Perspectives on British Rural Planning Policy, 1994-97 Andrew W. Gilg, 2019-01-15 First published in 1999 this volume explores the issue of rural planning which has become a complex activity in which policies in one area have important ramifications in other policy areas It is thus very important for all those involved in rural planning affairs to remain not only up to date but to place recent developments in a longer perspective This new series aims to answer all these needs by providing an accurate and informed account of recent developments in North American British and European rural policy and critiques of policy implementation and its impacts from new material and from analyses of published research findings This second volume in the series covers the last few years of the John Major administration until the election of the Tony Blair government in May 1997 It is divided into six chapters overview of changes affecting all rural planning activities the environment town and country planning extensive land uses nature conservation and recreation and social land economic issues The next British volume will cover the entire period of the current government with successive volumes covering each new government as it unfolds

Winning and Losing Doris Schmied, 2022-05-05 Instigated by technological and political change Europe's rural areas have undergone profound and all pervasive restructuring processes Although the impact of these processes has often been depicted negatively this is not always the case Bringing together a range of comparative case studies from France Finland Germany Greece Ireland Spain Sweden Portugal the UK and other countries this book provides a comprehensive and balanced picture of rural change over the past five decades It explores which aspects of the European countryside have benefited and which have suffered as a consequence of the often contradictory forces of restructuring The book looks into economic aspects as well as into the social impact of rural change The final part examines regional issues and illustrates how different rural areas have responded to the transformative pressures

Countryside Connections Catherine Hagan Hennessy, Robin Means, Vanessa Burholt, 2014-04-29 Older people in the countryside are vastly under researched compared to those in urban areas This innovative volume the first project based book in the New Dynamics of Ageing series offers a unique interdisciplinary perspective on this issue focusing on older people's role as assets in rural civic society It demonstrates how the use of diverse methods from across disciplines aims to increase public engagement with this research The authors examine the ways in which rural elders are connected to community and place the contributions they make to family and neighbours and the organisations and groups to which they belong Highly topical issues around later life explored through these perspectives include older people's financial security leisure access to services transport and mobility civic engagement and digital inclusion all considered within the rural context in an era of fiscal austerity In doing so this book challenges problem based views of ageing rural populations through considering barriers and facilitators to older people's inclusion and opportunities for community participation in rural settings Countryside Connections is a valuable text for students researchers and practitioners with interests in rural ageing civic engagement and interdisciplinary methods theory and practice

Planning, Markets and Rural Housing Nick Gallent, 2014-01-02 This book analyses the key forces affecting the affordability of rural homes in Britain and the changing shape of housing markets It takes as its starting point demographic trends impacting upon rural communities and upon market dynamics From this point it explores consequent patterns of housing affordability examining changing opportunities in the rental and sale markets at different spatial scales The book also focuses on how markets are analysed and how data are selectively used to demonstrate low levels of affordability or a lack of need for additional housing in small village locations Building on the demographic theme the book considers the housing implications of an aging population before the focus finally shifts to community initiative in the face of housing undersupply and planning's future role in delivering and procuring a more constant and predictable supply of affordable homes In a speculative conclusion the book ends by examining the current political trajectory in England and the prospects for housing in the countryside in the context of localism and neighbourhood planning at a village level This book was published as a special issue of Planning Practice and Research

International Perspectives on Rural Homelessness Paul Cloke, Paul Milbourne, 2013-03-22 Drawing on recent academic studies in North America Europe Australia and New Zealand this book is the first international text on homelessness in rural areas Consisting of fifteen specially commissioned chapters International Perspectives on Rural Homelessness provides comparative material on the cultural political and policy contexts of rural homelessness examining the nature and scale of the issue and the complex local geographies of rural homelessness

"To Farm Or Not to Farm" Ulrike Schwarz, 2004 Why did Joe get the farm and not Jo Why Rob and not Robin This book describes the answers farm families have to enact for each generation anew Written by a farmer's wife and mother it is for all who are interested in understanding the underlying dynamics of succession and inheritance in farm family businesses regardless of discipline profession and background It has been arranged in chronological order following the individual's growing into or out of the family business and offers exciting insights via easily understood graphs and succinct quotes from industry and research

Low Income Farm Households James P. Frawley, 2000 This study was commissioned to review farm income support policy with a view to targeting resources at low income farm households It sets out to analyze trends in farm household income in particular the nature and extent of low income farm households It also aims to assess the factors underlying the emergence of the low income farm households and the effectiveness of farm income and general welfare policies in countering the lack of viability of the sector In addition it aims to outline possible reforms which would target public resources towards low income farm households in light of Agenda 2000 the National Anti Poverty Strategy the Rural Development White Paper and other relevant policy initiatives

Contested Countryside Cultures Paul Cloke, Jo Little, 2005-08-12 This book charts the experiences of marginalised groups living in and visiting the countryside revealing how notions of the rural have been created to reflect and reinforce divisions among those living there

A Commodified World Colin C. Williams, 2005-03-04 This volume provides a critique of the assumption of increasing commodification in the modern economy

Globalisation, Localisation and Sustainable Livelihoods Geoffrey Lawrence, Reidar Almas, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2002 One of the greatest concerns facing the world is how to ensure that sustainable outcomes are generated as globalization proceeds apace Quite simply many people are finding their life chances deteriorating with resistance to globalization being a common response The question is is it possible to guarantee sustainable livelihoods for individuals families and communities as global processes increasingly shape local social relations This volume is a collection of 16 chapters from leading rural sociologists and human geographers based in Europe Australasia and the Americas The book in three parts deals with globalization and food the restructuring of local agriculture and communities and resistance in a globalizing world The introduction to the book compares and contrasts the various experiences of communities in countries such as Australia Brazil Finland Norway South Africa and the United States as they struggle to cope with globalization and its effects Each chapter discusses options to ameliorate the local consequences of global change
