Gillespie Paul Celan arguably the mid-20th century's most important German language poet is commonly pigeonholed as a poet of the Holocaust a term however he never used Undoing facile assumptions about Celan CORONA charts a more idiosyncratic and personal path through Celan's large oeuvre choosing 103 poems from among the more than 900 Celan published The bilingual selection includes work from all of Celan's periods and genres Without ignoring the poet's well-known work of memory and memorialization it seeks to open a space for new appreciation of Celan's love poems as well as his poems on political events painful reflections on his stays in mental hospitals and quasi-burlesque verse Susan H. Gillespie's translations are characterized by their ease of diction and their attention to the somatic and rhetorical aspects of

Celan's lines their sound gait tone and gravity as well as to their internal and external echoes The latter elucidated in notes to the poems include references to other poets and to Celan's wide readings of everything from specialized dictionaries to other writers what Roman Jakobson called their poetic etymology Here poetry is not what gets lost in translation writes Gillespie in the Introduction it is itself an act of translation of experience and thought into new language

Gendered Testimonies of the Holocaust, Petra M. Schweitzer, 2016-04-08 Gendered Testimonies of the Holocaust Writing Life begins with the premise that writing proves virtually synonymous with survival bearing the traces of life and of death carried within those who survived the atrocities of the Nazis In reading specific testimonies by survivor writers Paul Celan Charlotte Delbo Olga Lengyel Gisella Perl and Dan Pagis this text seeks to answer the question How was it possible for these survivors to write about human destruction if death is such an intimate part of the survivors survival This book shows how the works of these survivors arise creatively from a vigorous spark the desire to preserve memory Testimony for each of these writers is a form of relation to oneself but also to others It situates each survivor's anguish in writing as a need to write so as to affirm life Writing as such always bears witness to the life of the one who should be dead by now and thus to the miracle of having survived This book's claim is that the act of writing testimony manifests itself as the most intensive form of life possible More specifically its exploration of writing's affirmation of life and assertion of identity focuses on the gendered dimension of expression and language This book does not engage in the binary structure of gender and the hierarchically constructed roles in terms of privileging the male over the female The criteria that guide its discussion on Gendered Testimonies emerge out of Levinas's concept of maternity

Radical Poetics and Secular Jewish Culture Stephen Paul Miller, Daniel Morris, 2010 This collection of essays is the first to address this often obscured dimension of modern and contemporary poetry the secular Jewish dimension Editors Daniel Morris and Stephen Paul Miller asked their contributors to address what constitutes radical poetry written by Jews defined as secular and whether or not there is a Jewish component or dimension to radical and modernist poetic practice in general These poets and critics address these questions by exploring the legacy of those poets who preceded and influenced them Stein Zukofsky Reznikoff Oppen and Ginsberg among others

The Multilingual Instructor Claire Kramsch, Lihua Zhang, 2018-01-04 Claire Kramsch and Lihua Zhang use an ecological approach and a complexity thought model to examine the identities experiences and practices of foreign language teachers as native or non native speakers multilingual instructors and professional educators What is their sense of legitimacy How do they bridge the historical and cultural gaps between them and their students What stories do they share in the classroom Which do they not share How do they view their ethical responsibility Drawing on primary research with teachers at the college level in the US the book explores some of the key issues related to teaching languages in an era of increasing global mobility institutional control and educational uncertainty In this landmark publication Kramsch and Zhang show us the challenges facing the multilingual instructor and the importance of understanding their experiences in order to improve the quality of teaching and learning as transformative practices The ecological framework provides a very useful model for future studies while the attention to the ethical role of the multilingual instructor is a timely reminder to us all Li Wei Chair of Applied Linguistics UCL Institute of Education University College London Claire Kramsch is Emerita Professor of German and Professor of the Graduate School of Education at University of California Berkeley Lihua Zhang is Lecturer of Chinese and Chinese Language Program Coordinator at University of California Berkeley Oxford Applied Linguistics Series Advisers Anne Burns and Diane Larsen Freeman Reading for Form Susan J. Wolfson, Marshall Brown, 2015-12-14 Reflecting varieties of theory and practice in both verse and prose from the Middle Ages to the twenty first century these essays by many of America s leading literary scholars call for a reinvigorated formalism that can enrich literary studies open productive routes of commerce with cultural studies and propel cultural theory out of its thematic ruts This book reprints Modern Language Quarterly s highly acclaimed special issue Reading for Form along with new essays by Marjorie Perloff D Vance Smith and Susan Stewart and a revised introduction by Susan Wolfson With historical case studies and insightful explorations Reading for Form offers invaluable material for literary critics in all specializations Utopia of Understanding Donatella Ester Di Cesare, 2012-06-28 Speaking and understanding can both be thought of as forms of translation and in this way every speaker is an exile in language even in one s mother tongue Drawing from the philosophical hermeneutics of Martin Heidegger and Hans Georg Gadamer the testimonies of the German Jews and their relation with the German language Jacques Derrida s confrontation with Hannah Arendt and the poetry of Paul Celan Donatella Ester Di Cesare proclaims Auschwitz the Babel of the twentieth century She argues that the globalized world is one in which there no longer remains any intimate place or stable dwelling Understanding becomes a kind of shibboleth that grounds nothing but opens messianically to a utopia yet to come 1960 Al Filreis, 2021-10-26 In 1960 when World War II might seem to have been receding into history a number of artists and writers instead turned back to it They chose to confront the unprecedented horror and mass killing of the war searching for new creative and political possibilities after the conservatism of the 1950s in the long shadow of genocide Al Filreis recasts 1960 as a turning point to offer a groundbreaking account of postwar culture He examines an eclectic group of artistic literary and intellectual figures who strove to create a new language to reckon with the trauma of World War II and to imagine a new world Filreis reflects on the belatedness of this response to the war and the Holocaust and shows how key works linked the legacies of fascism and antisemitism with American racism In grappling with the memory of the war he demonstrates artists reclaimed the radical elements of modernism and brought forth original ideas about testimony to traumatic history 1960 interweaves the lives and works of figures across high and popular culture including Chinua Achebe Hannah Arendt James Baldwin Amiri Baraka Paul Celan John Coltrane Frantz Fanon Roberto Rossellini Muriel Rukeyser Rod Serling and Louis Zukofsky and considers art forms spanning poetry fiction memoir film painting sculpture teleplays musical theater and jazz A deeply interdisciplinary cultural literary and intellectual history this book also offers fresh perspective on the beginning of the 1960s Lyric Orientations Hannah Vandegrift Eldridge,2016-11-08 In Lyric Orientations Hannah Vandegrift Eldridge explores the power of lyric poetry to stir the social and emotional lives of human beings in the face of the ineffable nature of our mortality She focuses on two German speaking masters of lyric prose and poetry Friedrich Hölderlin 1770 1843 and Rainer Maria Rilke 1875 1926 While Hölderlin and Rilke are stylistically very different each believes in the power of poetic language to orient us as social beings in contexts that otherwise can be alienating They likewise share the conviction that such alienation cannot be overcome once and for all in any universal event Both argue that to deny the uncertainty created by the absence of any such event or to deny the alienation itself is likewise to deny the particularly human condition of uncertainty and mortality By drawing on the work of Stanley Cavell who explores how language in all its formal aspects actually enables us to engage meaningfully with the world Eldridge challenges poststructuralist scholarship which stresses the limitations even the failure of language in the face of reality Eldridge provides detailed readings of Hölderlin and Rilke and positions them in a broader narrative of modernity that helps make sense of their difficult and occasionally contradictory self characterizations Her account of the orienting and engaging capabilities of language reconciles the extraordinarily ambitious claims that Hölderlin and Rilke make for poetry that it can create political communities that it can change how humans relate to death and that it can unite the sensual and intellectual components of human subjectivity and the often difficult fragmented or hermetic nature of their individual poems
