Farrell, 2021-01-15 Atomic Bomb Island tells the story of an elite top secret team of sailors airmen scientists technicians and engineers who came to Tinian in the Marianas in the middle of 1945 to prepare the island for delivery of the atomic bombs then being developed in New Mexico to finalize the designs of the bombs themselves and to launch the missions that would unleash hell on Japan Almost exactly a year before the atomic bombs were dropped strategically important Tinian was captured by Marines because it was only 1 500 miles from Japan and its terrain afforded ideal runways from which the new B 29 bombers could pound Japan In the months that followed the U S turned virtually all of Tinian into a giant airbase with streets named after those of Manhattan Island a Marianas city where the bombs could be assembled the heavily laden B 29s could be launched and the Manhattan Project scientists could do their last work Don Farrell has done this story incredible justice for the 75th anniversary The book is a thoroughly researched beautifully illustrated mosaic of the final phase of the Manhattan Project from the Battle of Tinian and the USS Indianapolis to Hiroshima and Nagasaki The Manhattan Project offering a unique insight into military operations and tactics World War II remains a topic of fascination and study and this book is an ideal addition to the shelves of all interested readers Technology and the Philosophy of Religion David Lewin, 2010-09-13 The last one hundred years has seen unimaginable technological progress transforming every aspect of human life Yet we seem unable to shake a profound unease with the direction of modern technology and its ideological siblings global capitalism and massive consumption Philosophers such as Marcuse Borgmann and especially Heidegger have developed important analyses of technological society however in this book David Lewin argues that their ideas have remained limited either by their secular context or by the narrow conception of religion that they do allow This study guides the reader along the newly formed paths of the philosophy of technology arguing that where those paths come to an abrupt end a religious discourse is needed to articulate the ultimate concerns that drive technological action It calls for a meditation on the central insight of many religious traditions that in an ultimate sense we know not what we do To acknowledge that we know not what we do is the first step towards a theology of technology that draws upon insights from the mystical theological tradition as well as from recent developments in the continental philosophy of religion High Stakes Vic Flintham, 2008-10-15 After the dust of World War II had settled the military position of the UK was far from straightforward It was of course allied to the USA and part of NATO but it was at odds with the former in maintaining an Empire and the two nations also had competing oil interests in the Middle East The UK's engagement in war after 1945 was thus a strange mixture ranging from homeland security through insular actions within the colonies or protectorates to preserve empire to playing a major role in confronting the USSR The types of active involvement of the RAF Fleet Air Arm and Army Air Corps between 1945 and 1995 include the following with examples Maintaining Local Stability Greece Netherlands East Indies Maintaining Empire Malaya Kenya Defending Empire Borneo Defending Interests Suez Kuwait Homeland Security Northern Ireland air defence Confrontation Berlin Airlift Korea Covert Action Albania strategic reconnaissance Humanitarian and Peacekeeping Jordan Cyprus Development of Deterrent Bombs bombers and missiles 1942 Bob Wurth, 2008-11-01 1942 was the year of Australia's greatest peril as Darwin was destroyed by bombing Australian ships were torpedoed within sight of our coast midge Japanese submarines attacked shipping in Sydney Harbour and the Japanese army invaded New Guinea on its inexorable march south This is the real story of the genuine and imminent threat to Australia in that fateful year On the beautiful Inland Sea of Japan the heartland of the Imperial Japanese Navy and in frenetic wartime Tokyo zealous staff officers and their illogical admirals debated the invasion of an almost defenceless nation The Imperial Japanese Army meanwhile opposed the attack foreseeing a looming military quagmire In Australia Allied defence chiefs all but dismissed the chances of holding Darwin For months Australia's fate hung in the balance 1942 is a story of desperate bravery and criminal stupidity Most of all it is the story of Australians left high and dry under the looming shadow of a terrible invasion and the steps that an inexperienced leader John Curtin took to save his country in its darkest days World War II in Literature for Youth

Emergency War Plan

Sean M. Maloney, 2021-02 2023 AFHF Air Power History Book Prize Winner Emergency War Plan examines the theory and practice of American nuclear deterrence and its evolution during the Cold War Previous examinations of nuclear strategy during this time have for the most part categorized American efforts as massive retaliation and mutually assured destruction blunt instruments to be casually dismissed in favor of more flexible approaches or summed up in inflammatory and judgmental terms like MAD These descriptors evolved into slogans and any nuanced discussion of the efficacy of the actual strategies withered due to a variety of political and social factors Drawing on newly released weapons effects information along with new information about Soviet capabilities as well as risky and covert espionage missions Emergency War Plan provides a completely new examination of American nuclear deterrence strategy during the first fifteen years of the Cold War the first such study since the 1980s Ultimately what emerges is a picture of a gargantuan and potentially devastating enterprise that was understood at the time by the public in only the vaguest terms but that was not as out of control as has been alleged and was more nuanced than previously understood
