Rural Poverty And Development:

Rural Poverty and the Urban Crisis Niles M. Hansen, 1970 Monograph on problems of rural areas poverty and the urban areas crisis and the need for regional planning programmes in the USA covers geographical aspects the economic structure urbanization and the prospect for economic growth rural migration labour mobility the promotion of industrialization in rural areas labour demand and labour supply human resources planning educational planning incl In respect of vocational training etc Bibliography pp 313 to 323 The State of World Rural Poverty Idriss Jazairy, Mohiuddin Alamgir, Theresa

Panuccio, 1992 Despite almost four decades and billions of dollars in development activities we are barely in a position to track the changing dynamics of poverty or to define with conviction the processes that entrap the poor in their misery Accounting for about 90% of global poverty rural poverty through transmigration is also a main contributor to urban poverty It is in the rural areas of the world where poverty is most severe in human terms where the hunger hopelessness hardship and despair commonly associated with entrenched poverty are most pronounced where basic health services sanitation educational opportunities and other common amenities are most lacking The alleviation of rural poverty is therefore tantamount to the alleviation of global poverty in its entirety The State of World Rural Poverty offers the first comprehensive look at the economic conditions and prospects of the world's rural poor

Rural Poverty, Risk and Development Marcel Fafchamps, 2003-01-01 This book investigates the relationships between rural poverty risk and development Building upon the author's work in the area it summarises the contributions of recent theoretical and empirical work to our understanding of how risk affects rural poverty levels in developing countries In particular the book examines what we do and do not know about risk coping strategies among today's poor rural societies Ways in which these strategies may be re-examined and improved by governments and international organisations are proposed

Rural Development Robert Chambers, 1983 Rural poverty is often unseen or misperceived by outsiders Dr Chambers contends that researchers scientists administrators and fieldworkers rarely appreciate the richness and validity of rural people's knowledge or the hidden nature of rural poverty This is a challenging book for all concerned with rural development as practitioners academics students or researchers

Land, Labor, and Rural Poverty Pranab K. Bardhan, 1984 Textbook on land economics rural workers agricultural credit production relations and rural area poverty with reference to India examines peasant farmer labour supply labour force participation of woman workers measurement of unemployment labour demand of agricultural workers wages labour tying and bonded labour sharecropping and tenancy issues social stratification and children mortality discusses land ownership as an obstacle to irrigation based agricultural development Graphs references statistical tables

Priorities and Strategies in Rural Poverty Reduction Diana Alarcón González, 2004 Rural Poverty Alleviation Joseph Mullen, 1995 Tackling rural poverty in developing countries Great Britain: National Audit Office, 2007-03-14 Some 2.7 billion people live in poverty on less than two dollars a day whilst 1.1 billion live in extreme poverty on less than one dollar a day The United Nations

Millennium Development Goals aim is to halve this number by 2015 and the Department for International Development has set Public Service Agreement Targets to contribute to this reduction As some 75 per cent of the world s poor live in rural areas these targets cannot be reached without the reduction of rural poverty This report looks at rural poverty and the way the DFID tackles the issue especially in the short and medium term It is organised into four main sections the challenge of tackling rural poverty DIFD s country programme assistance to the rural poor reaching the rural poor through other funding schemes and management of the aid budget

The Development of Rural America George Brinkman,2021-10-08 In the last decade rural development emerged as one of the prominent challenges facing the United States Strong support for rural development is now found in both major political parties and at federal state and local levels There is little doubt that the development of rural America will become even more important in the future Despite unprecedented growth both urban and rural areas in the United States are greatly deficient in many aspects of quality living conditions The nation s cities are slowly strangling themselves jamming together people and industry while spawning pollution transportation paralysis housing blight lack of privacy and a crime infested society Rural areas simultaneously suffer from the other extreme lack of sufficient employment opportunities outmigration and depopulation and too few people to support services and institutions The migration from rural areas contributes to the problems of both the city and countryside depopulating rural places at the expense of overcrowded cities This book focuses on rural development processes problems and solutions Seven prominent specialists in the field including agricultural and regional economists demographers and administrators discuss the development of the open country small towns and smaller cities up t fifty thousand population They present an integrated approach to rural development problems not a mere collection of readings Valuable guidelines for policies to benefit both rural and urban areas are provided Since rural development involves interdisciplinary scholarship this book will be of interest to a wide range of social scientists working in rural areas both here and abroad Economists sociologists and political scientists as well as community leaders and planners legislators government officials and interested laymen will find this volume useful in understanding the rural development effort Chapters on the following topics are included the Philosophy and Process of Community Development The Emergence of Area Development Demographic Trends of the U S Rural Population The Conditions and Problems of Nonmetropolitan America Systems Planning for rural Development Use of Natural Resources in Community Development and Rural Poverty and Urban Growth An Economic Critique of Alternative Spatial Growth Patterns

Poverty Orientated Agricultural and Rural Development Hartmut Brandt,Uwe Otzen,2006-12-20 Over the last twenty years the proportion of development cooperation resources earmarked for agricultural development has dwindled to between six and seven per cent of total bi and multilateral Official Development Assistance This is despite the fact that eighty per cent of the world s poor live in rural agricultural areas and that the poor are disproportionately affected when political military and natural events lead to regional or global food shortages Brandt and Otzen s key book fills a gap in current literature undertaking a wide ranging conceptual reorientation of development cooperation criticizing the current orthodoxy and its bias towards urban areas and arguing that in order to effectively alleviate poverty across the world agricultural and rural development measures need to be implemented both by central and subnational governments aid agencies and the private sector The authors investigate the world food question the current pressures it is under and its link to rural poverty and set out the policies that need to be undertaken to reduce global poverty Poverty Alleviation Through Agricultural Projects Emmanuel H. D'Silva, Kaye Bysouth, 1992-01-01 Of the estimated 1 billion people in the developing world who survive in conditions of extreme poverty 70 percent live in Asia The majority of these people live in rural areas and agriculture is their main occupation Most of the rural poor are small and marginal farmers landless agricultural workers fisherfolk artisans female headed households the aged and infirm and children The incidence of poverty is highest among female heads of households and children The seminar on Poverty Alleviation through Agricultural Projects provided thirty development practitioners with an opportunity to consider strategies policies and practices that help alleviate rural poverty The seminar discussed four key issues of relevance to policy makers 1 poverty cannot be measured by income alone 2 poverty cannot be alleviated through a short term piecemeal approach 3 agricultural projects constitute one of the many means available to governments for alleviating rural poverty and 4 the role of public sector in poverty alleviation needs to be reconsidered Rural Poverty and the Urban Crisis Niles M. Hansen, 1973 Rural Poverty in Asia Muhammad Ghulam Quibria, 1993 This collection of economic essays is the outcome of an Asian Development Bank study on rural poverty in selected Asian countries Pragmatic Rural Development for Poverty Alleviation Krishna A. Jalihal, Murudaiah Shivamurthy, 2003 This Book Will Help Development Planners Development Administrators And Local Leaders Of Non Governmental Organisations Engaged In The Task Of Rural Development Academicians And Students Of Rural Poverty Studies And All Those Who Are Moved By The Bane Of Poverty In The Country Rural Development Perspectives: Focus on Rural Poverty United States. Department of Agriculture. Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service. Economic Development Division, 1980 The Dynamics of Rural Poverty Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1986-01-01 World Development Report 2008 World Bank, 2007-10-15 The world's demand for food is expected to double within the next 50 years while the natural resources that sustain agriculture will become increasingly scarce degraded and vulnerable to the effects of climate change In many poor countries agriculture accounts for at least 40 percent of GDP and 80 percent of employment At the same time about 70 percent of the world's poor live in rural areas and most depend on agriculture for their livelihoods World Development Report 2008 seeks to assess where when and how agriculture can be an effective instrument for economic development especially development that favors the poor It examines several broad questions How has agriculture changed in developing countries in the past 20 years What are the important new challenges and opportunities for agriculture Which new sources of agricultural growth can be captured cost effectively in particular in poor countries with large agricultural sectors as in Africa How can agricultural growth be made more effective for poverty reduction How can governments facilitate the transition of large populations out of agriculture without simply transferring the burden of rural poverty to urban areas How can the natural resource endowment for agriculture be protected How can agriculture's negative environmental effects be contained This year's report marks the 30th year the World Bank has been publishing the World Development Report Rural Poverty and the Policy Crisis University of Florida. Food and Resource Economics Department, Florida Cooperative Extension Service, University of Florida. Center for Rural Development, 1977 Compilation of readings on the evaluation of rural area poverty issues and programmes in the USA includes theoretical concepts and institutional frameworks income distribution aspects economics social costs social policy implications etc References and statistical tables Perspectives on Rural Poverty and Development Strategies in Latin America Cristóbal Kay, 2005 Examines the impact of the agricultural modernization on the alleviation of rural poverty

Poverty, Inequality and Rural Development David Greenaway, Tim Lloyd, Oliver Morrissey, 1994-07-12 Poverty alleviation is a major objective of development More than a fifth of the world's population lives in absolute poverty and the majority of the poor live in rural areas This volume studies what can be done for alleviating rural poverty Four chapters address the measurement of poverty and inequality including the use of household expenditure surveys and intra household income distribution Evidence is presented for India Mauritania Côte d'Ivoire and China Other chapters present case studies on strategies for rural development provision of rural credit in Bangladesh and India technical change in Philippine agriculture contract farming in Thailand and banana growers in the Windwards The contributions introduce the problems of rural development and show that effective rural development is assisted by investment in education and secure access to credit that equity is important for incentives but not directly related to poverty and that technical and institutional reform are essential but require careful design and implementation
