Rumble Frightens Himself:

Rumble Frightens Himself Keith Faulkner, 1994 Aesthetics of Ugliness Karl Rosenkranz, 2015-07-30 In this key text in the history of art and aesthetics Karl Rosenkranz shows ugliness to be the negation of beauty without being reducible to evil materiality or other negative terms used in its conventional condemnation This insistence on the specificity of ugliness and on its dynamic status as a process afflicting aesthetic canons reflects Rosenkranz's interest in the metropolis like Walter Benjamin he wrote on Paris and Berlin and his voracious collecting of caricature and popular prints Rosenkranz living and teaching like Kant in remote Königsberg reflects on phenomena of modern urban life from a distance that results in critical illumination The struggle with modernization and idealist aesthetics makes Aesthetics of Ugliness published four years before Baudelaire's Fleurs du Mal hugely relevant to modernist experiment as well as to the twenty first century theoretical revival of beauty Translated into English for the first time Aesthetics of Ugliness is an indispensable work for scholars and students of modern aesthetics and modernist art literary studies and cultural theory which fundamentally reworks conceptual understandings of what it means for a thing to be ugly

The Frightened Man Kenneth Cameron, 2009-04-28 London in 1900 is a sprawling chaotic web of change and expansion perfect for a man like Denton an American with a violent past seeking anonymity as an outsider But his notoriety as the author of several dark novels and the well known story that decades before he had gunned down four men in the American West sometimes brings unwanted visitors to his door When a terrified man shows up one evening and says that he is being pursued by the long gone Jack the Ripper Denton dismisses him as one more victim of London's lunacy But then the mutilated body of a teenaged prostitute named Stella Minter is found in London's East End Disappointed by the lack of police concern Denton determines to pursue the murderer even after it's clear that he's become the next target As Denton begins to peel away the layers of the lurid and horrifying murder he finds himself exploring the dark underbelly of the bursting metropolis a place so vast that Denton is forced to follow nothing but his instincts through the maze of London its pubs its police offices its dark alleys and disreputable neighborhoods to find a murderer who is himself an agent of the city's cancerous growth And along the way Denton is lucky enough to find an ally in a woman with a past as haunted and a spirit as independent as his own Kenneth Cameron has brought turn of the century London vividly to life in this intelligent and compelling crime novel The Frightened Man delves far deeper than the mere circumstances of a murder to investigate the unseen the secrets harbored in London's immeasurable streets and in the dark side of human nature

Dares Go Last Don Michael Shannon, 2000-06-13 Every region every city every neighborhood has its haunted house But no area has an edifice like the Grussen Place The Grussen Place was built almost a century ago in a swampy region across the Mississippi River miles from the nearest village of Westwego It was built on a land that was inhabited by an indigenous people that dwelt there ages before the Native Americans settled the region a region they soon enough vacated leaving it to its cryptic secrets Dark rituals were held on that site making it an unholy ground Nobody knew about the evil that still hovered over that area until doctor Arthur Grussen a reclusive physician who had a secret of his own he didn't wish to share built his opulent home there at the turn of the century Nobody ever found out exactly what had happened to the Grussens Legend has it that one of the children disappeared on a Halloween followed by the wife and another child Eventually the house was left alone abandoned on the accursed plot of ground where it withered and decayed for decades As time and progress moved forward civilization rediscovered the Grussen Place with a tragic death that occurred as a result of a Halloween dare over thirty years ago Now the legend of the Halloween dare is widely known in areas stretching all the way to the other side of the river and into New Orleans Jip is a likeable thirteen year old kid whose biggest weakness is his determination to be accepted by his peers and Darren is a rather unlikable seventeen year old who tauntingly relates the legend and the dare to Jip Being basically a sensible and somewhat scary kid Jip scoffs at the invitation at first but fears of his friends labeling him a coward and other developments eventually goad Jip into taking the most dangerous step of his life He decides to take Darren up with some rather interesting conditions and terms on a dare to visit the Grussen Place at an hour near midnight on Halloween It is a dare he will soon discover he should have never ever made The full fury of the horror that lives on that land and the legend itself comes to life unfolding in this tale By the end of this story many questions about what exactly happened at the Grussen Place are answered and many new ones are raised never to be answered Go ahead and read on but do it alone at night in a dark room with the only light being just enough illumination for reading the book Go ahead I dare you The Strand
