness of diverse other lexical patterns including collocations and word partnerships generally This is achieved by recognising some long neglected dimensions of linguistic motivation etymological and phonological motivation in particular Concrete suggestions are made for putting the non arbitrary nature of words and phrases to good use in instructed language learning The volume is therefore of interest not only to applied linguists and researchers in Second Language Acquisition Foreign Language Teaching but also to second and foreign language teaching professionals Intelligent Tutoring Systems for Foreign Language Learning Merryanna L. Swartz, Masoud Yazdani, 2012-12-06 Multilingual communication within the world community is important for economic political and cultural interactions In a global environment where other languages are increasing in importance in addition to recognized international standards i e English and French language learning is becoming more important for improved international relations At the same time recent advances in instructional technology make the promise of building intelligent tutoring systems in advanced technology laboratories to teach these language skills a reality in the near future These tutoring systems therefore may help us foster improved methods for acquiring languages As active language learners and instructional technology researchers we felt an international meeting with similar individuals was needed to discuss how such advanced tutoring systems are to be designed and implemented We held such a meeting the results of which are presented in this volume The purpose of this Advanced Workshop sponsored by the NATO Scientific Affairs Division was to bring together a multidisciplinary group of researchers who were active in the development of intelligent tutoring systems for foreign language learning Participants came from computer science computational linguistics psychology and foreign language learning Washington D C was selected for the Workshop site since it is Merryanna s home city the capitol of the United States and an international multilingual community in its own right Masoud agreed to the location with a promise to be shown the White House and graciously volunteered to coordinate activities from the European side
