Male Poets and the Agon of the Mother Hannah Baker Saltmarsh, 2019-04-23 A thoughtful exploration of male poets' contributions to the literature of motherhood In the late 1950s the notion of a mother poem emerged during a confessional literary movement that freed poets to use personal psychosexual material about intimate topics such as parents childhood failed marriages children infidelity and mental illness In Male Poets and the Agon of the Mother Hannah Baker Saltmarsh argues that male poets have contributed to what we think of as the literature of motherhood that confessional and postconfessional modes have been formative in the way male poets have grappled with the stories of their mothers and how those stories reflect on the writers and their artistic identities Through careful readings of formative elegies and homages written by male poets of this time Saltmarsh explores how they engaged with femininity and feminine voices in the 1950s and 60s and sheds light on the inheritance of confessional motifs of gender and language as demonstrated by postconfessional writers responding to the rich subject matter of motherhood within the contexts of history myth and literature A foreword is provided by Jo Gill professor of twentieth century and American literature in the Department of English and associate dean for education at the University of Exeter

Museum Mediations Barbara K. Fisher, 2006-01-24 This interdisciplinary study participates in the ongoing critical conversation about postwar American poetry and visual culture while advancing that field into the arena of the museum Turning to contemporary poems about the visual arts that foreground and interrogate a museum setting the book demonstrates the particular importance of the museum as a cultural site that is both inspiration and provocation for poets The study uniquely bridges the dual canon in contemporary poetry and calls the lyric avant garde distinction into question by analyzing museum sponsored anthologies as well as poems by John Ashbery Richard Howard Kenneth Koch Kathleen Fraser Cole Swensen Anne Carson and others Through these case studies of poets with diverse affiliations the author shows that the boom in ekphrasis in the past 20 years is not only an aesthetic but a critical phenomenon a way that poets have come to terms with the critical dilemmas of our moment Highlighting the importance of poets' peripheral vision awareness of the institutional conditions that frame encounters with art the author contend that a museum visit becomes a forum for questioning oppositions that have preoccupied literary criticism for the past 50 years homage and innovation modernism and postmodernism subjectivity and collectivity The study shows that ekphrasis becomes a strategy for negotiating these impasses a mode of political inquiry a meditation on canonization a venue for comic appraisal of institutionalization and a means of site specific feminist revision in a vital synthesis of critique perspicacity and pleasure and elegiac ballads love sonnets and experimental postmodern verse that make up our lyrical canon A comprehensive guided tour that is lively and always accessible Lives of the Poets illuminates our most transcendent literary tradition Why Write Poetry? Jeannine Johnson, 2007 Poets have long been defending poetry in prose and essays by Sidney Shelley and others are a familiar and important part of the Anglo American literary tradition This book identifies and examines a related genre the verse defense of poetry which shares the same impulse that has led to the composition of prose essays namely the desire to protect poetry from its detractors and to promote its value as a vital human endeavor In the last century or so this impulse to engage questions of poetry's value in poems has become increasingly widespread and it has dominated the careers of at least five poets H D Wallace Stevens W H Auden Adrienne Rich and Geoffrey Hill Though these poets espouse very different aesthetic principles they like many of their contemporaries have repeatedly turned to apology in their verse At first glance this seems an odd gesture given that the readers and writers of poetry are those who least need convincing of poetry's worthiness But questioning poetry in verse is a form of lyric introspection that is productive and well suited for a modern poet characterized as one of indifference defense helps these authors make a claim for poetry's cultural relevance as well as for its private profit Jeannine Johnson is a Preceptor in Expository Writing at Harvard University
