Paul Auster And Postmodern Quest On The Road To Nowhere Modern American Literature:

Paul Auster and Postmodern Quest Ilana Shiloh, 2002 Paul Auster published his first prose work the autobiographical The Invention of Solitude in 1982 since then his fiction has gained ever growing popular and critical acclaim This book is a stimulating pioneering study of eight works that make up the Auster canon The Invention of Solitude the three novellas that comprise The New York Trilogy and the novels In the Country of Last Things Moon Palace The Music of Chance and Leviathan Focusing on the quest which she sees as the master narrative of all of Auster's novels Shiloh examines Auster's writing in a multi layered context of literary and philosophical paradigms relevant to his practice such as the American tradition of the open road the generic conventions of detective fiction postmodernist concepts of the subject Sartre's and Camus's existentialist theories and Freud's and Lacan's psychoanalytic models all of which offer enriching and insightful perspectives on Auster's poetics

Paul Auster's Ghosts María Laura Arce Álvarez, 2018-06-13 The following book explores the intertextual relationship between Paul Auster's first and most remarkable work The New York Trilogy 1987 and the works of certain American and European writers who shaped this novel and Auster's future works Auster's The New York Trilogy is a novel formed by an intertextual dialogue which in some cases it is explicit mentioning authors and books intentionally and in others implicit provoked by Auster's admiration for authors such as Samuel Beckett or product of his role as a translator as it occurs with Maurice Blanchot These two different ways of intertextuality essentially show Auster's influence of the American Renaissance Samuel Beckett's fiction and the work of the writer and critic Maurice Blanchot In these terms this book proposes an exhaustive analysis of City of Glass and Herman Melville's Bartleby the Scrivener Ghosts and Edgar Allan Poe's William Wilson and The Locked Room and Nathaniel Hawthorne's Fanshawe The two last chapters also offer a thorough analysis of the whole trilogy in comparison to Samuel Beckett's trilogy Molloy Malone Dies and The Unnamable and finally introduces a study of the trilogy as a fictionalization of Maurice Blanchot's literary theory

Encyclopedia of American Literature Manly, Inc., 2013-06 Susan Clair Imbarrato Carol Berkin Brett Barney Lisa Paddock Matthew J Brucoli George Parker Anderson Judith S Critical Reflections James A. Parr, 2006 This volume seeks to explore developments in the study of sixteenth and seventeenth century Spanish literature over the past decade through the prism of a homage volume that recognizes the contributions of James A Parr In his ground breaking 1974 essay in Hispania he challenged Hispanists to take note of developments in the fields of English and Comparative Studies not to jump on the bandwagon but to explore the emerging approaches to textual study in order to identify and adapt those aspects that could help to illuminate the field In his own work Parr followed that advice with studies that incorporated new approaches to genre theory narratology and canonicity in order to explore dramatic and prose texts and Don Quixote The studies in this anthology make use of many of Parr's innovations indicating that his work has had a long lasting impact on the field of Golden Age Hispanism

the Contemporary American Novel explores the unstable construction of heteronormative white masculinity in the contemporary United States by focusing on relationships between fathers and their children Debra Shostak reads the novels of 18 North American writers publishing in the late 20th and early 21st centuries as allegories of cultural conflict and change within the nuclear family the authors considered include Paul Auster Don DeLillo Jeffrey Eugenides Jonathan Safran Foer Jonathan Franzen John Irving Jonathan Lethem Carole Maso Bobbie Ann Mason Cormac McCarthy Claire Messud Viet Thanh Nguyen Tim O'Brien Marilynne Robinson Philip Roth Mona Simpson Jane Smiley and Anne Tyler These novelists portray father figures who often literally or figuratively absent from the family scene disrupt the familial order and their family members identities Shostak's close readings illuminate unexpectedly conservative even subversive ideological positions at the heart of these fictions Fictive Fathers traces the eroding myth of paternal authority that sustained a patriarchal model within real American families and their literary representations Paul Auster's Writing Machine Evija

Trofimova, 2014-08-28 Paul Auster is one of the most acclaimed figures in American literature Known primarily as a novelist Auster's films and various collaborations are now gaining more recognition Evija Trofimova offers a radically different approach to the author's wider body of work unpacking the fascinating web of relationships between his texts and presenting Auster's canon as a rhizomatic factio-fictional network produced by a set of writing tools Exploring Auster's literal and figurative use of these tools the typewriter the cigarette the doppelgänger figure the city Evija Trofimova discovers Auster's writing machine a device that works both as a means to write and as a construct that manifests the emblematic writer figure This is a book about assembling texts and textual networks the writing machines that produce them and the ways such machines invest them with meaning Embarking on a scholarly quest that takes her from between the lines of Auster's work to between the streets of his beloved New York and finally to the man himself Paul Auster's Writing Machine becomes not just a critical investigation but a critical collaboration raising important questions about the ultimate meaning of Auster's work and about the relationship between texts their authors their readers and their critics Contemporary Second- and

Literary Rooms Katharina Christ-Pielensticker, 2021-03-26 The four prose texts discussed in Literary Rooms position themselves in a literary tradition which highlights the manifold purposes the private room may serve it is a mirror of the inhabitant a context in which to position the self a place of and motor for identity quests a rich metaphor and a second skin around the inhabitant's physical body Even in times of increasing globalization and urbanization the room continues to root the inhabitant it serves as a retreat from the world and as a place in which to re negotiate questions of belonging gender class and ethnicity At the same time the room is inevitably porous and constantly oscillates between inclusion and exclusion The literary texts examined in this book are each highly fragmented and gesture towards a fragmentation of the contemporary world out of which they have grown as well as towards an abundance of fragmented self images Linking the approaches of narratology globalization and spatial criticism Literary Rooms argues that in order to account for the spatial properties of the room discourses developed during the spatial turn need to be extended and reevaluated

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2002 Walking in Deserts, Writing Out of Wounds Kathrin Krämer, 2008 This analysis of selected texts by the Jewish American author Paul Auster demonstrates the importance of Jewish teaching and history in his work for the development of a deconstructive style of writing Marina Tsvetaeva's and Edmond Jabes dictum all poets are Jews serves as the focus on the aesthetic experience of alienation from language which corresponds to the alienation from Jewish tradition in Auster's poetry and prose In Auster's critical reception of Jacques Derrida this alienation appears as a wound initiating the writing process Since language is characterized by inconsistency and changeability the lyrical persona keeps walking on stony paths through desert like areas while its destination to render some sort of truth remains out of sight Focusing on Auster's poetry and his novels The Invention of Solitude City of Glass In the Country of Last Things and The Book of Illusions this investigation attempts to explain why the connection of Auster's aesthetic intentions with Jewish thought led him to abandon poetry altogether for the medium of prose The interpretation of the religious dimension of these novels offers new readings which move away from the fixation on postmodern playfulness and arbitrariness
