Rural Development World Frontiers:

Rural Development: World Frontiers Laurence Ilsley Hewes, 1974 Several chapters of this book are heavily dependent on papers prepared for a Conference on Expanding World Needs for Food and Fiber and the Protection of the Ecosystem at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions CSDI Santa Barbara Calif August 9 13 1971      Multinational Cooperation for Development in West Africa John P. Renninger, 2013-09-03 Multinational Cooperation for Development in West Africa discusses the obstacles and prospects of organizations that were formed to facilitate considerable cooperation in the developing countries of West Africa The book describes and analyzes the cooperation movement and the United Nations system and role in fostering the process of cooperation in West Africa A brief overview of West African characteristics trends and analysis of development history of the cooperation movement issues regarding cooperation in West Africa potentialities of the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS and the impact of the United Nations on the growth of cooperation in the subregion are elucidated in the text Students of international studies researchers economists sociologists political leaders of the West African region and the staff of United Nations agencies will find this book invaluable      Beyond the Green Revolution Kenneth Dahlberg, 2012-12-06 This book which is the result of an intellectual odyssey began as an attempt to explore and map the environmental and cross cultural dimensions of the continuing spread of the green revolution that package of high yielding varieties of grain fertilizers irrigation and pesticides that constitutes the core of modern industrial agriculture In the process of traversing the terrain of several intellectual traditions and cutting through various disciplinary forests and thickets a number of striking observations were made all leading to two sobering conclusions First most intellectual maps dealing with agriculture fail to recognize it as the basic interface between human societies and their environment Because of this they are little better than the flat earth maps of earlier centuries in helping to understand global realities Second when agriculture is analyzed from a global perspective that takes evolution seriously one sees that the ecological risks as well as the energy and social costs of modern industrial agriculture make it largely inappropriate for developing countries Beyond that one can see a great need within industrialized countries to develop less costly less risky and more sustainable agricultural alternatives Early in the journey it became clear that conventional disciplinary approaches were inadequate to comprehend the scope and diversity of global agriculture and that a new multilevel approach was needed It also became clear that any new approach would have to try to correct certain Western biases and blind spots      Rural Public Services Richard E Lonsdale, Gyorgy Enyedi, 2019-08-16 Interest in the special problems of rural areas and concern with rural development in general have increased substantially throughout much of the world in the years since about 1960 Attesting to this has been the dramatic increase in attention to rural problems in the scholarly and popular literature and by government agencies At first the dominant focus was on development projects and the creation of new jobs It was not long however until other related issues came to the fore in particular the availability and quality of public services essential to achieve economic growth and improvement and having a direct bearing on the well being of rural peoples Most nations of the world have developed plans and launched projects to improve rural public services and narrow urban rural differentials in their provision As one would expect there have been great differences between nations in the severity of problems foci of attention program strategies and their general effectiveness and degree of commitment and effort Given this diversity it seems appropriate to examine and compare rural service problems and efforts to ameliorate them in a sample of contrasting societies Implicit is the conviction that 1 all nations can learn at least something from the experiences of others and 2 by taking an international comparative view of the subject certain generalizations can be established Catalog of Copyright Entries. Revolutionizing Development Andrea Cornwall, Ian Scoones, 2022-03-28 This book tells the story of development studies in practice over the last fifty years through the work of one remarkable individual Robert Chambers His work has taken him from being a colonial officer in Kenya through training and managing large rural development projects to a fundamental critique of top down development and the championing of participatory approaches The contributors eloquently demonstrate how he has been at the centre of major shifts in development thinking and practice over this period popularising terms that are now at the centre of the development lexicon such as vulnerability multi dimensional poverty sustainable livelihoods and farmer first Robert Chambers played a major role in the massive growth in participatory approaches to development and particularly the application of participatory methods in development research and appraisal This has led to fundamental challenges to development practice ranging from approaches to monitoring and evaluation to institutional learning and professional training There is probably no one who has had more influence on approaches to development in the past decades Revolutionizing Development offers a unique overview of these contributions in thirty two concise chapters from authors who have been intimately involved as collaborators critics and colleagues of Robert Chambers
