Mixed Feelings The Complex Lives Of Mixed Race Britons:

Mixed Feelings Yasmin Alibhai-Brown, 2001 Mixed Race Britain in The Twentieth Century Chamion

Caballero, Peter J. Aspinall, 2018-05-07 This book explores the overlooked history of racial mixing in Britain during the course of the twentieth century a period in which there was considerable and influential public debate on the meanings and implications of intimately crossing racial boundaries Based on research that formed the foundations of the British television series Mixed Britannia the authors draw on a range of firsthand accounts and archival material to compare official accounts of racial mixing and mixedness with those told by mixed race people couples and families themselves Mixed Race Britain in The Twentieth Century shows that alongside the more familiarly recognised experiences of social bigotry and racial prejudice there can also be glimpsed constant threads of tolerance acceptance inclusion and ordinariness It presents a more complex and multifaceted history of mixed race Britain than is typically assumed one that adds to the growing picture of the longstanding diversity and difference that is and always has been an ordinary and everyday feature of British life Black

Mixed-Race Men Remi Joseph-Salisbury, 2018-08-06 This book offers a corrective to pathological and stereotypical representations of mixedness generally and Black mixed race men specifically By introducing the concept of post racial resilience the book shows that Black mixed race men are active and agentic as they resist the fragmentation and erasure of multiplicitous identities The Creolisation of London Kinship Elaine Bauer, 2010 In the last 50 years the United Kingdom has witnessed a growing proportion of mixed African Caribbean and white British families With rich new primary evidence of mixed race in the capital city The Creolisation of London Kinship thoughtfully explores this population Making an indelible contribution to both kinship research and wider social debates the book emphasises a long term evolution of family relationships across generations Individuals are followed through changing social and historical contexts seeking to understand in how far many of these transformations may be interpreted as creolisation Examined too are strategies and innovations in relationship construction the social constraints put upon them the special significance of women and children in kinship work and the importance of non biological as well as biological notions of family relatedness P 4 of cover A-Z of

Inclusion in Early Childhood Mary Dickins, 2014-02-16 The concept of inclusion is complex and messy and although many definitions abound it has never been fully clarified in legislation and guidance The purpose of this book is to consider how professionals working with young children and their families can better understand the concept of inclusion and successfully establish examine and evaluate the building blocks and framework that should underpin inclusive practice This book represents a genuine attempt to identify the challenges and barriers to inclusion for all children to understand them and in some measure to suggest how they might be overcome This book is particularly important because It is based on a broad understanding of inclusion that embraces all forms of difference including race gender ability and class It draws on good practice developed over the years and describes challenges for the future It takes into account contemporary issues such as

austerity measures cuts to public services and a changing political landscape It brings the reader up to date with current theory analysis controversies and debates This book is essential reading for early years professionals and students who wish to increase their knowledge and understanding of these issues which can divide society especially in terms of the impact on young children and their families Mary Dickins has given us a book which is a beautifully written guide to the principles and practice of inclusion in young children s care and education For some this will be an introduction to for others a reminder of knowledge and skills which we have developed over many years but which are too often misunderstood or ignored Through her alphabetical approach it is possible to address a huge number of issues in a very accessible way either dipping into it as needed or reading from beginning to end as a story of how we can improve the experiences of young children in childcare and every entry comes with a list of references to enable readers to take the subject further Informing the whole book is her knowledge and experience of this issue and her passion to support the development of a shared vision and understanding of it As she says inclusion is not a fixed state we all have responsibility and a role to play in challenging discrimination and oppression Sue Owen Independent early years consultant I have learnt a lot from reading this book and there is a lot to learn Its scope is so enormous that inevitably it cannot cover everything for example my pet topic of the power of assumptions It identifies the complexities of the various aspects of inclusion and touches on the inter relatedness of many for example race and class As readers dip into it I hope it will trigger further reading on particular issues and also stimulate more discussion of how institutional procedures and practices deeply embedded in our society the system remain barriers to inclusion We all need to identify understand and break down such barriers so that every one of our precious children wherever they are feel they truly belong Jane Lane Advocate worker for racial equality in the early years Mary Dickins has long experience in early years and equality issues and writes from a defined value system She encourages a proactive and anti discriminatory approach which contributes to the development of in her words a shared vision understanding and sense of purpose Mary stresses the importance of individual responsibility and transfer of specialist skills to a mainstream context This book is a good addition to the continuing debate on inclusion from a clear children s rights perspective and a valuable resource for the early years sector providing a framework to embed effective inclusive practice Julie Jennings Royal National Institute of Blind People UK

Social Identities Gary Taylor, Steve Spencer, 2004 Social Identities argues that we have a collection of social selves and that our identities are influenced by such things as class gender sexuality race nationality religious views and by the media

Postcolonial Youth in Contemporary British Fiction , 2021-07-19 The concepts of youth and the postcolonial both inhabit a liminal locus where new ways of being in the world are rehearsed and struggle for recognition against the impositions of dominant power structures Departing from this premise the present volume focuses on the experience of postcolonial youngsters in contemporary Britain as rendered in fiction thus envisioning the postcolonial as a site of fruitful and potentially transformative friction between different identity variables or sociocultural interpellations In so doing this volume provides varied evidence of the ability of literature and of the short story genre in particular to represent and swiftly respond to a rapidly changing world as well as to the new socio cultural realities and conflicts affecting our current global order and the generations to come Contributors are Isabel M Andr s Cuevas Isabel Carrera Su rez Claire Chambers Blanka Grzegorzczuk Bettina Jansen Indrani Karmakar Carmen Lara Rallo Laura Mar a Lojo Rodr guez Noem Pereira Ares G rald Pr her Susanne Reichl Carla Rodr guez Gonz lez Jorge Sacido Romero Karima Thomas and Laura Torres Z iga Multilingual Identities in a Global City D. Block, 2005-11-22 Opening with a discussion of the key issues of globalization migration multiculturalism multilingualism and global cities David Block then turns to four detailed case studies East Asian students living and working in London foreign language teachers from France London s growing Latino community and second generation South Asian university students Via these case studies the book explores the ambivalent and multi layered identities of individuals who have crossed geographical and psychological borders during the course of their lifetimes and settled in London the quintessential global city Dropping Anchor, Setting Sail Jacqueline Nassy Brown, 2009-01-10 The port city of Liverpool England is home to one of the oldest Black communities in Britain Its members proudly date their history back at least as far as the nineteenth century with the global wanderings and eventual settlement of colonial African seamen Jacqueline Nassy Brown analyzes how this worldly origin story supports an avowedly local Black politic and identity a theme that becomes a window onto British politics of race place and nation and Liverpool s own contentious origin story as a gloriously cosmopolitan port of world historical import that was nonetheless central to British slave trading and imperialism This ethnography also examines the rise and consequent dilemmas of Black identity It captures the contradictions of diaspora in postcolonial Liverpool where African and Afro Caribbean heritages and transnational linkages with Black America both contribute to and compete with the local as a basis for authentic racial identity Crisscrossing historical periods rhetorical modes and academic genres the book focuses singularly on place enabling its most radical move its analysis of Black racial politics as enactments of English cultural premises The insistent focus on English culture implies a further twist Just as Blacks are racialized through appeals to their assumed Afro Caribbean and African cultures so too has Liverpool an Irish working class city whose expansive port faces the world beyond Britain long been beyond the pale of dominant notions of authentic Englishness Dropping Anchor Setting Sail studies race through clashing constructions of Liverpool

Multifaceted Identity of Interethnic Young People Sultana Choudhry, 2016-04-15 The number of interethnic individuals is one of the most striking demographic changes in Britain over the last decade Demonstrating both that identity is fluid and multifaceted rather than fixed and that people of Asian Black Chinese and White interethnic backgrounds do not necessarily experience identity conflict as proposed by some social scientists Multifaceted Identity of Interethnic Young People explores the manner in which interethnic young people define their identities In doing so it also looks at their parents and their experiences as interethnic couples in society Presenting rich new empirical information relating to young people of Black

White Asian and Chinese interethnic backgrounds this book also examines the impact that inter religious relationships have upon young people's sense of identity whilst also discussing the implications of the election of America's first interethnic president. As such it will be of interest to social scientists working in the fields of race ethnicity and identity. Modern Britain Jan Erik Mustad, 2012. Racialization Karim Murji, John Solomos, 2005. Racialization has become one of the central concepts in the study of race and racism. This volume brings together international scholars to address key facets of the concept in a wide range of social and political arenas including gender relations policing urban communities youth cultures immigration and political life. Writing British Muslims Rehana Ahmed, 2024-06-04. The Rushdie affair September 11 2001 and 7/7 pushed British Muslims into the forefront of increasingly fraught debate about multiculturalism. Stereotyping images have proliferated reducing a heterogeneous minority group to a series of media soundbites. This book examines contemporary literary representations of Muslims by British writers of South Asian Muslim descent including Salman Rushdie Hanif Kureishi Monica Ali and Nadeem Aslam to explore the contribution they make to urgent questions about multicultural politics and the place of Muslims within Britain. By focusing on class and its intersection with faith race and gender in identity and community formation it challenges the dichotomy of secular freedom versus religious oppression that constrains thinking about British Muslims and offers a more nuanced perspective on multicultural debates and controversies. Writing British Muslims will appeal to academics and postgraduate and final year undergraduate students in the fields of postcolonial studies English studies and cultural studies. Fear: Critical Geopolitics and Everyday Life Susan J. Smith, 2016-04-22. Fear in the twenty first century has greater currency in western societies than ever before. Through scares ranging from cot death juvenile crime internet porn asylum seekers dirty bombs and avian flu we are bombarded with messages about emerging risks. This book takes stock of a range of issues of fear and presents new theoretical arguments and research findings that cover topics as diverse as the war on terror the immigration crisis stranger danger global disease epidemics and sectarian violence. This book charts the association of fear discourses with particular spaces times social identities and sets of geopolitical relations. It examines the ways in which fear may be manufactured and manipulated for political purposes sometimes becoming a tool of repression and relates fear to political economic and social marginalization at different scales. Furthermore it highlights the importance and sometimes unpredictability of everyday lived experiences of fear the many ways in which people recognize make sense of and manage fear the extent of resistance to fear the relation of fear and hope in everyday life and the role of emotions in galvanizing political and social action and change. The Cambridge Companion to British Black and Asian Literature (1945-2010) Deirdre Osborne, 2016-10-14. This Companion offers a comprehensive account of the influence of contemporary British Black and Asian writing in British culture. While there are a number of anthologies covering Black and Asian literature there is no volume that comparatively addresses fiction poetry plays and performance and provides critical accounts of the qualities and impact within one book. It charts the distinctive

Black and Asian voices within the body of British writing and examines the creative and cultural impact that African Caribbean and South Asian writers have had on British literature It analyzes literary works from a broad range of genres while also covering performance writing and non fiction It offers pertinent historical context throughout and new critical perspectives on such key themes as multiculturalism and evolving cultural identities in contemporary British literature This Companion explores race politics gender sexuality identity amongst other key literary themes in Black and Asian British literature It will serve as a key resource for scholars graduates teachers and students alike
