The College Writer's Reference Toby Fulwiler, Alan R. Hayakawa, 2008 For Freshman Composition courses Focuses on undergraduate writers needs through a process approach examining the different but overlapping stages of planning composing researching revising and editing Backed by Toby Fulwiler's 35 years of experience as a composition teacher and Alan Hayakawa's 25 years as a practicing journalist. The College Writer's Reference continues to do what it does best: explaining and illustrating the qualities of good contemporary writing as well as the traditional logic behind the conventions of grammar, spelling, punctuation, and usage. The text focuses on undergraduate writers' needs through a process approach, examining the different but overlapping stages of planning, composing, researching, revising, and editing. Taking this approach into account, the authors have found it easy to see that students who know how to analyze and address individual rhetorical situations are more likely to succeed both across the curriculum and in the world beyond college.

Perspectives on Argument Nancy V. Wood, 2007. This combination rhetoric reader helps readers develop strategies for critical reading, critical thinking, research, and writing that will help them argue clearly and convincingly. It teaches them to identify and develop arguments, to read and form reactions and opinions of their own, to analyze an audience, to seek common ground, and to use a wide, realistic range of techniques to write argument papers that express their individual views and original perspectives on modern issues. The Rhetoric portion includes clear explanations and examples of argument theory and reading and writing processes, research and documentation skills, and offers engaging, class-tested writing assignments and activities. The Reader portion includes 75 reading selections covering seven broad issue areas and 18 more focused areas, all of contemporary concern. Unique chapters discuss argument styles: Rogerian argument and argument and literature. Material covered includes engaging with argument for reading and writing, understanding the nature of argument for reading and writing, writing a research paper that presents an argument, and visual and oral argument. Readings cover a range of issues, including those concerning families and relationships, education, crime, and the treatment of criminals, race, culture, and identity, freedom, war, and issues concerning the future. For anyone interested in a clear presentation of argument theory applied to written, visual, and oral forms.

Common Culture Michael Petracca, Madeleine Sorapure, 2007. For Freshman Composition courses and Popular Culture courses. From Barbie to the Internet, the Simpsons to the malls, this engaging text on pop culture helps students develop critical and analytical skills and write clear prose while reading, thinking, and writing about subjects they find interesting. Spanning a full range of topics, this text provides key reading and writing strategies; it contains essays addressing a topic, generally followed by an in-depth exploration of related material. In addition to the readings, each section begins with a catchy cultural artifact that leads students into a detailed introduction, discussion, questions, essay topics, and suggestions for further reading and research.

Wordsmith Pamela Arlov, 2006-05. Encouraging writers to think logically and communicate clearly, this practical and comprehensive book presents writing and grammar in an organized and appealing way, with myriad examples and exercises to support concepts and hone skills.

KEY TOPICS Using a structured yet flexible approach, it systematically covers all the steps of the writing process, explores strategies for creating topic sentences and writing paragraphs, with a sample paragraph shown in its progress from idea to finished essay, and shares nine different methods of development with model paragraphs. It presents a separate mix-and-match grammar section with minimal jargon.
