Running The Rapids:

Report of an Expedition Dwaine Schuldt, 2009-10-01 In the true story reflected in Lt Allen's journal you will learn of the generosity of Alaskan Natives Lt Allen's party would not have survived without adapting to the customs of the Alaskans and following their trails They also would have starved without the food from the Alaskan people This was the longest exploration of unknown land at this time in the world Many quests had tried to go inland but had not returned This was mainly due to their ill treatment of the Natives Lt Allen traveled in a small party and welcomed the help of the Alaskans He writes here in his journal from a traveler's perspective not from the traditional military aspect They traveled through the heart of this great land called Alyeska The three great rivers they traveled had been explored very little by miners or trappers This was a land largely unexplored by white people but where Natives had already lived for more than 10 000 years Lt Allen's journal is published here from the original journal published in 1887 to share with you who love to read of history and learn about Alaska Enjoy the view of Alaska in the 1800s from Lt Allen's journal descriptions of the land and the people Report of an Expedition to the Copper, Tananá, and Kóyukuk Rivers, in the Territory of Alaska, in the Year 1885, "for the Purpose of Obtaining All Information which Will be Valuable and Important, Especially to the Military Branch of the Government." United States. scientists and other volunteer naturalists Zwinger was part of an ongoing study of change along the Colorado In all seasons and all weathers in almost every kind of craft that goes down the waves she returned to the Grand Canyon again and again to explore look and listen From the thrill of running the rapids to the wonder in a grain of sand her words take the reader down 280 miles of the ever flowing energetic whooping and hollering galloping river Zwinger s book begins with a bald eagle count at Nankoweap Creek in January and ends with a subzero snowy walk out of the canyon at winter solstice Between are the delights of spring in side canyons the benediction of rain on a summer beach and the chill that comes off limestone walls in November Her eye for detail catches the enchantment of small things played against the immensity of the river the gatling gun love song of tree frogs the fragile beauty of an evening primrose ravens always in close attendance like lugubrious sharp eyed nineteenth century undertakers and a golden eagle chasing a trout with wings akimbo like a cleaning lady after a cockroach As she travels downstream Zwinger follows others in history who have risked and occasionally lost their lives on the Colorado Hiking in narrow canyons she finds cliff dwellings and broken pottery of prehistoric Indians Rounding a bend or running a rapid she remembers the triumphs and tragedies of early explorers and pioneers She describes the changes that have come with putting a big dam on a big river and how the dam has affected the riverine flora and fauna as well as the rapids and their future Science in the hands of a poet this captivating book is for armchair travelers who may never see the grandiose Colorado and for those who have run it wisely and well Like the author readers will find themselves bewitched by the color and flow of the river and enticed by what s around the next bend With her they will find its rhythms still in the mind long after the splash and spray and pound are gone
