Selling The Dream Why Advertising Is Good Business:

Selling the Dream John M. Hood, 2000-09 The process of producing goods and services is relatively easy to recognize as socially beneficial But television ads Telemarketers Jingles Junk mail It is popular to view these commercial activities as inherently wasteful or manipulative marginally informative or entertaining at best In Selling the Dream John Hood takes the provocative stand that advertising images and sales pitches are actually part of the goods and services themselves delivering an essential component of the consumer's experience As such they are inextricably linked to the basic tenets of the free market system and in the boldest of terms Hood argues that commercial communication is morally consistent with the principles of our democratic society including freedom of choice competition and innovation Tracing the history of advertising from Ancient Roman times to the present he offers a colorful account of advertising in its cultural context and addresses such controversial issues as the promotion of harmful and immoral products such as alcohol and tobacco marketing to children the role of advertising in service industries such as health care and education and the impact of the Internet and other new media on the conduct of commerce In the process he offers a compelling perspective on advertising and its essential role in business communication and popular culture

No Rising Tide Joerg Rieger, 2009-09-24 Economics has always had a moral dimension even free market mascot Adam Smith was a Christian minister Yet recent events have renewed and recast theological reflection on the economy as the gospel of prosperity succumbs to large scale economic crisis In that light Joerg Rieger explores the many dimensions of today's economic crisis What are the fundamental shifts taking place in the global economy today and how are they affecting provision for basic human needs economic equity and people's prospects

Propaganda and Public Relations in Military Recruitment Brendan Maartens, Thomas Bivins, 2020-11-19 This book represents the first international investigation of military recruitment advertising public relations and propaganda Comprised of eleven case studies that explore mobilisation work in Africa the Americas Asia and Europe it covers more than a hundred years of recent history with chapters on the First and Second World Wars the Cold War and the present day The book explores such promotion in countries both large and small and in times of both war and peace with readers gaining an insight into the different strategies and tactics used to motivate men women and occasionally even children to serve and fight in many parts of the world Readers will also learn about the crucial but little known role of commercial advertising public relations and media professionals in the production and distribution of recruitment promotion This book the first of its kind to be published will explore that role and in the process address two questions that are central to studies of media and conflict how do militaries encourage civilians to join up and are they successful in doing so It is a multi disciplinary project intended for a diverse academic audience including postgraduate students exploring aspects of war propaganda and public opinion and researchers working across the domains of history communications studies conflict studies psychology and philosophy

The Business of Marketing, Entrepreneurship, and Architecture of Communal Societies in the 1960s and 1970s Rahima

Schwenkbeck, 2021-11-13 This book provides an in depth history of three US based communal societies that operated in the late 1960s and 1970s Soul City Stelle and Twin Oaks with an emphasis on their financing marketing and entrepreneurship processes These communities reflect the diversity of people who were dissatisfied with the direction in which American society was heading often underpinned by concerns over racism sexism the environment and capitalism and decided to take the radical step of joining a communal society A moral economy approach offers a lens on how these communities were prevented from fully realizing their visions due to the confines of capitalism as embedded in banking practices zoning laws and systemic racism

Advertising & Selling and the Advertising Agency, 1929 Selling Mrs. Consumer Janice

Williams Rutherford, 2010-07-01 This first book length treatment of the life and work of Christine Frederick 1883 1970 reveals an important dilemma that faced educated women of the early twentieth century Contrary to her professional role as home efficiency expert advertising consultant and consumer advocate Christine Frederick espoused the nineteenth century ideal of preserving the virtuous home and a woman s place in it In an effort to reconcile her desire to succeed in the public sphere of modernization and consumerism with the knowledge that most middle class Americans still held traditional beliefs about gender roles Frederick fashioned a career for herself that encouraged other women to remain at home With the rise of home economics and scientific management Frederick college educated but confined to the drudgery of housework devised a plan for bringing the public sphere into the domestic Her home would become her factory She learned how to standardize tasks by observing labor saving devices in industry and then applied this knowledge to housework She standardized dishwashing for example by breaking the job into three separate operations scraping and stacking washing and drying and putting away Determined to train women to become proficient homemakers and efficient managers Frederick secured a job writing articles for the Ladies Home Journal A professional career as home efficiency expert later expanded to include advertising consultant and consumer advocate Frederick assured male advertisers that she knew women well and promised to help them sell to Mrs Consumer While Frederick sought the power and influence available only to men she promoted a division of labor by gender and therefore served the fall of the early twentieth century wave of feminism Rutherford s engaging account of Christine Frederick s life reflects a dilemma that continues to affect women today whether to seek professional gratification or adhere to traditional family values Zen and the Art of Making a Living Laurence G.
