Church of Lies Flora Jessop, Paul T. Brown, 2009-01-20

From the Preface: My name is Flora Jessop. I've been called apostate, vigilante, and crazy bitch, and maybe I am. But some people call me a hero, and I'd like to think they're right too. If I am a hero, maybe it's because every time I can play a part in saving a child or a woman from a life of servitude and degradation, I'm saving a little piece of me too. I was one of twenty-eight children born to my dad and his three wives. Indoctrinated to believe that the outside world was evil and that I resided among the righteous, I was destined to marry a man chosen for me by the Prophet. I would then live in harmony with my sister-wives, bear many children, and obey and serve my future husband in this life and throughout eternity. But my innocence didn't last long. While still a child, I understood that the church of the righteous was nothing but a church of lies. When I was eight years old, my father sexually molested me for the first time, raping me when I was twelve. I tried to kill myself. Beaten, molested, taunted, and abused by family members alleging they only wanted to save my soul, became a daily routine. I ran from this abuse more than once in my early teens, even attempting to cross the desert on foot. My family hunted me down. I thought government agencies would provide me safety if I reported my father. Instead, police and social services colluded with the FLDS to return me to my family, and I ended up back inside polygamy, right where I started. Flora goes on from there to tell the dramatic true story of how she ultimately escaped and has been fighting against frustrating obstacles with hard-fought successes in rescuing women and children from the FLDS. It's a story you can't put down.

Crude Sonia Shah, 2011-01-04 Crude is the unexpurgated story of oil from the circumstances of its birth, millions of years ago, to the spectacle of its rise as the indispensable ingredient of modern life. In addition to fueling our SUVs and illuminating our cities, crude oil and its byproducts fertilize our produce, pave our roads, and make plastic possible. Newborn babies, observes author Sonia Shah, slide from their mothers into petroplastic gloved hands, are swaddled in petro-polyester blankets, and are hurried off to be warmed by oil-burning heaters. The modern world is drenched in oil. Crude tells how it came to be. A great human drama emerges of discovery and innovation, risk, the promise of riches, and the power of greed. Shah infuses recent twists in the story with equal drama through chronicles of colorful modern-day characters from the

God in a Single Vision David Brown, 2016-05-26 In the ancient conversation between Western philosophy and Christian theology powerful contemporary voices are arguing for monologue rather than dialogue Instead of these two disciplines learning from and mutually informing each other both philosophers and theologians are increasingly disconnected from and thus unable to hear what the other is saying especially in Anglo American scholarship Some Christian philosophers are now found claiming methodological authority over doctrine while some Christian theologians even deny that philosophy has its own integrity as a separate discipline Against these trends David Brown has argued over the past thirty years that philosophy and theology are both necessary in order to grapple with the reality of divine mystery and Christian faith Neither discipline can be reduced to the other and each has its own contribution to make for a full understanding of what Brown describes as a single vision of God In this volume Brown addresses some key topics in philosophical theology including the created order experience and revelation incarnation and redemption and heaven and our communal destiny Combining analytic clarity doctrinal substance and historical depth this volume exemplifies Brown s project of truly integrating philosophy and theology It thus provides an ideal introduction to this vital conversation for undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as a connected argument of interest to specialists in both disciplines     The Apocalyptic Vision in America Lois Parkinson Zamora,1982     Vision ,1890     Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
