Gerber, John M. Johnson, 2007-11-30 The death penalty remains one of the most controversial issues in the United States Its proponents claim many things in their defense of its continued application For example they claim that it deters crime that death by lethal injection is painless and humane that it is racially neutral and that it provides closure to families of the victims In this comprehensive review of the major death penalty issues the authors systematically dismantle each one of these myths about capital punishment in a hard hitting critique of how our social political and community leaders have used fear and myth symbolic politics to misrepresent the death penalty as a public policy issue They successfully demonstrate how our political and community leaders have used myth and emotional appeals to misrepresent the facts about capital executions Successive chapters address the following topics the notion of community bonding the expectation of effective crime fighting the desire for equal justice deterrence the hope for fidelity to the Constitution the claim of error free justice closure retribution cost effectiveness and the messianic desires of some politicians In each of these areas the authors quote from death penalty advocates making these claims and then proceed to analyze and ultimately dismember the claimed advantages of the death penalty      Trial of Christ David K. Breed, 2013-07-01 The great fact and the Eternal Fact in the life of Jesus was his death because of our sins upon the Cross This was the fact which St Paul declared he preached to the Corinthians first of all not that they were the first to hear it not that it merely came first in the enumeration of the great truths of the Gospel but that it was first in importance the Eternal Fact of Redemption The steps therefore by which Jesus was brought to the Cross are of great interest to Christian lawyers Here is a careful study from a lawyer s standpoint of the trial of Jesus      A Law Dictionary Containing Definitions of the Terms and Phrases of American and English Jurisprudence, Ancient and Modern ... Henry Campbell Black, 1995 Black Henry Campbell A Law Dictionary Containing Definitions of the Terms and Phrases of American and English Jurisprudence Ancient and Modern And Including the Principal Terms of International Constitutional Ecclesiastical and Commercial Law and Medical Jurisprudence with a Collection of Legal Maxims Numerous Select Titles from the Roman Modern Civil Scotch French Spanish and Mexican Law and Other Foreign Systems and a Table of Abbreviations St Paul Minn West Publishing 1910 1314 pp Reprinted 1995 by the Lawbook Exchange Ltd LCCN 97 10320 ISBN 1 886363 10 2 Cloth 195 The second edition of Black s classic dictionary incorporates many new definitions and additional citations to decided cases besides being a thorough revision of previous

The Limits of the Criminal Sanction Herbert Packer, 1968-06-01 The argument of this book begins with the proposition that there are certain things we must understand about the criminal sanction before we can begin to talk sensibly about its limits First we need to ask some questions about the rationale of the criminal sanction What are we trying to do by defining conduct as criminal and punishing people who commit crimes To what extent are we justified in thinking that we can or ought to do what we are trying to do Is it possible to construct an acceptable rationale for the criminal sanction enabling us to deal with the argument that it is itself an unethical use of social power And if it is possible what implications does that rationale have for the kind of conceptual creature that the criminal law is Questions of this order make up Part I of the book which is essentially an extended essay on the nature and justification of the criminal sanction We also need to understand so the argument continues the characteristic processes through which the criminal sanction operates What do the rules of the game tell us about what the state may and may not do to apprehend charge convict and dispose of persons suspected of committing crimes Here too there is great controversy between two groups who have quite different views or models of what the criminal process is all about There are people who see the criminal process as essentially devoted to values of efficiency in the suppression of crime There are others who see those values as subordinate to the protection of the individual in his confrontation with the state A severe struggle over these conflicting values has been going on in the courts of this country for the last decade or more How that struggle is to be resolved is a second major consideration that we need to take into account before tackling the question of the limits of the criminal sanction These problems of process are examined in Part II Part III deals directly with the central problem of defining criteria for limiting the reach of the criminal sanction Given the constraints of rationale and process examined in Parts I and II it argues that we have over relied on the criminal sanction and that we had better start thinking in a systematic way about how to adjust our commitments to our capacities both moral and operational
