Moral Critique Of Development In Search Of Global Responsibilities:

A Moral Critique of Development Anta Kumar Giri, Philip Quarles van Ufford, 2003-12-08 Recent critiques of international development practice affecting some of the West's best known aid organisations have attacked the motives of those heading the machine of development This book draws lessons from actual projects to propose a Cultivating Development David Mosse, 2004-11-20 What if development agencies and researchers are not driven by policy Suppose that the things that make for good policy policy that legitimises and mobilises political support in reality make it impossible to implement By focusing in detail on the unfolding activities of a development project in western India over more than ten years as it falls under different policy regimes this book takes a close look at the relationship between policy and practice in development David Mosse shows how the actions of development workers are shaped by the exigencies of organisations and the need to maintain relationships rather than by policy but also that development actors work hardest of all to maintain coherent representations of their actions as instances of authorised policy Raising unfamiliar questions Mosse provides a rare self critical reflection on practice while refusing to endorse current post modern dismissal of development Manual for Collaborative Organizational Assessment in Human Settlements Organizations David W. Tees, 1992 Armenia and Europe Pål Wilter Skedsmo, 2019-11-14 Armenia receives one of the highest levels of international aid per capita in the Western world and among the highest of the post Soviet states This ethnographic study based on new primary research looks at aid in the South Caucasus and its role in Armenia's relationship with Europe In particular Skedsmo argues that the Aarhus Convention which entitles citizens of Europe to access information and participation in decision making in environmental matters has allowed Armenian citizens to adapt and control the direction of their country's political future in various ways whether through protest activism or legal challenges A new examination of aid and development and the structures these create Europe and Armenia will be an essential case study for scholars of development for regional specialists in the post soviet area especially South Caucasus social anthropologists students of post socialism and development postcolonialism In addition the book will be of interest for practitioners and European policy makers transnational organizations and others involved in development policies and projects in the region Evidence, Ethos and Experiment P. Wenzel Geissler, Catherine Molyneux, 2017-05 Medical research has been central to biomedicine in Africa for over a century and Africa along with other tropical areas has been crucial to the development of medical science At present study populations in Africa participate in an increasing number of medical research projects and clinical trials run by both public institutions and private companies Global debates about the politics and ethics of this research are growing and local concerns are prompting calls for social studies of the trial communities produced by this scientific work Drawing on rich ethnographic and historiographic material this volume represents the emergent field of anthropological inquiry that links Africanist ethnography to recent concerns with science the state and the culture of late capitalism in Africa The Oxford Handbook of Christianity in Asia Felix

Wilfred,2014-05-23 Named by the International Bulletin of Missionary Studies as an Outstanding Book of 2014 for Mission Studies Despite the ongoing global expansion of Christianity there remains a lack of comprehensive scholarship on its development in Asia This volume fills the gap by exploring the world of Asian Christianity and its manifold expressions including worship theology spirituality inter religious relations interventions in society and mission The contributors from over twenty countries deconstruct many of the widespread misconceptions and interpretations of Christianity in Asia They analyze how the growth of Christian beliefs throughout the continent is linked with the socio political and cultural processes of colonization decolonization modernization democratization identity construction of social groups and various social movements With a particular focus on inter religious encounters and emerging theological and spiritual paradigms the volume provides alternative frames for understanding the phenomenon of conversion and studies how the scriptures of other religious traditions are used in the practice of Christianity within Asia Aid on the Edge of Chaos Ben

Ramalingam,2013-10-25 Many agree that the foreign aid system which today involves virtually every nation on earth needs drastic change But there is much conflict as to what should be done In Aid on the Edge of Chaos Ben Ramalingam argues that what is most needed is the creative and innovative transformation of how aid works Foreign aid today is dominated by linear mechanistic ideas that emerged from early twentieth century industry and are ill suited to the world we face today The problems and systems aid agencies deal with on a daily basis have more in common with ecosystems than machines they are interconnected diverse and dynamic they cannot be just simply re engineered or fixed Outside of aid social scientists economists business leaders and policy makers have started applying innovative and scientific approaches to such problems informed by ideas from the new science of complex adaptive systems Inspired by these efforts aid practitioners and researchers have started experimenting with such approaches in their own work This book showcases the experiences insights and often remarkable results of innovative thinkers and practitioners who are working to bring these approaches into the mainstream of aid From transforming child malnutrition to rethinking economic growth from building peace to reversing desertification from rural Vietnam to urban Kenya the ideas of complex systems thinking are starting to be used to make foreign aid more relevant more appropriate and more catalytic Aid on the Edge of Chaos argues that such ideas and approaches should play a vital part of the transformation of aid Aid should move from being an imperfect post World War II global resource transfer system to a new form of global cooperation that is truly fit for the twenty first century Social

Terrains of Mine Closure in the Philippines Minerva Chaloping March,2017-08-23 The current discourse on mine closure is informed predominantly by industry and corporate perspectives and predicated by experiences of mainly mining companies that are based in developed countries where necessary planning frameworks and regulatory requirements are well established Mine closure planning well promoted and accepted as good business practice in the global minerals industry has been primarily technical and precautionary both in approach and focus Planning modelling and monitoring strategies incorporate comprehensive and detailed elements such as properties inherent in landforms climate geology flora and fauna among others However locality based concerns that revolve around resource access and tenure rights and entitlements tied to locality and indigeneity labour recruitment and other non bio physical elements are hardly examined Any mine closure program that omits these elements is deficient and therefore ineffective Social Terrains of Mine Closure in the Philippines based on ethnographic research and archival materials presents the varying experiences of three mines to demonstrate that the mine closure process is an intense locus for competition and compromises among various social actors This book offers key messages for understanding the complex socio cultural economic political and business realities that make up the social terrains of mine closure and will be of great interest to students and researchers in development studies community development business studies anthropology and sociology It will also appeal to those working in the global minerals sectors and NGOs that engage in development work and advocacy for responsible mining

Beyond Cosmopolitanism Ananta Kumar Giri, 2017-10-17 Considering the different traditions of cosmopolitan thinking and experimentation this cutting edge volume examines the contemporary revival of cosmopolitanism as a response to the challenges of living in an interdependent world Through a unique multidisciplinary approach it takes the debate beyond the one sided universalism of the Euro American world and explores the multiverse of transformations which confront cosmopolitanism The collection highlights central questions of cosmopolitan responsibility global citizenship and justice as well as the importance of dialogue among civilizations cultures religions and traditions Exploring the ethical and political dimensions of globalization it outlines the pathways of going beyond cosmopolitanism by striving for a post colonial cosmopolis characterized by global justice trans civilizational dialogues and dignity for all

Business and Peace: The Case of La Frutera Plantation in Datu Paglas, Maguindanao, Philippines Mark S. Williams, 2011-06-20 Mindanao in the southern Philippines has been the landscape of religious social and political conflict for more than 500 years The Magindanawn people who embraced Islam after contact with Malay Muslims in the late 1400s have experienced clan rivalries and other outsider aggressions leading to disenfranchisement and displacement from their ancestral domain in west Central Mindanao In the activism and rebellion of the late 1960s and early 1970s Magindanawn people were often caught between Philippine military forces and the Bangsamoro mujahideen In the 1980s there was some respite but until the present day the people and the land have been subjected to continual skirmishes and sometimes all out war In the mid 1990s Datu Ibrahim Toto Paglas III wanted to fulfill his father's dream of establishing a plantation in their homeland for community benefit Touted as the Datu Paglas miracle the La Frutera banana plantation came into existence in the midst of intercultural disharmony and regional conflict This then is a comprehensive descriptive case study of La Frutera Incorporated

Philosophy and Anthropology Ananta Kumar Giri, John Clammer, 2013-12-15 Philosophy and anthropology have many but largely unexplored links and interrelationships Historically they have informed each other in subtle ways This volume of original essays explores and enhances this relationship through anthropological engagement with philosophy and vice versa the nature sources and history of philosophical anthropology phenomenology and the practical methodological and theoretical implications of a dialogue between the two subjects Philosophy and Anthropology Border Crossings and Transformations seeks to enrich both the humanities and the social sciences through its informative and stimulating essays

The Truth about Nature Bram Büscher, 2020-12-15 How should we share the truth about the environmental crisis At a moment when even the most basic facts about ecology and the climate face contestation and contempt environmental advocates are at an impasse Many have turned to social media and digital technologies to shift the tide But what if their strategy is not only flawed but dangerous The Truth about Nature follows environmental actors as they turn to the internet to save nature It documents how conservation efforts are transformed through the political economy of platforms and the algorithmic feeds that have been instrumental to the rise of post truth politics Developing a novel account of post truth as an expression of power under platform capitalism Bram B scher shows how environmental actors attempt to mediate between structural forms of platform power and the contingent histories and contexts of particular environmental issues Bringing efforts at wildlife protection in Southern Africa into dialogue with a sweeping analysis of truth and power in the twenty first century B scher makes the case for a new environmental politics that radically reignites the art of speaking truth to power

Water Governance in Bolivia Nasya Sara Razavi,2022-04-28 This book examines water remunicipalization in Cochabamba since the Water War offering innovative methodological and theoretical conceptualizations of what it means to be public helping to move debates on water services beyond the paralyzing binary of public versus private with a focus on the contested terrain of community engagement around water services The Cochabamba Water War of 2000 brought together city residents of all stripes to mobilize against water privatization and gain back public control of the city s water utility This event catapulted anti privatization movements around the world but two decades later the water movement s vision of democratic water provision remains largely unfulfilled and the city suffers from a protracted water crisis Building a typology of participation this book explores the difficulty in rebuilding a strong public water service in Cochabamba by analyzing the different and often incompatible understandings and interpretations of social control and public participation Applying this framework to the Bolivian context and more specifically to the water and sanitation sector in Cochabamba the book uncovers whose interests are served and which groups are included or excluded from decision making and access to water This exercise illustrates how in their implementation participatory practices are not linear and can be distorted or appropriated towards different ends This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of water governance natural resource management public policy social movements and Latin American studies

In the Shadow of Good Governance Gerhard Anders,2009-10-26 In the Shadow of Good Governance traces the implementation of the good governance agenda in Malawi from the loan documents signed by the representatives of the government and the Bretton Woods institutions to the individual experiences of civil servants who responded in unforeseen ways to the reform measures. Ethnographic evidence gathered in government offices, neighbourhoods and the private homes of civil servants living in Malawi's urban and peri-urban areas undermines the common perception of a disconnect between state institutions and society in Africa. Instead, the book presents a comprehensive analysis of civil servants' attempts to negotiate the effects of civil service reform and economic crisis at the turn of the 21st century.

Redeeming REDD Michael I. Brown, 2013-06-26. It is now well accepted that deforestation is a key source of greenhouse gas emissions and of climate change, with forests representing major sinks for carbon. As a result, public and private initiatives for reducing emissions from deforestation and forest degradation (REDD) have been widely endorsed by policy makers. A key issue is the feasibility of carbon trading or other incentives to encourage land owners and indigenous people, particularly in developing tropical countries, to conserve forests rather than to cut them down for agricultural or other development purposes. This book presents a major critique of the aims and policies of REDD as currently structured, particularly in terms of their social feasibility. It is shown how the claims to be able to reduce greenhouse gas emissions as well as enhance people's livelihoods and biodiversity conservation are unrealistic. There is a naive assumption that technical or economic fixes are sufficient for success. However, the social and governance aspects of REDD and its enhanced version known as REDD+ are shown to be implausible. Instead, to enhance REDD's prospects, the author provides a roadmap for developing a new social contract that puts people first.

Water, Power and Identity Rutgerd Boelens, 2015-04-10. This book addresses two major issues in natural resource management and political ecology: the complex, conflicting relationship between communities managing water on the ground and national/global policy-making institutions and elites; and how grassroots defend against encroachment, question the self-evidence of State-market-based water governance, and confront coercive and participatory boundary policing. The book examines grassroots building of multi-layered water rights territories and State-market and expert networks; vigorous efforts to reshape these water societies in their own image; seizing resources and/or aligning users' identities and rights systems within dominant frameworks. Distributive and cultural politics entwine. It is shown that attempts to modernize and normalize users through universalized water culture, rational water use, and depoliticized interventions deepen water security problems rather than alleviating them. However, social struggles negotiate and enforce water rights. User collectives challenge imposed water rights and identities, constructing new ones to strategically acquire water control, autonomy, and re-moralize their waterscapes. The author shows that battles for material control include the right to culturally define and politically organize water rights and territories. Andean illustrations from Peru, Ecuador, Bolivia, and Chile, from peasant indigenous life stories to international policy making, highlight open and subsurface hydro-social networks. They reveal how water justice struggles are political projects against indifference and that engaging in re-distributive policies and defying truth politics extends context.

particular water rights definitions and governance forms The Good Project Monika Krause, 2014-06-19 NGOs set out to save lives relieve suffering and service basic human needs They are committed to serving people across national borders and without regard to race ethnicity gender or religion and they offer crucial help during earthquakes tsunamis wars and pandemics But with so many ailing areas in need of assistance how do these organizations decide where to go and who gets the aid In The Good Project Monika Krause dives into the intricacies of the decision making process at NGOs and uncovers a basic truth It may be the case that relief agencies try to help people but in practical terms the main focus of their work is to produce projects Agencies sell projects to key institutional donors and in the process the project and its beneficiaries become commodities In an effort to guarantee a successful project organizations are incentivized to help those who are easy to help while those who are hardest to help often receive no assistance at all The poorest of the world are made to compete against each other to become projects and in exchange they offer legitimacy to aid agencies and donor governments Sure to be controversial The Good Project offers a provocative new perspective on how NGOs succeed and fail on a local and global level Pragmatism, Spirituality and Society Ananta Kumar Giri, 2020-12-02 This book explores border crossing among pragmatism spirituality and society It opens up American pragmatism to dialogues with pragmatism and spiritual quest from other traditions such as India and China thus making contemporary pragmatism a part of much needed planetary conversations It cultivates new visions and practices of spiritual pragmatism building upon the seminal works of Charles Sanders Pierce William James Sri Aurobindo John Dewey Martin Heidegger Mahatma Gandhi B R Ambedkar Ludwig Wittgenstein and Luce Irigaray which can help us rethink and transform conventional conceptions and constructions of practice pragmatism language religion politics society culture and democracy and create new relationships of pragmatism spirituality and society
