Chimpanzee Travels Dale Peterson, 2003 A lifelong fascination with primates led Dale Peterson to Africa which he crisscrossed in hope of sighting chimpanzees in the wild As with any adventure worth retelling however Peterson's detours are as notable as his destinations With the good natured fatalism of the tested traveler Peterson tells of trains and riverboats opportunists and ecotourists rain forests and shantytowns as he conveys the pitfalls of going forth on a budget as tiny as the continent is vast Along the way we also meet Jane Goodall and several other renowned primate researchers and caretakers This is travel writing with a purpose an account that inspires both admiration and concern for Africa's people places and natural diversity

Growing Up Human Brenna Hassett, 2022-06-30 Brings the science of biological anthropology to bear on understanding how our evolutionary history has shaped a phenomenon everyone has experienced childhood Tracking deep into our evolutionary history anthropological science has begun to unravel one particular feature that sets us apart from the many many animals that came before us our uniquely long childhoods Growing Up Human looks at how we have diverged from our ancestral roots to stay forever young or at least what seems like forever and how the evolution of childhood is a critical part of the human story Beginning with a look at the ways animals invest in their offspring the book moves through the many steps of making a baby from pair bonding to hidden ovulation points where our species has repeatedly stepped off the standard primate path From the mystery of monogamy to the minefield of modern parenting advice biological anthropologist Brenna Hassett reveals how differences between humans and our closest cousins lead to our messy mating systems dangerous pregnancies and difficult births and what these tell us about the kind of babies we are trying to build Using observations of our closest primate relatives the tiny relics of childhood that come to us from the archaeological record and the bones and teeth of our ancestors science has started to unravel the evolution of our childhood right down the fossil record In our species investment doesn't stop at birth and as Growing Up Human reveals we can compare every aspect of our care and feeding from the chemical composition of our milk to our fondness for formal education from ancient times onwards in order to understand just what we evolved our weird and wonderful childhoods for Cyborg Futures Teresa sister Fern and Rosemary who begins her story in the middle She has her reasons I was raised with a chimpanzee she explains I tell you Fern was a chimp and already you aren't thinking of her as my sister But until Fern's expulsion she was my twin my funhouse mirror my whirlwind other half and I loved her as a sister As a child Rosemary never stopped talking Then something happened and Rosemary wrapped herself in silence In We Are All Completely Beside Ourselves Karen Joy Fowler weaves her most accomplished work to date a tale of loving but fallible people whose well intentioned actions lead to heartbreaking consequences A gripping big hearted book through the tender voice of her protagonist Fowler has a lot to say about family memory language science and indeed the question of what constitutes a human being Khaled Hosseini The Case of the Female Orgasm Elisabeth A. Lloyd, 2009-07 Why women evolved to have orgasms when most of their primate relatives don't is a persistent mystery among evolutionary biologists In pursuing this mystery Lloyd arrives at another How could anything as inadequate as the evolutionary explanations of the female orgasm have passed muster as science

Good Natured Frans B. M. DE WAAL, F. B. M. de Waal, 2009-06-30 To observe a dog's guilty look to witness a gorilla's self sacrifice for a wounded mate to watch an elephant herd's communal effort on behalf of a stranded calf to catch animals in certain acts is to wonder what moves them Might there be a code of ethics in the animal kingdom Must an animal be human to be humane In this provocative book a renowned scientist takes on those who have declared ethics uniquely human Making a compelling case for a morality grounded in biology he shows how ethical behavior is as much a matter of evolution as any other trait in humans and animals alike World famous for his brilliant descriptions of Machiavellian power plays among chimpanzees the nastier side of animal life Frans de Waal here contends that animals have a nice side as well Making his case through vivid anecdotes drawn from his work with apes and monkeys and bolstered by the intriguing voluminous data from his and others ongoing research de Waal shows us that many of the building blocks of morality are natural they can be observed in other animals Through his eyes we see how not just primates but all kinds of animals from marine mammals to dogs respond to social rules help each other share food resolve conflict to mutual satisfaction even develop a crude sense of justice and fairness Natural selection may be harsh but it has produced highly successful species that survive through cooperation and mutual assistance De Waal identifies this paradox as the key to an evolutionary account of morality and demonstrates that human morality could never have developed without the foundation of fellow feeling our species shares with other animals As his work makes clear a morality grounded in biology leads to an entirely different conception of what it means to be human and humane Reaching Into Thought Anne E. Russon, Kim A. Bard, Sue Taylor
