Rural Tradition In The English Novel 1900 1939:

The Rural Tradition in the English Novel Glen Cavaliero,1978      Rural Tradition in the English Novel, 1900-39 Glen Cavaliero,1977-06-17      Fiction of the New Statesman, 1913-1939 Bashir Abu-Manneh,2011-10-10 Fiction of the New Statesman is the first study of the short stories published in the renowned British journal the New Statesman This book argues that New Statesman fiction advances a strong realist preoccupation with ordinary everyday life and shows how British domestic concerns have a strong hold on the working class and lower middle class imaginative output of this period

English Culture and the Decline of the Industrial Spirit, 1850-1980 Martin J. Wiener,2004-09-13 Drawing upon a wide array of sources Martin Wiener explores the English ambivalence to modern industrial society      Modernity and the English Rural Novel Dominic Head,2017-04-07 This book re evaluates the rural English novel in the twentieth century in relation to the recognised artistic responses to modernity It argues that the most important writers in this tradition have had a very significant bearing on the trajectory of English cultural life through the modernist period and beyond      The Cambridge History of the English Novel Robert L. Caserio,Clement Hawes,2012-01-12 The Cambridge History of the English Novel chronicles an ever changing and developing body of fiction across three centuries An interwoven narrative of the novel s progress unfolds in more than fifty chapters charting continuities and innovations of structure tracing lines of influence in terms of themes and techniques and showing how greater and lesser authors shape the genre Pushing beyond the usual period centered boundaries the History s emphasis on form reveals the range and depth the novel has achieved in English This book will be indispensable for research libraries and scholars but is accessibly written for students Authoritative bold and clear the History raises multiple useful questions for future visions of the invention and re invention of the novel

The Oxford English Literary History: Volume 10: 1910-1940: The Modern Movement Chris Baldick,2005-11-10 This exciting new volume provides a freshly inclusive account of literature in England in the period before during and after the First World War Chris Baldick places the modernist achievements of Virginia Woolf T S Eliot and James Joyce within the rich context of non modernist writings across all major genres allowing high literary art to be read against the background of low entertainment Looking well beyond the modernist vanguard Baldick highlights the survival and renewal of realist traditions in these decades of post Victorian disillusionment Ranging widely across psychological novels war poems detective stories satires and children s books The Modern Movement provides a unique survey of the literature of this turbulent time

The English Countryside Between the Wars Paul Brassley,Jeremy Burchardt,Lynne Thompson,2006 Organised into sections on society culture politics and the economy and embracing subjects as diverse as women novelists and village crafts this book argues that almost everywhere we look in the countryside between the wars there were signs of new growth and dynamic development      The Cambridge Companion to British Literature of the 1930s James Smith,2019-12-19 The 1930s is frequently seen as a unique moment in British literary history a decade where writing was shaped by an intense series of political events aesthetic debates and emerging literary networks Yet what is contained under the rubric of 1930s writing has been the subject of competing claims and therefore this Companion offers the reader an incisive survey covering the decade's literature and its status in critical debates Across the chapters sustained attention is given to writers of growing scholarly interest to pivotal authors of the period such as Auden Orwell and Woolf to the development of key literary forms and themes and to the relationship between this literature and the decade's pressing social and political contexts Through this the reader will gain new insight into 1930s literary history and an understanding of many of the critical debates that have marked the study of this unique literary era

Explorations in Twentieth-century Theology and Philosophy Ann Loades, 2023-04-11 Ann Loades has been instrumental in bringing forward for the attention of readers in later generations voices from the past notably highlighting the work of pioneering women such as Evelyn Underhill and Dorothy L Sayers as well as advancing the study of better known Anglican forebears C S Lewis and Austin Farrer always with her own distinctive concerns A key interpreter of the Anglican tradition and with a keen eye to ensure the full recognition of women these studies by Ann Loades are essential reading in Anglican feminist and twentieth century theology

The English Eliot Steve Ellis, 2015-12-22 This book first published in 1991 supplies a neglected cultural context for T S Eliot's writings of the 1930s and 1940s particularly Four Quartets and attempts to disprove the widespread belief in Eliot's unproblematic commitment to England and the Englishness The book traces Eliot's classicism not only in linguistic and formalist terms but also in his construction of England in the Quartets and Quartets related essays His practice is related to the vigorous polemic concerning the definition of England found in the 1930s and 1940s in material as diverse as landscape painting advertising travel literature and the detective novel This original and provocative text will not only be of interest to students and teachers of Eliot but to those interested in representations of nationality

Graham Greene in the 1930s Andrew Purcell, 2025-08-12 Graham Greene in the 1930s presents a major new reading of Greene's literary works and critical writings from the 1930s a period of increasing academic interest and importance Greene's works from this period encompass a wide range of forms genres and media capturing the richness and variety of British literary culture between the wars they also reveal its urgent preoccupations and challenges such as the era defining concern with the relationship between politics and art and a corresponding fascination with modernity and mass culture as well as the shifting status of literature itself during the first true media age Graham Greene in the 1930s investigates this major twentieth century author's less considered early works in their original literary historical contexts and in the context of new critical approaches to the decade's literature and culture from the reconsideration within modernist studies of the kinds of interwar writing with its characteristic movement between genres and experimentation typified by early Greene to the current focus on the long 1930s which has seen the decade repositioned at the heart of twentieth century British literary history This book establishes the compelling intersections between early Greene and the literature of the 1930s It puts Greene at the centre of an era of profound and continuous transition and of a remarkable period in twentieth century literary history      Edinburgh Companion to Twentieth-Century British and American War Literature Adam Piette,2012-03-07 The first reference to literary and cultural representations of war in 20th century English Bodies Behaviours Cultures The Cultural Impact of the Technologies of Modern War The Spaces of Modern War Genres of War Culture Key Features All new original essays commissioned from major critics and cultural historians Reflects the way war studies are currently being taught and researched in the volume s approach structure and breadth of coverage For scholars core arguments and detailed research topics For students Historically grounded topic and genre based essays useful for studying the modern period and war modules      Pastoral Terry Gifford,2019-10-16 Updated throughout this new edition provides a clear and invaluable introduction to the study of pastoral Terry Gifford traces the history of the genre from its classical origins through to contemporary writing and introduces the major writers and critical issues relating to pastoral Gifford breaks the term down into three accessible concepts pastoral anti pastoral post pastoral and provides up to date examples from literature and film New chapters explain the continuing tradition of georgic literature and the recent evolution of pastoral in their historical contexts Pastoral is essential and engaging reading for students and academics alike

Landscape and Englishness David Matless,2005-08-01 Landscape has been central to definitions of Englishness for centuries David Matless argues that landscape has been the site where English visions of the past present and future have met in debates over questions of national identity disputes over history and modernity and ideals of citizenship and the body Landscape and Englishness is extensively illustrated and draws on a wide range of material topographical guides health manuals paintings poetry architectural polemic photography nature guides and novels The author first examines the inter war period showing how a vision of Englishness and landscape as both modern and traditional urban and rural progressive and preservationist took shape around debates over building in the countryside the replanning of cities and the cultures of leisure and citizenship He concludes by tracing out the story of landscape and Englishness down to the present day showing how the familiar terms of debate regarding landscape and heritage are a product of the immediate post war era and asking how current arguments over care for the environment or expressions of the nation resonate with earlier histories and geographies cultural history at its best subtle multi layered and full of new ideas and insights this book is a must

Contemporary British History creates a convincing portrait of the changing meanings of the English landscape in the twentieth century Times Literary Supplement      Narratives of Memory V. Stewart,2006-10-12 This book identifies memory a previously unexamined concern in both literary and popular writing of the 1940s Emphasizing the use of memory as a structural device this book traces developments in narrative during and immediately after the war Authors include Margery Allingham Elizabeth Bowen Graham Greene Patrick Hamilton and Denton Welch      Literary Politics D. Philips,K. Shaw,2013-10-17 Literary Politics identifies and debates competing definitions of English Studies as an academic subject celebrates the diversity of contemporary literary studies and demonstrates the ways in which a range of literary texts can be understood as politically engaged sometimes in unexpected ways      The Victorians and English Dialect Matthew Townend, 2024-06-24 The Victorians and English Dialect tells the story of the Victorians' discovery of English dialect and of the revaluation of local language that was brought about by the new historical philology of the nineteenth century. Regional dialects came to be seen not as corrupt or pernicious but rather as venerable and precious. The book examines the work of the ground-breaking collectors of the 1840s and 1850s who first alerted their contemporaries to the importance of local dialect and also to the perils that threatened it with extinction. It traces the connection between dialect and literature in the flourishing of dialect poetry and the foregrounding of regional voices in Victorian fiction. It explains how the antiquity of regional dialects cast light on the national past: the Celts, Anglo-Saxons and Vikings, and how dialect study was also at the heart of the discovery of local folklore and oral culture: old words, old customs, old beliefs. And it tells the story of the three great monuments of Victorian dialect study that marked the apogee of regional philology: the 80 publications of the English Dialect Society, 1873-96, an organization run by a committee of journalists and local historians in Manchester; the nationwide survey of The Existing Phonology of English Dialects, 1889, which listened in on local speech in market squares and third-class railway carriages; and the multi-volume English Dialect Dictionary, 1898-1905, which collected all the previous labours together and made an enduring record of Victorian dialect.

Regional Modernisms Neal Alexander, 2013-10-14 Where did literary modernism happen? This book answers this question by re-evaluating the parameters of modernism in the light of recent developments in literary geography and literary history through an examination of novels, poetry, theatre and little magazines. Essays identify and appraise the local attachments of modernist texts in particular geographical regions and question the idea of the regional in light of the alienating displacements of transnational modernity.

Spirits of Community K. D. M. Snell, 2016-06-16 Concern about the decline of community and the theme of community spirit are internationally widespread in the modern world. The English past has featured many representations of declining community expressed by those who lamented its loss in quite different periods and in diverse genres. This book analyses how community spirit and the passing of community have been described in the past, whether for good or ill, with an eye to modern issues such as the so-called loneliness epidemic or the social consequences of alternative structures of community. It does this through examination of authors such as Thomas Hardy, James Wentworth Day, Adrian Bell and H. E. Bates, by appraising detective fiction, writers analysing parish magazines, considering the letter-writing of the parish poor in the 18th and 19th centuries and through the depictions of realist landscape painters such as George Morland. K. D. M. Snell addresses modern social concerns, showing how many current preoccupations had earlier precedents. In presenting past representations of declining communities and the way these affected individuals of very different political persuasions, the book draws out lessons and examples from the past about what community has meant hitherto, setting into context modern predicaments and judgements about spirits of community today.
