Introduction to Fundamental Moral Theology Robert Ignatius Letellier, 2024-03-28 This book discusses fundamental morals that branch of theology that studies human acts and the sources and motivations of these deliberate acts This can help the disciple of Jesus Christ to direct these acts to the loving vision of God understood as his her true complete happiness and final end This study principally examines the foundations of fundamental moral theology the ideas underpinning this major category of doctrine in the Christian Church the equivalent to an ethics of religions While this theology derives its basic moral teaching from the Bible it adds other distinctive emphases namely the concept of the ius naturale the Natural Law a tradition drawn from hierarchical ecclesial teaching and from human reason This encompasses social teaching medical ethics sexual ethics and various doctrines on individual moral virtue and moral theory The exposition explores how the advent of Jesus Christ his life and teaching is central to this theology A bridge between faith and reason is needed to grasp principles and moral imperatives and to perceive the positive in human law The discussion explains why it is necessary further to understand the implication of the individual moral conscience and the freedom to make moral decisions

The Moral Rhetoric of Political Economy Paul Turpin, 2011-03-17 Two of the most important economics treatise are Adam Smith's Theory of Moral Sentiments and Wealth of Nations and Milton Friedman's Capitalism and Freedom In this book Paul Turpin provides a rhetorical analysis of these texts arguing that both Smith and Friedman use argumentative and narrative depictions of character to reinforce a sense of societal decorum as a stabilizing foundation for their theories of liberal political economy The comparison of Smith and Friedman by itself is a major contribution to the development of the history of economic thought It adds a new historical depth to the heterodox analyses and critiques of twentieth century economics by writers such as Giocoli and Mirowski The issue of the social constitution of identity which is at the core of this book is a hot topic in economic methodology and as such this book by a promising young historian of economic thought will be roundly applauded

Human Rights Ethics Clark Butler, 2008 Human Rights Ethics makes an important contribution to contemporary philosophical and political debates concerning the advancement of global justice and human rights Butler's book also lays claim to a significant place in both normative ethics and human rights studies in as much as it seeks to vindicate a universalistic rational approach to human rights ethics Butler's innovative approach is not based on murky claims to natural rights that supposedly hold wherever human beings exist nor does it succumb to the traditional problems of justification associated with utilitarianism Kantianism and other procedural approaches to human rights studies Instead Butler proposes a dialectical justification of human rights by indirect proof that claims not to be question begging Very much in the spirit of Hegel and Habermas Butler proposes to vindicate a totally rational account of human rights but one that depends concretely and historically on a dialectically constructed right to freedom of thought in its universal modes

The Ethics of Killing Jeff McMahan, 2002 Drawing on philosophical notions of personal identity and the immorality of killing Jeff McMahan looks at various issues including abortion infanticide the killing of animals assisted suicide and euthanasia
