Musical Aesthetics Edward A. Lippman, 1986 Musical aesthetics in this century like music itself is distinguished by its concern with specifically musical forms and principles with the interrelationships and transformation of motifs with the permutations of sets of tones with the characteristics of forms such as the fugue or sonata and with underlying or background structures that are not really audible themselves but that nevertheless are important determinants of the form and sense of the music Thus music and musical thought in this century have been significantly determined by a reaction against the predominating qualities and values of the 19th century musical hermeneutics symbolism and semiotics having replaced the traditional problem of emotional content This volume is the third of three which are designed to present the main trends of Western musical thought in the area of philosophy and aesthetics Each section of the work presenting the fundamental statements of a given aesthetic issue has its own brief introduction defining and interrelating the relevant ideas the various sections seek to clarify the underlying historical continuities of thought Each also concludes with its own bibliography

Philosophy and African Development L. D. Keita, 2011 Philosophy and African Development Theory and Practice appraises development in a holistic manner It goes beyond the usual measurement in terms of economic achievement and widens the scope to include the impact that history of ideas political theory sociology social and political philosophy and political economy have had on development in Africa It is a departure from the traditional treatment of development by economists who point towards the so called time tested assertions and recommendations for sustainable development but which are yet bring about significant change in the economies of the so called developing societies It is on account of the failures of the economic development theory with its tepid prescriptions for sustainable development and poverty reduction that theories of development have now been expanded from mere economic analysis to include considerations of history sociology political economy and anthropology as could be discovered in this book Most of the contributions in this book have been prepared by philosophers across Africa and the United States who implicitly practise their discipline as one whose most effective modern function would be to appraise the human experience in all its dimensions from the standpoints of modern social and natural sciences all disciplinary offspring of philosophy itself With chapters ranging from issues of modernity and religious interpretations the human right to development the idea of African time the primacy of mental decolonisation and the type of education we are offering in Africa today and as a tool for development to development planning science technology and globalisation as well as issues of post coloniality among others the tenor of the contributions is not only proportional but also engaged in the meta analysis of the theories on which the concept of development is founded and practised This book is strongly recommended as a useful text in the hands of scholars researchers and students of development studies It approaches the important issue of African development from the broad perspective of the social sciences in general and buttresses this with the keen analytical approach of its contributors

Kierkegaard's Influence on Philosophy Jon Bartley Stewart, 2012 Kierkegaard's relation to the field of philosophy is a particularly complex and disputed one He rejected the model of philosophical inquiry that was mainstream in his day and was careful to have his pseudonymous authors repeatedly disassociate themselves from philosophy But although it seems clear that Kierkegaard never regarded himself as a philosopher there can be no doubt that his writings contain philosophical ideas and insights and have been profoundly influential in a number of different philosophical traditions The present volume documents these different traditions of the philosophical reception of Kierkegaard's thought The articles featured here demonstrate the vast reach of Kierkegaard's writings in philosophical contexts that were often quite different from his own Tome I is dedicated to exploring the reception of Kierkegaard in Germanophone and Scandinavian philosophy Kierkegaard has been a major influence for such different philosophical projects as phenomenology hermeneutics dialogical thinking critical theory Marxism logical positivism and ordinary language philosophy Similarly in Denmark and Norway Kierkegaard's writings have been more or less constantly discussed by important philosophers despite the later dominance of analytic philosophy in these countries The present volume features articles on the leading Germanophone and Scandinavian philosophers influenced by Kierkegaard's thought

Twentieth Century, 1896 Programs and Manifestoes on 20th-Century Architecture Ulrich Conrads, 1975-11-15 The present volume offers eloquent testimony that many of the master builders of this century have held passionate convictions

regarding the philosophic and social basis of their art Nearly every important development in the modern architectural movement began with the proclamation of these convictions in the form of a program or manifesto The most influential of these are collected here in chronological order from 1903 to 1963 Taken together they constitute a subjective history of modern architecture compared with one another their great diversity of style reveals in many cases the basic differences of attitude and temperament that produced a corresponding divergence in architectural style In point of view the book covers the aesthetic spectrum from right to left from programs that rigidly generate designs down to the smallest detail to revolutionary manifestoes that call for anarchy in building form and town plan The documents placed in context by the editor are also international in their range among them are the seminal and prophetic statements of Henry van de Velde Adolf Loos and Bruno Taut from the early years of the century Frank Lloyd Wright's 1910 annunciation of Organic Architecture Gropius's original program for the Bauhaus founded in Weimar in 1919 Towards a New Architecture Guiding Principles by Le Corbusier the formulation by Naum Gabo and Antoine Pevsner of the basic principles of Constructivism and articles by R Buckminster Fuller on universal architecture and the architect as world planner Other pronouncements some in flamboyant style including those of Erich Mendelsohn Hannes Meyer Theo van Doesburg Oskar Schlemmer Ludwig Mies van der Rohe El Lissitzky and Louis I Kahn There are also a number of collective or group statements issued in the name of movements such as CIAM De Stijl ABC the Situationists and GEAM Since the dramatic effectiveness of the manifesto form is usually heightened by brevity and conciseness it has been possible to reproduce most of the documents in their entirety only a few have been excerpted

Heidegger and the Question of National Socialism Bernhard Radloff, 2007-01-01 The question of being was integral to the philosophy of Martin Heidegger 1889-1976 and was a large factor in the development of his political and aesthetic thought In Heidegger and the Question of National Socialism Bernhard Radloff investigates the philosophical foundations and cultural context of Heidegger's conception of being focusing on the idea of gestalt as the guiding thread that determined German conservative thought throughout the 1930s In doing so Heidegger s philosophy is related to the whole of German society at the time a society in which gestalt was the guiding light and the ultimate aspiration of artists technicians and politicians Throughout the book Heidegger s own understanding of gestalt is used as a window to his thoughts on being which is conceived of as incorporated finite and historically situated in beings Concentrating on the years between 1933 and 1942 Radloff seeks to capture the response of Heidegger s philosophy to National Socialism examining key works and relating them to the literature of the German conservative revolution Heidegger and the Question of National Socialism is therefore a thorough treatment of his political philosophy as it relates to the question of being Adopting both a historical and phenomenological approach to the subject this book is equally an examination of German conservative ideology a critique of technological determinism and a study of one of the most controversial philosophers of twentieth century
