In Our Race Mitchell believes that the entire future of blacks in the field of architecture is in jeopardy. He then discusses the impact of the Harlem Renaissance on black architecture and the subsequent emergence of Howard University as the center of the black architectural universe. The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education seminal Architecture Magazine. In this long overdue book aimed at Black America and her allies, Melvin Mitchell poses the question: why haven't black architects developed a Black Architecture that complements modernist black culture that is rooted in world class blues, jazz, hip hop music and other black aesthetic forms? His provocative thesis, inspired by Harold Cruse's landmark book The Crisis of the Negro Intellectual, exposes the roots of an eighty-year-old estrangement between black architects and Black America. Along the way, he provides interesting details about the politics of downtown development in the Marion Barry era of Washington DC. Mitchell calls for a bold and inclusive New Black Urbanism. He sees the radical reform and re-missioning of the handful of accredited HBCU-based architecture schools as a critical tool in refashioning a rapprochement between black architects and Black America.

Reconstructing Architecture Thomas A. Dutton, Lian Hurst Mann, 1996. Reconstructing Architecture was first published in 1996. Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions. To create architecture is an inherently political act, yet its nature as a social practice is often obscured beneath layers of wealth and privilege. The contributors to this volume question architecture's complicity with the status quo, moving beyond critique to outline the part architects are playing in building radical social movements and challenging dominant forms of power. The making of architecture is instrumental in the construction of our identities, our differences, the world around us, much of what we know of institutions, the distribution of power social relations and cultural values is mediated by the built environment Historically architecture has constructed the environments that house the dominant culture Yet as the essays in Reconstructing Architecture demonstrate there exists a strong tradition of critical practice in the field one that attempts to alter existing social power relations Engaging the gap between modernism and postmodernism each chapter addresses an oppositional discourse that has developed within the field and then reconstructs it in terms of a new social project feminism social theory environmentalism cultural studies race and ethnic studies and critical theory The activists and scholars writing here provide a clarion call to architects and other producers of culture challenging them to renegotiate their political allegiances and to help reconstruct a viable democratic life in the face of inexorable forces driving economic growth destroying global ecology homogenizing culture and privatizing the public realm Reconstructing Architecture reformulates the role of architecture in society as well as its capacity to further a progressive social transformation Contributors Sherry Ahrentzen U of Wisconsin Milwaukee Bradford C Grant California Polytechnic State U San Luis Obispo Richard Ingersoll Rice U Margaret Soltan George Washington U Anthony Ward U of Auckland New Zealand Thomas A Dutton is an architect and professor of architecture at Miami University Ohio He is editor of Voices in Architectural Education 1991 and is associate editor of the Journal of Architectural Education Lian Hurst Mann is an architect and editor of Architecture California A founding member of the Labor Community Strategy Center in Los Angeles she is editor of its bilingual quarterly Ahora Now and a coauthor of Reconstructing Los Angeles from the Bottom Up 1993 An Architectural Guidebook to Los Angeles Robert Winter, 2009-09 Known as the bible to Los Angeles architecture scholars and enthusiasts Robert Winter and David Gebhard's groundbreaking guide to architecture in the greater Los Angeles area is updated and revised once again From Art Deco to Beaux Arts Spanish Colonial to Mission Revival Winter discusses an impressive variety of architectural styles in this popular guide that he co authored with the late David Gebhard New buildings and sites have been added along with all new photography Considered the most thorough L A architecture guide ever written this new edition features the best of the past and present from Charles and Henry Greene's Gamble House to Frank Gehry's Disney Philharmonic Hall This was and is again a must have guide to a diverse and architecturally rich area Robert Winter is a recognized architectural historian who lives in Los Angeles and has led architectural tours through the Los Angeles area since 1965 He is a professor at Occidental College in Los Angeles L.A. City Limits Josh Sides, 2004-01-27 In 1964 an Urban League survey ranked Los Angeles as the most desirable city for African Americans to live in In 1965 the city burst into flames during one of the worst race riots in the nation's history How the city came to such a pass embodying both the best and worst of what urban America offered black migrants from the South is the story told for the first time in this history of modern black Los Angeles A clear eyed and compelling look at black struggles for equality in L A's neighborhoods schools and workplaces from the Great Depression to our day L A City Limits critically refocuses the ongoing debate about the origins of America's racial and urban crisis Challenging previous analysts' near exclusive focus on northern rust belt cities devastated by de industrialization Josh Sides asserts that the cities to which black southerners migrated profoundly affected how they fared He shows how L A s diverse racial composition dispersive geography and dynamic postwar economy often created opportunities and limits quite different from those encountered by blacks in the urban North

Designing for Diversity Kathryn H. Anthony, 2021-08-18 A powerful statement about the repercussions of discrimination and the benefits of diversity in architecture Providing hard data for trends that many perceive only vaguely and some deny altogether Designing for Diversity reveals a profession rife with gender and racial discrimination and examines the aspects of architectural practice that hinder or support the full participation of women and persons of color Drawing on interviews and surveys of hundreds of architects Kathryn H Anthony outlines some of the forms of discrimination that recur most frequently in architecture being offered added responsibility without a commensurate rise in position salary or credit not being allowed to engage in client contact field experience or construction supervision and being confined to certain kinds of positions typically interior design for women government work for African Americans and computer aided design for Asian American architects Anthony discusses the profession s attitude toward flexible schedules part time contracts and the demands of family and identifies strategies that have helped underrepresented individuals advance in the profession especially establishing a strong relationship with a mentor She also observes a strong tendency for underrepresented architects to leave mainstream practice either establishing their own firms going into government or corporate work or abandoning the field altogether Given the traditional mismatch between diverse consumers and predominantly white male producers of the built environment plus the shifting population balance toward communities of color Anthony contends that the architectural profession staves off true diversity at its own peril Designing for Diversity argues convincingly that improving the climate for nontraditional architects will do much to strengthen architecture as a profession Practicing architects managers of firms and educators will learn how to create conditions more welcoming to a diversity of users as well as designers of the built environment
