Instead he got intrigue and wild tales of a man dragging a horribly murdered girl into the woods. Naturally he calls his friend private detective Miss Maud Silver to take a look. But the case takes a puzzling turn when no one can locate the body of the rumored victim and the only witness suffers a broken neck. One thing is certain however: The pastoral peace of this town masks something far more sinister. Miss Silver, a retired schoolteacher with a fondness for knitting and reading Tennyson who has found a new career as a private enquiry agent, has her place in detective fiction as surely as Lord Peter Wimsey or Hercule Poirot. Manchester Evening News Wicked Uncle Patricia Wentworth, 2011-07-26

But when murder comes to the Porlock house it brings along much more unpleasantness. There is a question of blackmail first of all and a shocking realization about Dorinda's past. All told it adds up to a frightful mystery the sort that only Miss Maud Silver, the governess turned detective, can solve. div The Summerhouse Patricia Wentworth, 2011-08-23

When a controlling old woman is murdered her caretaking daughter is the prime suspect. Miss Silver is marvelous. Daily Mail Althea Graham might have had a life of her own had it not been for her mother. But when her father died she inherited her bitter temperamental parent along with the house and she has borne that burden ever since. She nearly escaped once but her engagement to Nicholas Carey caused her mother to fall into illness, convincing Althea to keep living with her until the sickness claimed her life. That was five years ago and Mrs Graham is as fit as ever. Althea's gloom lifts when Nicholas returns and it appears that love may bloom again. Mother clings as tightly as ever of course but Althea has hope once more. Then murder comes to their household and the young woman's last chance at happiness is dashed forever unless Maud Silver, the gentlewoman detective, can save the day. Mystery Women Colleen Barnett, 2010-03
