Political Relationship and Narrative Knowledge Peter B. Armitage, 2000-06-30 Armitage taught for one year in a British grammar school from 1971 to 1972 when the school amalgamated with a secondary modern school to form a comprehensive school He followed the political practices and episodes of the amalgamation in relation to their political and educational significance The amalgamation seemed to result in an ineffective and underperforming school and he tried to introduce practical and constructive changes His narrative describes his political struggle to reform the school in the face of an anti democratic and authoritarian culture The causes of failure are analyzed and the real complex and messy functioning of a school system uncovered The need to understand the politics and culture of schooling is advocated A model of micropolitical action and responsibility is demonstrated that could help result in improvement of educational institutions
