Intercultural Leadership Sierk A. Horn,2024 Stereotyping leadership: An investigation about leaders' perception Elena Tecchiati,2015-02-01 The objective of this study is to evaluate gender and cultural differences in the perception of male and female leaders in a feedback situation The research is based upon considerations from a literature review in the fields of gender bias and stereotypes previously conducted Subjects from Spain and Germany were asked to evaluate a director male or female in a fictive feedback situation that was described prior to a short questionnaire The questions of the questionnaire were based on previous research and findings of the literature review We tested if previous experience with a woman leader was related to a higher evaluation of the female leader and if there was a relationship between the previous experience with a female leader and the preference to work for a certain leader's gender. Results from the study show that gender culture and previous experience with a female leader had no influence on the leader's evaluation. A discussion with possible interpretations of the findings and implication for further research follows.

Governance Ralf-Eckhard Türke, 2008-09-16

Instead of yet another theory on good governance, this book presents a substantiation of contemporary notions. It builds on the theoretical foundations for taking an overall perspective on social contexts and culminates in a systemic framework that captures social structures based on first principles of viability and sustainability. The framework at hand enables applicants to view social contexts holistically while at the same time envisioning a rich picture of what leverages the implementation of social purposes beyond the boxes of the professional disciplines. Social structures can be assessed, strengths and weaknesses identified, and measures arrived at. Ultimately, the required structures can be tailor-made to align forces for a joint implementation of purposes. Conventional static hierarchies can be deployed into dynamic social organisms capable of developing and adapting continuously according to the opportunities and challenges faced.
