Paths Of Liberation A Third World Spirituality:

Paths of Liberation Bakole Wa Ilunga, 1984-01-01 Paths of Liberation Bakole Wa Ilunga, 2015-09-29 I was born in 1920 in a little country village in the former Belgian Congo I was eight years old at the time the day the first white man visited our isolated village He was a Catholic missionary It was through him and many other priests catechists and teachers that I came to know deeply Jesus Christ who has shown me the path of true liberation My people live in a situation of extreme underdevelopment wretchedness and exploitation My experience as a Christian and a pastor has taught me that our pastoral and evangelizing work should offer persons a total development rooted in the Good News of Jesus Christ One is not possible without the other This is what I have tried to explain in Paths of Liberation Of course too the path Jesus assigns us for the liberation of society from the evils that afflict it is not the shortest of paths It is not enough to make surface changes and the path leads through the heart of the human person which Jesus wishes to change And the human heart is not to be changed in a day But this longer path is also the most effective and the most realistic for only thus do we attack the evil in its roots Have we not found that at the core of all problems is always sin It is precisely from this sin in the human heart that Jesus liberates us by guiding us on the path of continual conversion and uncalculating love Dictionary of Mission Karl Muller, Theo Sundermeier, Stephen B. Bevans, Richard H. Bliese, 2006-01-30 Conceived and developed by two of Europe's most eminent missiologists in the country where the scientific and sustained study of mission first took shape the Dictionary of Mission represents the finest of the chorus of voices that comprise contemporary missiology The choice of topics and the authors to address them reflects what Christian mission has become a genuinely worldwide and ecumenical phenomenon That there would be entries on regional theological developments is indicative of how the world church is developing A host of other topics here explored show too how the landscape of mission is changing Taken as a whole then the Dictionary of Mission is a road map through this exciting and challenging terrain from the Foreword Interpreting the Parables Craig L. Blomberg, 2012-07-16 Craig Blomberg surveys the contemporary critical approaches to the parables including those that have emerged in the twenty years since the first edition This widely used text has taken a minority perspective and made it mainstream with Blomberg ably defending a limited allegorical approach and offering brief interpretations of all the major parables Beyond the Edge Andrew Mayes, 2013-11-21 Jesus calls his disciples to follow him but where does he lead us Responding to Jesus summons we find ourselves leaving familiar certainties and securities behind as we step out boldly in faith Old boundaries dissolve as we are led into liminal spaces exhilarating situations new places of discovery and radical spiritual growth In such experiences Christ reveals himself to us anew The place of risk is the threshold of the divine Beyond the Edge is for people who wish to go deeply into the spiritual life for spiritual directors and for those who walk with others on their prayer journey It can be used individually or in groups Spirituality Kees Waaijman, 2002 This textbook is a systematic guide to the extensive field of spirituality Kees Waaijman charts the multiform phenomenon of spirituality the spirituality of ordinary people the great spiritual traditions and the force of counter movements From the foundation of this survey he answers questions like What exactly is spirituality What forms can a scholarly approach take Finally the book provides methodic access to the study of spirituality focusing on the following questions Which are the different forms of spirituality and how can we describe them How can spiritual texts be given a reliable reading Which themes can be distinguished in the field of spirituality and what would be a meaningful way to address them What do we mean by spiritual guidance and what can we learn from it This textbook has no equal It is indispensable to scholars wishing to study the subject but also to others who want to learn about spirituality Conformed to His Image Kenneth D. Boa,2009-12-15 challenging way the emerging norm of the Responsibility to Protect R2P initially adopted by the United Nations World Summit in 2005 following significant debate throughout the preceding decade This work seeks to uncover whether this norm and its founding values have resonance and grounding within diverse cultures and within the experiences of societies that have directly been torn apart by mass atrocity crimes The contributors to this collection analyze the responsibility to protect through multiple disciplines philosophy religion and spirituality anthropology and aesthetics in addition to international relations and law to explore what light alternative perspectives outside of political science and international relations shed upon this emerging norm In each case the disciplinary analysis emanates from the global South and from scholars located within countries that experienced violent political upheaval Hence they draw upon not only theory but also the first hand experience with conscience shocking crimes Their retrospective and prospective analyses could and should help shape the future implementation of R2P in accordance with insights from vastly different contexts Offering a cutting edge contribution to thinking in the area this is essential reading for all those with an interest in humanitarian intervention peace and conflict studies critical security studies and peacebuilding

The Integrated Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Environmentalism S. Steiner-Aeschliman, 1999 The theory and data of environmental science suggest that growth in rates of population consumption and environmental degradation as a result of the activities of industrialized societies has created an ecological crisis to which modern societies must adapt However adaptation is problematic Max Weber studied adaptive social change during the industrial revolution The evolution of this new way of life was initially problematic because individuals who established industrialism were socialized under feudalism In this dissertation I consider The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism as a theoretical treatise framed by modern human ecology in order to study social change in the context of the ecological crisis of industrialism The Protestant Ethic is known for describing how religious ideas influenced the unfolding of modern capitalism in the West However there is nothing inherent in Protestantism that requires linkage to industrialism I argue that Protestantism has evolved and that it need not necessarily promote environmental exploitation although under industrialism it has I identify a green subculture within Protestantism and consider how Protestantism's weakness may also be its strength The very sociological structure that in the absence of ecologically realistic norms permits widespread ecosystem degradation by industrial capitalism may also generate ecologically realistic norms for a natural capitalism Weber contended that rationality was problematic because it paradoxically results in a dual crisis of management and meaning where human agency becomes imprisoned as if in an iron cage The irrational continuation of environmentally degrading social practices eventually contributes to a legitimation crisis People turn to religion as an alternative authority If science and religion converge on environmental values they might catalyze social change unless they are too distorted by ideological bias Adaptive social change only occurs if ethical and ecological values are in accordance with the sustainability of ecosystems Hence to adapt to the ecological crisis sociocultural systems require socialization into ecological realism because ecologically rational societies may still be maladaptively organized around environmentally unsustainable trajectories Toward the Twenty-first Century in Christian Mission James M. Phillips, Robert T. Coote, 1993 This unique volume offers a comprehensive survey of the prospects and critical issues for the Christian world mission The essays written by various mission experts cover such topics as the biblical and theological basis of the mission women in mission urban mission dialogues with other faiths the anthropology of popular religions and more Sharing Diversity in Missiological Research and Education International Association of Catholic Missiologists.
