Counseling and Pastoral Care in African and Other Cross-Cultural Contexts Tapiwa N. Mucherera,2017-11-03 The coming of Colonization and Christianity to Africa and other indigenous cross cultural contexts was a mixed bag of pros and cons The impact of the advent of the two has had a lasting effect being felt even today It created issues of bi culturalism and bi religiousness in personal and religious identities that counselors and the church need to address when working with people from these contexts There is the existence of deep cultural trauma including psychological and spiritual scars needing healing for those living in most of these post colonial contexts The Western counseling approaches and Christian rituals need contextualization A counselor or pastoral caregiver with an integrative consciousness is required to address the psychological and religious identity conflicts existing in African and other indigenous cross cultural contexts Teaching

Counselors and Therapists Karen Eriksen,Garrett McAuliffe,2001-08-30 A guide to innovative mental health education is urgently needed Despite the hundreds of programs in existence for training students in counseling human service social work and psychology teachers in such programs have relied on an informal network of information exchange to guide their teaching practice Yet constructivist and developmental theories now point to sound innovative practices for teaching This volume delineates those practices Despite years of research on effective adult education university teaching fails in practice to incorporate research supported teaching principles Current university instruction is still dominated by the teacher as authority The teacher downloads information from the front of the class and expects students to regurgitate it in papers and on exams The authors offer a different vision of classrooms that are characterized by the themes of meaning making collaboration equality and activity in the learning environment Concise Encyclopedia of Special Education Cecil R.
