Levine,Nathan H. Levine,2023-03-24 Edward Conze s The Psychology of Mass Propaganda presents a commentary on the psychology of propaganda during the rise of fascism in Europe in the 1930s It discusses the conditions which generate vulnerability to misinformation in human societies and thus offers insight into how propaganda may be withstood Completed in 1939 during the period of Conze s own inflection from Marxist philosophy to Buddhist studies the original manuscript was never published and is now in print for the first time Presenting a unique historical perspective while also appealing to an acutely topical interest in the conditions under which autocracy and fascism arise the book examines the psychology of mass propaganda through copious contemporary and historical examples Conze focuses especially on recent news articles and the statements of the propagandists of many of the governments that would go on to participate in the

Second World War including Germany Italy the USSR USA and UK all of which he interprets through the lens of recent psychological and historical research The book has been edited and includes a new introduction by Richard N Levine and Nathan H Levine also featuring a foreword by American legal scholar Laurence H Tribe and an afterword by actor director writer and Buddhist priest Peter Coyote This is a fascinating opportunity for scholars across several disciplines including political scientists and psychologists historians and sociologists to access one of Conze s previously unpublished works It will also be of importance to those interested in Conze s work on Buddhist philosophy and in the psychology of propaganda more broadly
