Runner Among Falling Leaves:

A Runner Among Falling Leaves Ciaran O'Driscoll, 2001-01-01 A photograph of poet Ciaran O Driscoll taken when he was eight or nine by his father shows a radiantly smiling child seemingly at home with his family and the world But that photo is an anomaly the boy's face was far more often darkened by a pensive distant frown The sources of O Driscoll's adolescent melancholy and its lingering traces in his adult life are the subject of his evocative memoir A Runner Among Falling Leaves Born in Kilkenny Ireland in 1943 Ciaran O Driscoll grew up in a home shadowed by the bullying and abuse of his father The violence O Driscoll suffered at the hands of his father in his home was traumatic but in many respects it paled in comparison to the public humiliation his father meted out to the boy at school where he served as O Driscoll's teacher The dual role his father played left the child no place of refuge no escape from the constant mental cruelty and physical pain and the scars of that upbringing continue to haunt the author today In crystalline prose O Driscoll gives voice to the silent child in his memories exploring the unnerving roiling emotions of those years from the perspective of adulthood The story moves back and forth from the boy to the man as O Driscoll reconstructs his lost childhood in order to unearth the roots of the man he has become Lyrical affecting and even at times darkly comic A Runner Among Falling Leaves is an unforgettable portrait of Driftwood, Seaweed, and Fallen Leaves John Cumming, 1863 an Irish boyhood International Who's Who in Poetry 2005 Europa Publications, 2004 Provides up to date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets

The Ships of Minos 4: In the Land of Fallen Leaves Joe Alex,2023-03-27 A European best selling bronze age saga finally in English Three and a half thousand years ago at the height of the Bronze Age a Minoan ship sails for the mythical Sea of Gloom in search of the source of amber To reach it the explorers must sail up and down mighty rivers navigate cataracts cross great swamps live through the death of leaves and the time of water turned to stone and fight off savage barbarians and ravenous beasts Until one day one by one they grew silent some of them with arms stretched forth others with fists tightly clenched and pressed upon their foreheads And many of them were convinced though it could have been only a distant white cloud that through their tearful eyes they perceived the white visage of Poseidon himself the one and only Lord of the Seas The classic bronze saga continues Open the double doors of the horizon unlock its bronze bolts Pick up your copy today Falling Leaves Adeline Yen Mah, 1999-04-06 The emotionally wrenching yet ultimately uplifting memoir of a Chinese woman struggling to win the love and acceptance of her family Born in 1937 in a port city a thousand miles north of Shanghai Adeline Yen Mah was the youngest child of an affluent Chinese family who enjoyed rare privileges during a time of political and cultural upheaval But wealth and position could not shield Adeline from a childhood of appalling emotional abuse at the hands of a cruel and manipulative stepmother Determined to survive through her enduring faith in family unity

Adeline struggled for independence as she moved from Hong Kong to England and eventually to the United States to become a physician and writer A compelling painful and ultimately triumphant story of a girl s journey into adulthood Adeline s story is a testament to the most basic of human needs acceptance love and understanding With a powerful voice that speaks of the harsh realities of growing up female in a family and society that kept girls in emotional chains Falling Leaves is a work of heartfelt intimacy and a rare authentic portrait of twentieth century China Riveting A marvel of memory Poignant proof of the human will to endure Amy Tan Autumn Leaves GS.Subbu, 2018-06-14 The common thread that connects all the stories in the book is the Fall or the Autumn Autumn symbolizes a time of self reflection It is also the transition from light to darkness like twilight when day slowly melts away into the darkness but not before revealing the resplendency of the setting sun It is also a period of accepting the reality of the present and moving towards and preparing oneself for the future a period of contemplation and accepting impermanence Like the seasons we also change within ourselves whether it is coping with impermanence overcoming the ghosts of the past or learning to make our lives more meaningful Autumn Leaves narrates the reality of being left alone as one ages due to the splintering of families and the slow drifting away of relationships The story traces one family s travel through four generations Amora is all about the failure to distinguish between love and infatuation before realizing that relationships are based on understanding and acceptance and that alone is permanent Enigma brings together two individuals who are diametrically opposite in nature but stay bonded till the end The story is about friendship love and that the meaning of our existence lies in how useful a life we have led Autumn Leaves Ronald A.
