John Fitz, Brian Davies, John Evans, 2005-11-16 This book takes a theoretically informed look at British education policy over the last sixty years when secondary schooling for all children became an established fact for the first time Comprehensive schools largely replaced a system based on academic selection Now under choice and competition policies all schools are subject to the rigours of local education markets What impact did each of these successive policy frameworks have on structures of opportunities for families and their children How and to what extent was the experience of secondary school students shaped and what influenced the qualifications they obtained and their life chances after schooling The authors

locate their work within two broad strands in the sociology of education Basil Bernstein's work on the realisation of power and control in and through pedagogic discourse and social reproduction provides a theoretical framework for exploring the character of and continuities and change in education and training policies The book is an important contribution to debates about the extent to which education is a force for change in class divided societies The authors also set out to re-establish social class at the centre of educational analysis at a time when emphasis has been on identity and identity formation arguing for their interdependence This book will be an important resource for students policy analysts and policymakers wishing to think through and understand the longer term impact of programmes that have shaped secondary schooling in Britain and elsewhere International Encyclopedia of Education, 2009-04-17 The field of education has experienced extraordinary technological societal and institutional change in recent years making it one of the most fascinating yet complex fields of study in social science Unequalled in its combination of authoritative scholarship and comprehensive coverage International Encyclopedia of Education Third Edition succeeds two highly successful previous editions 1985 1994 in aiming to encapsulate research in this vibrant field for the twenty first century reader Under development for five years this work encompasses over 1 000 articles across 24 individual areas of coverage and is expected to become the dominant resource in the field Education is a multidisciplinary and international field drawing on a wide range of social sciences and humanities disciplines and this new edition comprehensively matches this diversity The diverse background and multidisciplinary subject coverage of the Editorial Board ensure a balanced and objective academic framework with 1 500 contributors representing over 100 countries capturing a complete portrait of this evolving field A totally new work revamped with a wholly new editorial board structure and brand new list of meta sections and articles Developed by an international panel of editors and authors drawn from senior academia Web enhanced with supplementary multimedia audio and video files hotlinked to relevant references and sources for further study Incorporates ca 1 350 articles with timely coverage of such topics as technology and learning demography and social change globalization and adult learning to name a few Offers two content delivery options print and online the latter of which provides anytime anywhere access for multiple users and superior search functionality via ScienceDirect as well as multimedia content including audio and video files Mathematical Relationships in Education Laura Black, Heather Mendick, Yvette Solomon, 2011-01-13 While demand for the mathematically literate citizen increases many learners continue to reject mathematics and experience it as excluding and exclusive even when they succeed at it In exploring this phenomenon this volume examines the ways in which learners form particular relationships with mathematics in the context of formal schooling CPD: The Learning Classroom Brian Boyd, 2014-06-06 The Continuing Professional Development series sets out to demystify professional development in education and does so from a Scottish perspective All books in the series approach their subject in an accessible manner that allows teachers and educators to perceive how continuing professional development can enhance job satisfaction as well as making a real difference to the most important client group of all the pupils and students in their care In The Learning Classroom Brian Boyd considers the large range of initiatives which have asked teachers to promote creativity enterprise citizenship amongst others as well as the growing interest in international ideas such as multiple intelligences learning styles and teaching for understanding to name but a few The book looks at the key aspect of a number of these ideas as they impact on classrooms and describes how teachers can create a learning classroom which will incorporate the key elements of these initiatives

Educational Choices, Transitions and Aspirations in Europe Aina Tarabini, Nicola Ingram, 2018-06-13 Educational Choices Transitions and Aspirations in Europe analyses educational choices and transitions in eight different European countries regions and provides an engaging means of considering issues of inequality through international comparisons The book is underpinned by explorations of theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches which share the common goal of highlighting and challenging educational inequalities in relation to political imaginings and discursive constructions of notions of aspirations and choice Beginning with an overview of the theoretical landscape the book posits ways of understanding transitional experiences through both a social and a political lens Comprising of chapters that explore these issues within the context of specific countries and at different stages of young people s transitions the collection examines the features of different European education systems and how they frame transitions and choices before providing an overall analysis of systemic institutional and subjective constraints on these processes The book uniquely opens and develops an intellectual conversation about different education systems with similar educational challenges and outcomes Assimilating key issues and solutions this volume also makes general recommendations for policy and practice that would help to promote greater equity and social justice The book covers a range of transition points and countries which should make it essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduate students with an interest in international perspectives on education It will be particularly useful for those working in education sociology social policy geography and politics Programming

Opportunities for Students Gifted & Talented in the Visual Arts Gilbert A. Clark, Enid Zimmerman, 1998-07 Programs for artistically gifted and talented art students give recognition to students who due to their outstanding visual arts abilities require educational support experiences and facilities that go beyond what generally are available in art classrooms This guide examines programming opportunities for these students focusing on mixed ability grouping ability grouping and acceleration Presents research on the topic through national surveys case studies and evaluations of local and regional programs discusses assessment and makes programming recommendations Becoming A Teacher: Issues In Secondary Education Dillon, Justin, Maguire, Meg, 2011-07-01 Becoming a Teacher 4e remains a unique and powerful combination of ideas analysis questions answers and wisdom drawing on the professional experience of the editors and contributors
