Encyclopedia of North American Immigration John Powell, 2009 Presents an illustrated A Z reference containing more than 300 entries related to immigration to North America including people places legislation and more The Making of the Mosaic Ninette Kelley, M. Trebilcock, 2010-10-02 Immigration policy is a subject of intense political and public debate In this second edition of the widely recognized and authoritative work The Making of the Mosaic Ninette Kelley and Michael Trebilcock have thoroughly revised and updated their examination of the ideas interests institutions and rhetoric that have shaped Canada's immigration history Beginning their study in the pre Confederation period the authors interpret major episodes in the evolution of Canadian immigration policy including the massive deportations of the First World War and Depression eras as well as the Japanese Canadian internment camps during World War Two New chapters provide perspective on immigration in a post 9 11 world where security concerns and a demand for temporary foreign workers play a defining role in immigration policy reform A comprehensive and important work The Making of the Mosaic clarifies the attitudes underlying each phase and juncture of immigration history providing vital perspective on the central issues of immigration policy that continue to confront us today Re-Imagining Ukrainian-Canadians Rhonda L. Hinder, Jim Mochoruk, 2011-02-26 Ukrainian immigrants to Canada have often been portrayed in history as sturdy pioneer farmers cultivating the virgin land of the Canadian west The essays in this collection challenge this stereotype by examining the varied experiences of Ukrainian Canadians in their day to day roles as writers intellectuals national organizers working class wage earners and inhabitants of cities and towns Throughout the contributors remain dedicated to promoting the study of ethnic hyphenated histories as major currents in mainstream Canadian history Topics explored include Ukrainian Canadian radicalism the consequences of the Cold War for Ukrainians both at home and abroad the creation and maintenance of ethnic memories and community discord embodied by pro Nazis Communists and criminals Re Imagining Ukrainian Canadians uses new sources and non traditional methods of analysis to answer unstudied and often controversial questions within the field Collectively the essays challenge the older essentialist definition of what it means to be Ukrainian Canadian

Transnational Identities and Practices in Canada Vic Satzewich, Lloyd Wong, 2011-11-01 With contributions from some of Canada's leading historians political scientists geographers anthropologists and sociologists this collection examines the transnational practices and identities of immigrant and ethnic communities in Canada It looks at why members of these groups maintain ties with their homelands whether real or imagined and how those connections shape individual identities and community organizations How does transnationalism establish or transform geographical social and ideological borders Do homeland ties affect what it means to be Canadian Do they reflect Canada's commitment to multiculturalism Through analysis of the complex forces driving transnationalism this comprehensive study focuses attention on an important and arguably growing dimension of Canadian social life This is the first collection in Canada to provide a comprehensive and interdisciplinary examination of transnationalism It will appeal to scholars and students interested in issues of immigration multiculturalism ethnicity and settlement

Perogies and Politics Rhonda L. Hinthner, 2018-01-01 In Perogies and Politics Rhonda Hinthner explores the twentieth century history of the Ukrainian left in Canada from the standpoint of the women men and children who formed and fostered it For twentieth century leftist Ukrainians culture and politics were inextricably linked The interaction of Ukrainian socio cultural identity with Marxist Leninism resulted in one of the most dynamic national working class movements Canada has ever known The Ukrainian left's success lay in its ability to meet the needs of and speak in meaningful respectful and empowering ways to its supporters experiences and interests as individuals and as members of a distinct immigrant working class community This offered to Ukrainians a radical social cultural and political alternative to the fledgling Ukrainian churches and right wing Ukrainian nationalist movements Hinthner's colourful and in depth work reveals how left wing Ukrainians were affected by changing social economic and political forces and how they in turn responded to and challenged these forces

Harvesting Labour Edward Dunsworth, 2022-09-15 In recent decades an increasing share of Canada's agricultural workforce has been made up of temporary foreign workers from the Global South These labourers work difficult and dangerous jobs with limited legal protections and are effectively barred from permanent settlement in Canada In Harvesting Labour Edward Dunsworth examines the history of farm work in one of Canada's underrecognized but most important crop sectors Ontario tobacco Dunsworth takes aim at the idea that temporary foreign worker programs emerged in response to labour shortages or the unwillingness of Canadians to work in agriculture To the contrary Ontario's tobacco sector was extremely popular with workers for much of the twentieth century with high wages attracting a diverse workforce and enabling thousands to establish themselves as small farm owners By the end of the century however the sector had become something entirely different a handful of mega farms relying on foreign guest workers to produce their crops Taking readers from the leafy fields of Ontario's tobacco belt to rural Jamaica Barbados and North Carolina and on to the halls of government Dunsworth demonstrates how the ultimate transformation of tobacco and Canadian agriculture writ large was fundamentally a function of the capitalist restructuring of farming Harvesting Labour brings together the fields of labour migration and business history to reinterpret the historical origins of contemporary

BOOK JACKET The Many Rooms of this House Roberto Perin, 2017-05-08 Places of worship are the true building blocks of communities where people of various genders age and class interact with each other on a regular basis These places are also rallying points for immigrants helping them make the transition to a new and often hostile environment The Many Rooms of this House is a story about the rise and decline of religion in Toronto over the past 160 years Unlike other studies that concentrate on specific denominations or ecclesiastical politics Roberto Perin's ecumenical approach focuses on the physical places of worship and the local clergy and congregants that gather there Perin's timely and nuanced analysis reveals how the growing wealth of the city stimulated congregations to compete with one another over the size style materials and decoration of their places of worship However the rise of individualism has negatively affected these same congregations leading to multiple church closings communal breakdown and redevelopments Perin's fascinating work is a lens to understanding how this once overwhelmingly Protestant city became a symbol of diversity
