historical approach to Marxist theory emphasizes its global relevance while avoiding dogmatic and Eurocentric limitations. These incisive essays range from the origins of socialism in the early twentieth century through the victory of the Communists in mid century to the virtual abandonment by century's end of any pretense to a socialist revolutionary project by the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party. All that remains of the revolution in historical hindsight are memories of its failures and misdeeds but Dirlik retains a critical perspective not just toward the past but also toward the ideological hegemonies of the present. Taken together his writings reaffirm the centrality of the revolution to modern Chinese history. They also illuminate the fundamental importance of Marxism to grasping the flaws of capitalist modernity despite the fact that in the end the socialist response was unable to transcend the social and ideological horizons of capitalism. China bp. James Whitford Bashford, James Whitford Bashford, 1916 China an Interpretation James W. Bashford, 1916 Staging Chinese Revolution Xiaomei Chen, 2016-11-08 Staging Chinese Revolution surveys fifty years of theatrical propaganda performances in China revealing a dynamic commercial capacity in works often dismissed as artifacts of censorship. Spanning the 1960s through the 2010s Xiaomei Chen reads films, plays, operas and television shows from an interdisciplinary and comparative perspective demonstrating how in a socialist state with capitalist characteristics propaganda performance turns biographies, memoirs and war stories into mainstream ideological commodities legitimizing the state and its right to rule. Analyzing propaganda performance also brings contradictions and inconsistencies to light that throw common understandings about propaganda's purpose into question. Chen focuses on revisionist histories that stage the lives of the founding fathers of the Communist Party such as Chen Duxiu, Mao Zedong and Deng Xiaoping and the engaging mix of elite and ordinary characters that animate official propaganda in the private and public sphere. Taking the form of personal memories and representing star and youth culture and cyberspace contemporary Chinese propaganda appeals through multiple perspectives complicating relations among self, subject, agent, state, building and national identity. Chen treats Chinese performance as an extended form of political theater confronting critical issues of commemoration, nostalgia, state rituals and contested history. It is through these reenactments that three generations of revolutionary leaders loom in extraordinary ways over Chinese politics and culture. Bulletin ... Grand Rapids Public Library (Grand Rapids, Mich.), 1925 Library Record Free Public Library of Jersey City, 1915 Bulletin [Accessions to the Library] Mercantile Library Association (New York, N.Y.), 1914 Library Record, 1916
