Elizabeth Cumming

Phoebe Anna Traquair 1852 1936:

Phoebe Anna Traquair Elizabeth Cumming, 2005 Phoebe Anna Traquair was a unique figure in British culture The first significant professional woman artist in modern Scotland she was also a key figure in the Arts and Crafts movement A free spirit Traquair celebrated life through image colour and texture taking her inspiration from Renaissance painting the art and poetry of Blake and the music of Wagner She produced a huge body of work from vast breathtaking mural decorations and sensual embroideries to exquisite illuminated manuscripts and enamels Using her own words and those of friends and contemporaries this illustrated book sheds new light on the ambitions of late Victorian and Edwardian culture BOOK JACKET

Phoebe Anna Traquair HRSA (1852-1936) and Her Contribution to Arts and Crafts in Edinburgh Elizabeth S. Cumming, 1986 Phoebe Anna Traquair Elizabeth Cumming, 1993 Phoebe Anna Traquair was one of the most remarkable figures in the Arts and Crafts Movement and the Scottish cultural renaissance of the early twentieth century Born in Dublin she moved to Edinburgh in 1874 after her marriage to Dr Ramsay Traquair A correspondent of John Ruskin friend of William Holman Hunt and Robert Lorimer she pursued a successful career as an artist designer and craft worker and achieved international recognition This book highlights her astonishing output as an artist and includes her work in a variety of different media such as mural decoration painting jewellery book illumination and embroidery Women Artists and the Decorative Arts 1880-1935 Bridget Elliott, Janice Helland, 2019-01-15 This title was first published in 2002 To date studies explaining decorative practice in the early modernist period have largely overlooked the work of women artists For the most part studies have focused on the denigration of decorative work by leading male artists frequently dismissed as fashionably feminine With few exceptions women have been cast as consumers rather than producers The first book to examine the decorative strategies of late nineteenth and early twentieth century women artists Women Artists and the Decorative Arts concentrates in particular on women artists who turned to fashion interior design and artisanal production as ways of critically engaging various aspects of modernity Women artists and designers played a vital role in developing a broad spectrum of modernist forms In these essays new light is shed on the practice of such well known women artists as May Morris Clarice Cliff Natacha Rambova Eileen Gray and Florine Stettheimer whose decorative practices are linked with a number of fascinating but lesser known figures such as Phoebe Traquair Mary Watts Gluck and Laura Nagy Edinburgh: The Autobiography Alan Taylor, 2024-10-03 From one of the earliest mentions of its name in the sixth century to the Covid lockdowns of the twenty first this is a magnificent portrait of one of the world's great cities in its many iterations from Edinburgh the sink of abomination to the Athens of the North and everything including the home of the Enlightenment the Festival City the Aids Capital of Europe and a Mecca for tourists seeking tartan tat in between As the nation's capital it has been critical to its progress and a witness to epochal events such the tumultuous reign of Mary Queen of Scots the Reformation the Forty Five rebellion the Disruption of the Church of Scotland and the reconvening of the Scottish Parliament

All of these and more feature But this is not simply a book about the great and good the famous and infamous There is testimony aplenty from ordinary folk who may not have made their mark on history but who have contributed to Edinburgh's ever expanding tapestry There are stories of body snatching and murder drunkenness and drug taking sex and shopping as well rants against inclement weather and the city council

Apocalypse in British Art and Visual Culture in the Early Twentieth Century Thomas Bromwell, 2024-11-29 This book is the first substantial study of the presence and relationship with the concepts of apocalypse eschatology and millennium in modern British art from 1914 to 1945 addressing how and why practitioners in both religious and secular spheres turned to the subjects The volume examines British art and visual culture's relationship with the then contemporary anxieties and hopes regarding the orientation of society and culture arguing that there is an acute relationship to the particular forms of cultural discourse of eschatology apocalypse and millennium Chapters identify the continued relevance of religion and religious themes in British art during the period and demonstrate that eschatology apocalypse and millennium were thriving and surprisingly mainstream concepts in the period that remained vital in early to mid twentieth century society and culture This book is a research monograph aimed at an audience of scholars and graduate students already familiar with the core focus of modern British art and cultural histories especially those working on the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries or the concepts of apocalypse eschatology and millennium in Theology Sociology or other disciplinary settings It will also be of interest to scholars and students working on war and visual culture or histories of imperialism It will benefit scholars of early twentieth century British art demonstrating the intersection of art and religion in the modern era and critically qualifies the standard secular canon and narrative of modern British art and the general neglect of religion in existing art historical literature

Biographical Dictionary of Scottish Women Elizabeth L. Ewan, Sue Innes, Sian Reynolds, Rose Pipes, 2007-06-27 This single volume dictionary presents the lives of individual Scottish women from earliest times to the present Drawing on new scholarship and a wide network of professional and amateur historians it throws light on the experience of women from every class and category in Scotland and among the worldwide Scottish diaspora The Biographical Dictionary of Scottish Women is written for the general reading public and for students of Scottish history and society It is scholarly in its approach to evidence and engaging in the manner of its presentation Each entry makes sense of its subject in narrative terms telling a story rather than simply offering information The book is as enjoyable to read as it is easy and valuable to consult It is a unique and important contribution to the history of women and Scotland The publisher acknowledges support from the Scottish Arts Council and the Scottish Executive Equalities Unit towards the publication of this title

Scottish Art in the Industrial Age, 1800-1914 Elizabeth Cumming, 2025-11-11 This volume focuses on artists and writers associated with the Arts and Crafts movement Scottish Symbolism and the Celtic Revival The latter was spearheaded by the biologist and social reformer Patrick Geddes who encouraged artistic revival in Edinburgh In 1884 he founded the Edinburgh Social Union which commissioned mural schemes for public buildings from artists such as Phoebe Anna Traquair Geddes also invited contributions from contemporary artists through his avant garde journal The Evergreen whose art editor was John Duncan During the same period Glasgow flourished as an artistic centre under the leadership of Fra Newbery at Glasgow School of Art This period saw the rise in importance of the decorative arts and the emergence of a number of women designers among them Jessie Keppie Annie French and Ann Macbeth The leading artists at the turn of the century were Charles Rennie Mackintosh Herbert McNair and the Macdonald sisters who enjoyed an international reputation exhibiting at the Vienna Secession in 1900 Accompanied by extensive editorial commentary this collection will be of great interest to students of Art History and Scottish History argues is both a condition and a metaphor In order to understand the ubiquity and impact of stress in our own times or to explain how stress has commandeered such a central place in the modern imagination Jackson suggests that we need to comprehend not only the evolution of the medical science and technology that has gradually uncovered the biological pathways between stress and disease in recent decades but also the shifting social economic and cultural contexts that have invested that scientific knowledge with meaning and authority In particular he argues we need to acknowledge the manner in which enduring concerns about the effects of stress on mental and physical health are the product of broader historical preoccupations with the preservation of personal and political as well as physiological stability Explorations in Human
