Mona Pink plants a garden with flowers of every color As she waters and cares for them she learns about different colors and how plants grow Classical World Literatures Wiebke Denecke, 2014 Ever since Karl Jaspers's axial age paradigm there have been a number of influential studies comparing ancient East Asian and Greco-Roman history and culture However to date there has been no comparative study involving multiple literary traditions in these cultural spheres This book compares the dynamics between the younger literary cultures of Japan and Rome and the literatures of their venerable predecessors China and Greece How were writers of the younger cultures of Rome and Japan affected by the presence of an older reference culture whose sophistication they admired even as they anxiously strove to assert their own distinctive identity How did they tackle the challenge of adopting the reference culture's literary genres rhetorical refinement and conceptual vocabulary for writing texts in different languages and within distinct political and cultural contexts Classical World Literatures captures the striking similarities between the ways early Japanese authors wrote their own literature through and against the literary precedents of China and the ways Latin writers engaged and contested Greek precedents But it also brings to light suggestive divergences that are rooted in geopolitical linguistic sociohistorical and aesthetic differences between early Japanese and Roman literary cultures Proposing a methodology of deep comparison for the cross-cultural comparison of premodern literary cultures and calling for an expansion of world literature debates into the ancient and medieval worlds Classical World Literatures is both a theoretical intervention and an invitation to read and re-read four major literary traditions in an innovative and illuminating light Byzantine Media Subjects Glenn A. Peers, 2024-06-15

Byzantine Media Subjects invites readers into a world replete with images icons frescoes and mosaics filling places of worship politics and community Glenn Peers asks readers to think themselves into a world where representation reigned and humans followed and indeed were formed Interrogating the fundamental role of representation in the making of the Byzantine human Peers argues that Byzantine culture was already posthuman The Byzantine experience reveals the extent to which media like icons manuscripts music animals and mirrors fundamentally determine humans In the Byzantine world representation as such was deeply persuasive even coercive it had the power to affect human relationships produce conflict and form self perception Media studies has made its subject the modern world but this book argues for media having made historical subjects Here it is shown that media long ago also made Byzantine humans defining them molding them mediating their relationship to time to nature to God and to themselves The Lloyd Cotsen Study Collection of Chinese Bronze Mirrors Suzanne E.
